OMAHA EXCURSION

SPECIAL TRAIN TO BE RUN FOR CREIGHTON GAME.

Low Rate Granted for the Trip and Many Will Go—County Fair Postponed Until November 25th.

The football management has about completed arrangements for an excursion to Omaha on the twenty-eighth of this month to accommodate those who wish to attend the Creighton game. Last year an excursion was gotten up at the last moment, and a large crowd took advantage of the opportunity to cheer for the Scarlet and Cream on foreign territory, and from the reports of a good time that they all brought back, it is a certainty that they will all go again and take their friends with them. Owing to the fact that the excursion to Minnesota is still all in the air, and will not be settled definitely until the first of next month, everybody who intends to accompany the football team on a trip this year should go to the Omaha game. It will be by no means a practice game, for the team will naturally be in poor condition after the contest with Michigan, and must also be saved for the battle the next week with Ames, so that a number of substitutes will necessarily be in the line-up, which will increase Creighton's chances of scoring considerably.

On account of this excursion the great County Fair, which was to have been given on that evening by the Y. W. C. A., has been postponed for just four weeks, which brings it to the night of the Doane game, on November 25. This postponement was decided upon this noon at a meeting of the managers of the fair, who felt that they would not be doing the right thing by the students who were loyal enough to go to Omaha to cheer for our men, if they were to present the greatest spectacle of the college year during their absence. While the delay will be most unwelcome to the student body, who have been waiting most anxiously for the great event, still they all appreciate the reason which has led to the postponement, and will try to hold themselves in patience until the great day arrives. The managers have had considerable trouble in selecting a press-agent, there were so many applicants for the position, which requires unusual ability in a certain line, but they have finally decided upon one, and she will begin her notices to the students very shortly. The Daily Nebraskan was selected as the official organ of the fair association.

With the County Fair out of the way, there will be nothing to prevent an excursion of five hundred students to the metropolis, which certainly needs waking up once in every two or three months, and which will just as surely experience that awakening if more than three University students accompany the team. As yet a definite rate has not been procured, but it will doubtlessly be the standard excursion rate to Omaha, $1.10 for the round trip. The special train will probably leave about nine o'clock and will leave Omaha in time to reach Lincoln before midnight.

ARMORY, NOV. TWENTY-FIVE

Senior Election Today.

The Senior class meets this morning for the first time this semester in the chapel, and the first duty of the class will be to elect a president for the present semester. Unusual interest has been manifested in the contest for the presidency from the beginning, but this was increased greatly by the announcement yesterday that the girls of the class have decided to run Miss Grace Trigg for the position. Those who are managing Miss Trigg's campaign were exceedingly active yesterday and showed that co-eds are not lacking in political astuteness. They had already made sure of almost the entire co-ed vote, and devoted themselves wholly to the effort to secure men who would support their candidate. Mr. Wellinsick withdrew in favor of Miss Trigg, and most of his following transferred their allegiance to her also. This leaves the main contest between Mr. Skeen and Miss Trigg, with odds about even. The other candidate who had been pushed for the position, Mr. Legro, withdrew in favor of Frank Morrow, a medical student. It is hinted, however, that Mr. Morrow will pull out of the race in favor of Mr. Skeen. Which ever of the two candidates succeeds, the class is assured of an able and impartial president. Both Mr. Skeen and Miss Trigg have announced that they are bound by no promises whatever, and that in the selection of committees they will be actuated by no motive but a desire to give the class the services of the best men in it.

Excursion From Colorado.

Manager Morrison is in receipt of a letter from the manager of the University of Colorado football team, telling him that arrangements have been made to run an excursion from Boulder and Denver to Lincoln upon the occasion of the big game which is to be played here the eleventh. Supporters of the University of Colorado are especially numerous in Denver, and it appears that a large number have already signified their intention of accompanying the team and assisting it in administering the first defeat that Nebraska has suffered on its own field in five years. The letter also recites that Colorado is confident of repeating the performance of a year ago, under circumstances that will allow of no valid excuse, such as altitude or exhaustion from a journey, and that since the score piled up by the westerners in the game last Saturday, they already feel as though the game is won.

Well, it may be so, but we have our doubts about it. Colorado may have all she claims in respect to a strong team, but she hasn't got that game tucked away in her pocket by about twenty-six points. As a general proposition we are opposed to a vindictive spirit in athletics, but the students of Nebraska are determined that Colorado shall get the worst drubbing of her life even if we lose the Minnesota game the following week. It is a good thing that they are bringing on that excursion, for they will certainly need it, and it will make our revenge for 1904 all the more pleasant, while the shock their tumble will give them may be a little more severe, if that be possible. There is one thing that must be attended to by the rooters, however, and that is to see that we are not outrooted by the men from the Centennial state, as we were by the Jayhawkers a few years ago. They have some good yells out there, and the air helps them in their rendition of them, so that it is up to the students here to make a big improvement over last Saturday.

BAILEY TO TALK

WILL ADDRESS STUDENTS NEXT SUNDAY.

General Secretary of the State Young
Men's Christian Associations
to Be in Lincoln.

Mr. J. P. Bailey, the popular State Secretary of the Nebraska Young Men's Christian Associations, will strike Lincoln this week and has consented to speak to University men during his stay. It is hardly necessary to introduce Mr. Bailey to any audience in the state, as his annual itinerary takes him everywhere in the state and gives him an unusually wide acquaintance. He has been at the University several times before and each time only tends to increase his popularity with the student body.

Mr. Bailey has held his present position for several years and during that period the Nebraska Young Men's Christian Associations have taken a decided step forward. This is not only true of the city associations, but of the student associations as well.

The address will be given in Art Hall, Sunday, October 15th, at 3 p. m. It will be a strong, earnest and eloquent address.

Convocation.

"The Railroad Rebate Question" was treated by Congressman E. M. Pollard in a twenty-five minute address at the chapel exercises yesterday morning. In leading up to the rate problem, he gave statistics to show the wonderful industrial development of this country during the last thirty years. His figures reveal the fact that the number of industrial plants has been increased 160 per cent since 1870 and that the number of employes is 175 per cent greater now. These industries, Mr. Pollard said, are controlled by twelve concerns—trusts, as we term them—which have made railroad rebates possible. "All the evils of this system are not due to the railroads," argued the congressman, "the large concerns are in great degree responsible for the greatest curse in our industrial life."

Mr. Pollard holds as his opinion that this rebate question cannot be settled with government supervision of corporations. He would have a state commission with full powers over corporations in each state, which should report to the interstate commerce commission.

Mr. Pollard also declared against the free pass evil and advocates a law making it a misdemeanor for any public official to receive a bribe in the form of free transportation from the railroads.

The Latin Club met last evening at the home of Professor Barber. The officers for the ensuing semester were elected and eight new members were added to the roll. Mr. Peterson was elected president, Miss Vanderveer, vice-president, Miss McClucas, secretary-treasurer, and Miss Schreiber and Miss Stebbins, members of the executive committee.
