Editorial Remarks

At Convocation today: Dr. Tuttle, Professor Fling on "Crises in the World's History," Father Stritch on "Parisfal," and Professor Persinger on "Three Centuries of American Costumes." A case of pay your money and take your choice.

The interest displayed yesterday morning at the track athletic mass meeting was very gratifying and if the interest now aroused does not lag Nebraska's prospects on the track this spring are very bright. Between sixty and seventy men resistered for the different events, which is much more material than we have had to work with for some time. Hard consistent work, however, must be done in order to place Nebraska in track athletics where she is in other branches of sport, but that this endeavor will be forthcoming the enthusiasm shown yesterday makes quite certain.

The Athletic Board at its meeting Monday night took another step toward insuring a successful football season for 1905, by re-electing John Westover to the position of assistant football coach. Westover's efficient work in this position for the last two years has been in a great measure responsible for Nebraska's success on the gridiron. Westover has Coach Booth's entire confidence, as has been proven time and again, and he commands the confidence of the whole student body in a like manner. The Board could not have chosen one more thoroughly a master of the game nor one better able to command the confidence of his men.

By virtue of having defeated the University of Chicago at basketball by a score of 29 to 24 the University of Wisconsin now lays claim to the western championship, supporting its claim by the statement that in defeating Chicago it defeated a team which had won from Northwestern, Iowa, Purdue and Nebraska. An effort was made to schedule a game with the University of Chicago when the dates for the eastern trip were made, but in vain. The nearest we got to Chicago University was a game with the Central Y. M. C. A. of Chicago. Perhaps the Wisconsin "Cardinal" is laboring under the delusion that, when we came pretty nearly playing Chicago, we came pretty nearly being defeated and this proximity to defeat adds another stone in Wisconsin's foundation for claiming the championship.

With the advance of the baseball season one thing has become painfully apparent to the eye of the observant "fan." The men need new suits. From the motley array of uniforms in evidence every afternoon on the diamond one not knowing would hardly guess what team was at work, so badly worn are the old Varsity suits. The team this year promises to be a good one and one that will uphold Nebraska honor on the baseball field as it should be, and it is no more than right that they should have some better equipment in the way of uniforms. No matter how good a game a team plays if it is poorly uniformed some of the excellence of the work is lost in the unpleasant remembrance of the team's appearance. Every time our team plays a game of ball it is an advertisement for the University and our advertisements ought to be gotten up in the best shape possible.

In Other Colleges

The University of Michigan is spending $13,000 for a new field.

The Indiana legislature recently appropriated $100,000 for the State University.

Yale is now establishing a branch college in the Province of Hunan, in China.

Two hours' university credit is given at Chicago University for services in the orchestra.

The Freshman Classes of the University of Pennsylvania and Columbia University will meet in an intercollegiate debate this year.

King Victor Emmanuel of Italy has conferred upon Professor Charles Eliot Norton of Harvard University the decoration of grand officer of the Order of the Crown in recognition of his services in translating Dante's works in English, and his services to Italian literature in America.

Williams College students have decided, for the good of the college, to abolish hazing until the end of the college year in June. If the experiment proves a betterment for the college, the rule will be made permanent. The faculty is of the opinion that the example will be followed by Amherst and Wesleyan.
