Editorial Remarks

Next.

South Dakota has attained notoriety similar to that which threatened Nebraska at the introduction of the Cunningham bill to make the playing of football a crime. Recently the lower house in the South Dakota legislature passed a bill disqualifying any player who injures another. It also makes it a misdemeanor for a captain to allow a disqualified player to enter a game and that in tackling him he might inflict grievous injury on Mr. Longman, thus calling down upon himself the vengeance of the law.

"It would thus become the duty of Mr. Longman and Mr. Tobin, as expert players, to try as hard as possible to avoid each other. The same would be true of all the other members of the two teams. The noble game thus would develop into a contest of skill in avoiding contact. The side which would prove most agile in keeping out of contact with the men on the other side would eventually win the game."

THE DEBATING WORLD.

The University of Indiana debated the University of Illinois at Champaign last night.

Minnesota debated Iowa at Iowa City last night on the question: "Resolved, That freight rates in the United States should be fixed by the national government." Minnesota debated the negative. The result of the contest has not yet been learned.

Stanford University will debate the University of California at San Francisco April 15. The question debated will be, "Resolved, That the Interstate Commerce Commission should be given power to fix and enforce railroad rates," constitutionality admitted.

Cornell University will debate against Columbia and Pennsylvania on the same evening March 10. Two teams have been chosen, one of which will debate Pennsylvania in Ithaca on the affirmative and the other will meet Columbia at New York on the negative.
The question is on the feasibility of vesting the Interstate Commerce Commission with the authority to prescribe reasonable and equitable railroad rates.

The Debating Squad will hold its first "try out" today. From now on these practice debates will occur regularly until the question is entirely threshed out and on impregnable defense raised against Iowa and Washington.

The Maxwell Debating club gave a very interesting program at their regular meeting in the law lecture room last night. The order of events was as follows:

- Parliamentary practice.
- Paper, "The Legal Status of a Mother-in-Law"—Mr. Bartus.
- Dec.—The Devil and the Attorneys.
- Paper, "The Most Elastic Will on Record"—Mr. Riccard.
- Debate—"Resolved, That the Kansas Legislature should be given the support of the Nebraska Legislature in the Standard Oil matter." Affirmative—McDuffey and Bagley.
Negative—Parriott and Martin.

prohibits the entrance of students into state institutions as players with only a part of the course of study. This bill isn't quite so bad as the one which nearly made us famous, but the fact that it passed safely through the house makes things even.

Under such a rule a game would amount to a proposition such as the Chicago Inter-Ocean describes:

"Mr. Longman of Michigan would be given the ball for a buck through the Chicago guards. But, mindful of the penalty of ten days' disqualification for injuring one of the opposing sides, Mr. Longman would do all in his power to keep from butting fiercely into Mr.
Tobin, the Chicago guard. On his side, Mr. Tobin, mindful of the same penalty, would not exert himself any to get in the way of Mr. Longman, for fear

The Academy men will hold a meeting in Academy hall this evening to elect a captain and manager of their baseball team. The meeting will be held just after the debating club session is over. The Academy boys have taken an unusual amount of interest in the sport this spring and a team up to the usual standard seems to be assured. No schedule has been fixed for the team as yet but it is probable that the team will play games with the University class and society teams and also with the minor organizations of the city. Owing to a lack of funds in the athletic treasury no games will be played with teams outside of the city unless the games can be secured to be played in the enemy's territory and the expenses paid.

At least 100 Harvard students will attend the presidential inauguration at Washington March 4, where they will march at the head of the collegiate department in the parade.
