KNOX ONCE MORE

REAL FOOTBALL SEASON BEGINS WITH GAME TODAY.

Knox Comes With a Very Strong Team and Expects to Score at Least—Nebraska Confident.

That Knox College has one of the greatest teams in its history was shown last Saturday afternoon when Coach Ewing's warriors overwhelmed Illinois Wesleyan by a score of 47 to 0. That this score was rolled up in a short half of twenty-five minutes makes the team show all the better. This is the same team that played Illinois College to a tie score at Jacksonville last Saturday.

Knox offense is simply great. In the game last Saturday she had little difficulty in making substantial gains wherever or whenever she tried. Roberts, Knox's fullback, is her particular star. Time and time again he broke away for long runs, which ended only when the goal line had been crossed in the Wesleyan game. Sapp at left end is also a good man on the offense. Thus we can see what Nebraska is up against in today's game.

The score will not be anything like it was last year, 34-0. If Knox does not hold the varsity down to at least three touchdowns today there will be something wrong on the part of the men from Galesburg playing.

The varsity will line up in today's game in practically the same way they did last Saturday. Glen Mason seems to be a fixture at his old position as fullback. His fierce line plunges and general style of playing seems to please the spectators more this year than ever before. Beekly will be on the side lines as substitute, ready to enter the game at any time. Rice is making a strong bid for Nelson's place at guard. He is a well-built fellow and handles himself in a way that evidently pleases Booth. Eager and Morse will take care of the quarter position, the latter probably going into the game at the first. Schmidt and Little will alternate at left half, and should be held responsible for some long runs. All and all, the team as it enters the game today will be practically the same as the team that goes to Ann Arbor next week.

The game will commence at three o'clock today and this very promptly. The gates will be open in good season, and the crowd no matter how large will be well accommodated. The prices are the same as in last Saturday's game, 50 cents for reserved seats and 50 cents general admission. Tickets are on sale at Porter's.

All rooters are requested to bring their megaphones and get seats in the rooters' section. Every one should come and give the men encouragement. The line-up:

BIG GLEE CLUB PRIZES CO-EDS WIN THE FIGHT

OVER SEVENTY-FIVE DOLLARS OFFERED FOR HISTORIES AND STORIES.

Manager Dirks of the Glee Club is beginning his work upon the souvenir which the club is going to spread over the West during their trip next spring. As reported before, this souvenir is to take the form of a very handsome sixty-page book, containing a number of histories and stories, besides the program of the club. The prime purpose of the club in getting up this book is to advertise the University, which is also the object of the trip itself, and efforts will be made to secure the best material possible, that this advertising campaign may be a complete success in every way. The souvenir is to be finished in such a style that every one who gets a copy will take it home and read it, and the reading matter is to be of such a quality that every reader will remember it. In order to obtain the desired kind of material, the management has offered a number of prizes, as follows: For the best history of Nebraska, not to exceed 2,000 words, $25. For the best history of the University, of the same length, $15. For the best 1,000-word story, $15. For the three best short sketches of college life, $10, $7.50 and $5. All these histories and sketches must be in by January 1st, and will be judged by a committee appointed from the faculty. Any further information may be obtained from Mr. Dirks.

The last try-out for places on the Glee Club was held Thursday evening, and it was planned to pick the men immediately after it, but there were so many contestants that were almost on a par that the final choice has not yet been made, and the names cannot be announced before next Tuesday. There will be thirty-six men selected, and these will constitute the club which will give the home concert, but

MISS TRIGG ELECTED PRESIDENT OF THE SENIOR CLASS YESTERDAY.

The Senior class held its second Meeting for the purpose of electing a president for the present semester yesterday, and finally succeeded in doing so. The meeting was held in the Chemistry Lecture room at one o'clock, and about a hundred and seventy-five Seniors attended, showing that interest in the contest had not subsided over night. As soon as Miss Archibald called the meeting to order, Mr. Skeen, one of the two candidates who still remained in the race, came to the front and addressed the class. Mr. Skeen referred to the episode of the ballot box yesterday, and to the charge that a Senior had something to do with it, and denied any knowledge whatsoever concerning it. He also said that a rumor had spread that the society called the Iron Sphinx, of which both he and those Juniors who stole the box are members, had been concerned in the plan, and stated most emphatically that if such was the case, that he had no participation and no knowledge of it. Mr. Skeen assured the class that reports that he had already promised that if elected he would give different places on the committees which he would have power to appoint to different ones of his supporters were absolutely false, and he challenged any one to prove to the contrary. He ended his remarks by withdrawing his name as a candidate for the presidency. While addressing the class, Mr. Skeen was accorded perfect attention, and the manner in which his remarks were received proved that not a member of the class believed that he was implicated in the project to block the election, and that the class as a whole reposed the greatest confidence and respect in him.

Following her opponent, Miss Trigg rose and told the class that she be-

ANNUAL CARNIVAL

TO BE GIVEN BY PROFESSORS OF THE UNIVERSITY.

For the Benefit of the College Settlement—Captain Workizer to Have Charge of the Cavalcade.

For the last few days some of the most prominent members of our faculty, members who have ever been known to walk in the straight and narrow path, have acted in such a way as to arouse great suspicion and many have been the conjectures as to the probable cause of their strange behavior. It has been generally known that a clan of these select professors have been more or less confidential among themselves, exchanging communications by means of the Underground Railroad, and holding secret nocturnal meetings in secluded and dismal places deep down in the bowels of Mother Earth, where God's light can never penetrate. What could they be about? They were indisposed to tell either by word or deed. Judging from the effect each additional meeting seemed to have on their sulken appearance, one might be led to think they were the ancient Greeks, planning a murderous attack upon the Trojans. Ugly and mysterious rumors had it, for a time, that they were organizing to co-operate in the Freshmen class meeting. Such had begun to be the almost universal belief until a bunch of nery Sophomores, without fear of the ire of their professors broke into one of the professor's underground dens, confiscated the secretary's records, from which it was learned that these austere professors were making arrangements to hold the greatest of all events, the Third Annual Grand Faculty Carnival.

This Carnival is to be just exactly like the two preceding Carnivals, only it shall be different. Concessions have been granted to various Athletic Stunts, High Grade Novelties, Obstacle Races, exhibitions of trained horses and fearfully fearless. Rough Riders in the Cavalry Cavalcade, Pigskin Scramble, and a long list of other attractions on the side lines. In this respect it shall be like former carnivals. But the experience and training of the two preceding seasons has enabled the Gladiators to patch together an exhibition of Brain and Brawn the like of which has never been seen, heard of, or read about in books before. Here will lie the essential difference:

The Cavalry Cavalcade will be under the direct leadership of Lieut. W. G. Langworthy Taylor and Colonel Workizer. For this purpose less than two hundred imported High Grade, Thoroughbred Animals have been secured, animals that can split the wind at a marvellously slow rate, and the number of complicated maneuvers, the fancy stepping, cake walking, side jumping and circling they shall go through at the spoken word of their masters will be enough to make the spectators' eyes roll and head swim.

In the Pigskin Scramble, the all Nebraska team will make its first public appearance. A coach is at work daily
