REGENTS' BOARD

PRESCRIBES REGULATIONS FOR NEBRASKAN.

Members of Staff to Receive University Credit for Work Done on Paper.

The new Students' Publication Board, appointed by Regents last spring, and composed of Drs. Ward, Pound, and French, Professors Taylor and Fogg, and Mason Wheeler and John Westover, met yesterday afternoon and adopted the following rules for the regulation of the Daily Nebraskan:

In discharge of the duty which the Board of Regents of the University has delegated to it, the Student Publication Board, appointed by the Regents last May, announces the following provisions for choosing editors and reporters on the staff of the Daily Nebraskan for the current semester and the following plan for allowing college "credit" for work on the paper.

Competition for Positions on the Staff. The following positions on the staff are to be filled, the editor-in-chief, Mr. John Davidson Clark, 1905, Law 1907, having already been appointed: Assistant editor, news editor, athletic editor, and four reporters.

For these positions there will be a competition open to all students in the University who are qualified under the following rules laid down by the Board of Regents: (1) that no person shall be eligible to be editor unless he be an upper classman in good standing and has shown such skill in English composition as to pass with credit the required Freshman course in rhetoric; (2) that no person shall be eligible to serve as reporter or regular contributor who has not shown such skill in English composition as to pass with credit the required Freshmen course in rhetoric.

Method of Appointment.

1. The appointments will be made by the Board on or about October 16.

2. Candidates for positions will file their names with the secretary of the Board, Mr. Mason Wheeler.

In filing their names the candidates shall submit a statement of fact relative to their qualifications—training in English composition, experience in newspaper work, length of residence at the University and lines of student activity in which they have participated.

3. The candidates will submit matter to the editor-in-chief for publication in the Daily Nebraskan for Tuesday, October 2, and the following issues until and including October 14. This matter may be submitted after special assignment of the editor or without such assignment.

4. Each candidate shall submit to the Board on October 14 his "string" of matter published in the Daily Nebraskan from October 3 to October 14, with each contribution made on assignment by the editor-in-chief marked "Assigned."

5. The editor-in-chief shall submit to the Board on October 14 all the "copy" submitted by the respective candidates—that which was not used as well as that which was used. That which was

College "Credit" for Work on the Staff.

College "credit," which the Board of Regents authorized the department of Rhetoric to grant, in its discretion, for suitable work on student publications, will be granted to members of the staff of the Daily Nebraskan. The plan according to which this will be done is set forth in the following communication:

To the University Publication Board:

"In reply to your request of last June that the department of Rhetoric submit to you a statement of a plan according to which the department would be willing to grant college 'credit' regularly, as suggested by the Board of Regents, for work in English composition done on the Daily Nebraskan by editors and reporters appointed by the University Publication Board under the regulations laid down by the Regents—in reply the department would say that, since it cannot with propriety grant a student 'credit' for work not done in connection with a regular course unless it examine the work, and since it cannot with justice to other students and to the University give 'credit' for published matter without examining it as carefully as it would any other piece of composition submitted for credit,—for these reasons the department has found it very difficult to arrange a plan for granting 'credit' that either does not cheapen college credit or is not altogether impracticable because of the time and energy it takes to grade a large part of the contents of the Daily Nebraskan. The department will, however, undertake to grant credit on the plan described below.

"The amount of 'credit' for the editor-in-chief shall not exceed three hours a semester; for the assistant editor, the news editor, and the athletic editor it shall not exceed two hours a semester; and for reporters it shall not exceed one hour.

"To be counted for 'credit' a contribution must have some length, continuity—from one-third to one-half a column.

"Whether or not 'credit' shall be allowed will be determined by: (1) the quality of the published contribution—the substance and the form; (2) the quantity of published contributions; (3) the regularity of such contributions; and, in the case of the editor-in-chief and any other editor who edits 'copy,' by (4) the accuracy, judgment, and taste of his editorial criticism of 'copy.' The faithfulness with which a contributor does the work assigned him, as testified to by the editor, may also be given weight in deciding whether or not 'credit' shall be granted.

"To indicate the quality and the quantity of the contributions the following evidence, for the submission of which the editor-in-chief shall be responsible, shall be submitted to this department: (1) The editor-in-chief shall submit, under cover and on the day of its issue, a copy of each issue of the paper with each contribution submitted for credit marked the author's name; (2) at the end of each week the editor-in-chief shall submit, as he sent it to the compositor each contributor's 'copy' of matter submitted for credit; (3) to indicate readily the amount of matter used from each contributor, each contributor shall at the end of each week submit his 'string' for that week—his published matter submitted for credit pasted in chronological order—certified to by the editor. These marked copies of the paper and these 'strings' shall be open to the inspection of only the member or members of the department of Rhetoric who have charge of granting the credit and of any member of the Student Publication Board. At the end of the semester the marked copies of the paper will be destroyed as will the 'strings' of a competitor unless he wishes them returned to him.

"This plan is open to change in detail after the current semester.

HIGH SCHOOL TEAM

LINES UP AGAINST NEBRASKA.

Second Game of Season Finds Men in Good Condition—Booth Out Once More.

Today the varsity lines up against the Lincoln High School in the second game of the season. The varsity has always run up a score of from 17 to 40 against the Lincoln boys, but the High School has in turn scored against the varsity. This year the team from Lincoln is stronger than heretofore and should give the varsity a close rub. Benedict, who has been coaching the High School, will have placed the men in a good condition to meet Booth's babies on their own style of play.

The varsity put in hard work last night, but the results were very evident. Booth was out in his toga again and proceeded to instruct the men where they were weak. Glen Mason was given some good practice yesterday and will likely be in at his old position some time during the game. Lantz, Morse, Drain and Eager were all given trials at quarter, and passed with an accuracy that is going to make it a hard question as to who is the best man.

Some very likely candidates have appeared on the field the last few days. Among them is Hal Cornell, the big weight thrower. Cornell has the build and is as strong as an ox, with a little training he should make good line material. Benedict's punting is the "best ever" this year. He has been punting over fifty yards with comparative ease, while at times it has reached sixty.

In today's game subs will be used by both teams without regard to number. Both teams have plenty of candidates and men who know the game so by putting them in the article of football will not be cheapened. The men as they will line up at the beginning of the game is as follows:

Glee Club Try-outs.

The second of the try-outs for the places on the Glee and Mandolin Club was held last night, when half the applicants for the mandolin positions were given a chance to show their ability. The men, 16 in number, were heard by Mr. Niles, the mandolin director, Mr. Dirks and Mr. Sprague. Several excellent players appeared, and are sure of places. The other applicants will be tested some evening next week.

The Nebraskan was incorrect in its list of the judges who tried out the men trying for positions as second tenor. Those who assisted Mr. Dirks were Mr. Fitzpatrick of the School of Music and Mr. Gillespie, the director.
