Academy Notes.

The March issue of the Academy News is being circulated this week. The issue contains a series of articles on various topics of interest to Academy students.

The regular meeting of the Academy Debating Club for Saturday evening has been postponed until two weeks from Saturday night. The meetings of the club continue to attract the large crowd of students that characterized the early meetings of the club, and the interest in forensic work continues to be high in spite of the fact that no debates will be held with outside schools.

The Academy girls' basketball team will play two more games before the session closes. The first of these will be with Wahoo High School and the second will be played with Wesleyan University. The team this year has played more games than any of the teams that the Academy has previously put out and has succeeded in winning all but one of them. The one lost was played with Lincoln High School early in the season before the Academy team had had much practice and the large score run up by the Lincolmites can hardly be considered as indicating the relative strength of the two teams. It is barely possible that another game will be played with the Lincoln High School girls before the close of the season.

Cancellor Andrews will deliver the closing lecture tomorrow evening to the North Nebraska Teachers' Association at York.
