MONSTROUS RALLY

ENTHUSIASTIC STUDENTS MAKE CHAPEL RESOUND.

Fill Hall to Overflowing and Cheer the Team to the Echo—Band Furnishes Music—Speeches.

The first mass meeting of the year was a grand success in every way, and the fifteen hundred students who crowded into Memorial Hall yesterday morning showed that college spirit at Nebraska is far from dead, but is, on the other hand, greater than ever. Every seat was taken both downstairs and in the galleries, and both sides of the hall were lined with students fifteen deep. The rooters rules the meeting from beginning to end, and insisted on every whim so vigorously that they could not be denied. Yells and songs followed each other thick and fast, and no one could quiet the crowd until they had gone through the entire repertoire whenever they once got started. The band was there, of course, and rendered noble service in adding to the noise, and if that is the only requisite for a victory in football, the Cornhuskers will have an easy time with the Wolverines.

Promptly at eleven o'clock Dr. Bolton, who was to preside over the meeting, took his place on the platform, and the rooting began. As soon as he could obtain silence, he made a few opening remarks concerning the University of Michigan, and then made way for Chancellor Andrews, who was being called for by the crowd. The Chancellor expressed himself as being heartily in favor of football. "There are evils, of course, but they are being eradicated. I believe that at Nebraska they have been completely wiped out, and we play football strongly, but we play it cleanly, too. I know of no reason why victory over Michigan is impossible, and indeed I do not think that it is improbable. I have seen too many football games which have been won by the lighter teams to feel that mere weight always wins the game. If we are not so heavy in the lower story as the Ann Arbor men, there is no reason why we should not be heavier in the upper. The result of this game will show the truth of the old quotation: 'Westward the course of empire takes its way.'"

When Dr. Andrews had completed his remarks, the football players were picked out of the crowd and forced to take their places upon the platform, so that the hero-worshippers could have a good chance to gaze upon them. Dr. Bolton then called upon Professor Caldwell, as being the oldest and most enthusiastic supporter of athletics at Nebraska. Professor Caldwell told the crowd that there used to be just one prayer sent up by Scarlet and Cream supporters, and that was that we might be given victory over Minnesota, but that now there must be two prayers. He prophesied victory for Nebraska next Saturday. In conclusion he declared himself in favor of football, provided it was played by legitimate students, and expressed himself as believing that every man on the Nebraska team was here for work first and football next.

SOPHOMORE HOP

FIRST DANCE OF THE SEASON

FRATERNITY HALL, FRIDAY, OCT. 27th

WALT'S FULL ORCHESTRA

TICKETS $1.50

All this time the crowd had been howling for Coach Booth, and it being thought that the professors of the University had been given enough prominence to show to the outside world that the University is not an appendix to football. Dr. Bolton graciously permitted him to address the students. With his face wreathed in a smile which immediately won the heart of every co-ed, "Bummy" relieved himself of the following expressions:

"We are going up to Michigan to win, and every man on the team feels it in his bones that he is going to win, for we have fight, spirit, and that which can't be licked. Spirit at the University of Nebraska has increased five hundred per cent in the past five years, as is shown by the crowds which turn out to the games and to practices, as well as by such demonstrations as this, and it is in this that Nebraska receives her greatest gain from the football successes of the past."

After Jack Best had told the boys that he knew we would win, and that he could already hear the bell ringing, Assistant Coach Westover was called for to tell about Michigan, as he had seen the game with Vanderbilt last Saturday. He said:

"I suppose you fellows want to know what I think of our chances after seeing the game with Vanderbilt. Well, I have felt ever since last fall when the game was scheduled that we were going to win, and now I am twice as confident of it. That Michigan bunch is fast, but we are just a little bit faster. They are fighters for every inch of ground on that field, but we can beat them at that game, too, and we are going to win the game. What struck me most up there was the cheering. They had one song they sang while everybody was standing up, and a fellow in the rear punched me and made me stand up too. Then another thing, they cheered the other team frequently. Every time a man had to take out time, they would give him a good send-off when he got to (Continued on page 2.)"

HIGH SCHOOL GAME.

Lincoln Meets North Division on the Gridiron Tomorrow.

University students are displaying much interest in the game between the high school and the North Division high school of Chicago, which is to be played on the campus tomorrow afternoon. This game will probably settle the question of the championship of the west, as the Lincoln boys have won the championship of the Missouri Valley for a number of years, and the Chicago players are at the head of their class in the Mississippi Valley. The fact that returns from the great Ann Arbor game are to be read every minute or two will induce a large number of students to attend the game, as they would rather sit in a grandstand and listen to the reports than stand out in the middle of a street and attempt to force their way up to a window on which the report is pasted. There will be a special wire run directly to the grandstand, and a member of the Nebraskan staff will read the returns as fast as they come in. Reports of other games will also be announced whenever received. The game will begin promptly at three o'clock, the same time as the eastern contest.

The Lincoln boys are confident of putting up a fine showing against the Chicago team, but are by means sure of winning the game. Fred Hunter will arrive this afternoon and will give them a few finishing touches in the effort to better their team work, which has been a little weak this year, and he will undoubtedly fill Coach Benedict's place very satisfactorily in putting a little ginger into the men during the game.

OFF TO MICHIGAN

TEAM LEAVES FOR ANN ARBOR IN MIDST OF WILD CHEERING.

Nineteen Men Accompany Coach Booth on the Trip North—Prospects Bright.

The enthusiasm which caused such an enthusiastic meeting in Memorial hall yesterday morning reached the climax last evening at the B. and M. depot. Never was a football team given such a send-off by Nebraska students. About five hundred students added cheer to the crowd bound Michiganward by their lusty yells.

At five-thirty the band wagon, carrying the team and subs left the train-table quarters, drawn by a crowd of students about one block in length. The men were accompanied by the University cadet band and battalion. This large crowd was augmented until it was of a great size by the time it reached the depot.

At the depot the band wagon was drawn up beside the special car for the team, and the men carried into the car. The wagon was then used for a platform, and several professors and prominent students spoke to the crowd. The University yells were given with such strength that nearly every one present is speaking in a whisper today.

The car was decorated on the inside with the University colors, scarlet and cream. The men will carry with them to Ann Arbor the colors which they are to defend, and which every true Nebraskan believes they will honor by victory. Never was Nebraska represented by a stronger team of consistent, straight, hard football players. Every man knows the game from start to finish. If Yost's pets win in Saturday's game they will play the game of their lives.

Booth put the men through a light practice last night in the sod near the Library. It was only for the purpose of limbering the men up before they left on the long trip. A short practice of signals was indulged in, as well as some punting. The men appeared to be in the pink of condition, and seemed to have every part of the game down to a science.

Supper was served at the training table before the team left. The men who will accompany Booth, Westover, and Morrison ate at the table, that is, the team and subs. Besides the three above named persons, Dr. Poynter will accompany the team as physician, Assistant Manager Woods, Jack Best, Shindall, James Van Burg, and Regent Teeters. The members of the team and subs that make the trip are:
