The Athletic association of the University of Michigan has adopted a resolution discouraging the custom somewhat current among students of wearing the block "M" on their hats, gauntlets or watch fobs.

The Cornell University Library received recently a valuable collection of letters and correspondence of the late Bayard Taylor as a donation from Mrs. Taylor, with a promise of his Faust collection later. The papers are valuable from an educational point of view.

Adequate boathouse facilities have been one of Yale's most pressing athletic needs for several years past, and the way now seems clear for the building of a structure that will meet the demands of the Yale navy. By undergraduate subscription almost $1,400 have already been raised, and the 1906 Promenade committee has just donated $560 for the same cause.
The work of securing the needed amount was only begun recently, but liberal contributions have been received from undergraduates, while the alumni are also coming forward generously. The building will probably cost somewhere in the neighborhood of $40,000.—Ex.
