Editorial Remarks

News of the newly appointed debating teams can be had in full by reading any of the local papers, or by consulting the bulletin boards.

The plays given tonight by the Dramatic Club deserves support from every University student. This is for a cause that will in the end benefit us all and for this reason we should let the philanthropic spirit predominate to the extent of adding our presence to the crowd. The Young Women's Christian Association has asked for little aid from the University students. While you are aiding in a good cause you are fully repaid. These productions are of high merit and are presented by the most advanced students in the department of Elocution.

We regret exceedingly that, in spite of the utmost precaution, we pinned the wrong label upon one of the entertainers at Friday's Convocation. Too late to refer to a reliable source for additional information we discovered that the program for Friday's exercises, which someone so kindly handed in, was quite unreadable. The mss. was subjected to the scrutiny of several people, and we were morally certain of every word save the one in question. Regarding this one, we "paid our money and took our choice," took two choices, in fact, in the hopes that one might prove correct. We greatly deplore the fact that both proved incorrect. Professor Moviuss will kindly accept our apology. Professors Morine and Morins have the same privilege.

Prize Studies.

The following announcement was received and is submitted for consideration by the students of Nebraska:

In order to arouse an interest in the Study of topics relating to commerce and industry, and to stimulate an examination of the value of college training for business men, a committee composed of Professor J. Laurence Laughlin, University of Chicago, chairman.

Professor J. B. Clark, Columbus University.

Professor Henry C. Adams, University of Michigan.

Hon. Carroll D. Wright, of Clark College.

Has been enabled, through the generosity of Messrs. Hart, Schaffner and Marx, of Chicago, to offer again in 1906 four prizes for the best studies on any one of the following subjects:

1. To what extent, and by what administrative body, should the public attempt to control railway rates in interstate commerce?

2. A just and practicable method of taxing railway property.

3. Will the present policy of the labor unions in dealing with non-union men, and the "closed shop," further the interests of the workingmen?

4. Should ship subsidies be offered by the government of the United States?

5. An examination into the economic causes of large fortunes in this country.

6. The influence of credit on the level of prices.

7. The cattle industry in its relation to the ranchman, feeder, packer, railway, and consumer.

8. Should the government seek to control or regulate, the use of mines of coal, iron, or other raw materials, whose supply may become the subject of monopoly?

9. What provision can be made for workingmen to avoid the economic insecurity said to accompany the modern wage-system?

A first prize of One Thousand Dollars, and

A second prize of Five Hundred Dollars, in cash, are offered for the best studies presented by Class A, composed exclusively of all persons who have received the bachelor's degree from an American college. No one in Class A may compete in Class B; but any one in Class B may compete in Class A. The Committee reserves to itself the right to award the two prizes of $1,000 and $500 to undergraduates, if the merits of the papers demand it.

The ownership of the copyright of successful studies will vest in the donors, and it is expected that, without precluding the use of these papers as theses for higher degrees, they will cause them to be issued in some permanent form.

Competitors are advised that the studies should be thorough, expressed in good English, and not needlessly expanded. They should be inscribed with an assumed name, the year when the bachelor's degree was received, and the institution which conferred the degree, or in which he is studying, and accompanied by a sealed envelope giving the real name and address of the competitor. The papers should be sent on or before June 1, 1906, to J. Laurence Laughlin, Esq., University of Chicago, Box 145, Faculty Exchange, Chicago, Illinois.
