THE STUDENT THIEF.

Now that the weather has become a little chilly, and the students are getting out their overcoats, complaints are coming in that the theft of overcoats has begun. No words can express the loathing one must have for a student who will steal property belonging to another man. In the case of ordinary thefts there may be some extenuating circumstances, such as poverty, or there may be a lack of intelligence sufficient to enable the criminal to understand the character of his act, but in the case of a man who has received an education which has presumably prepared him for entrance into a university, there can be only one cause, moral degeneracy. Each year this epidemic of thefts has been repeated, with no seeming variation, and the disappearance of so large an amount of property can account for no other state of affairs than that a large number of University students are in the practice of stealing whatever they can lay hands on. In the case that any of these miscreants are detected, summary measures should be taken with them, and expulsion from the University should not satisfy the authorities.

On the other hand, many students are to be blamed for the negligent manner in which they leave property lying around the hallways or in classrooms. It is a very ordinary sight these cool mornings to see a dozen overcoats hung up on the hooks in the lower hallway of the main building, with the owners nowhere in sight. This is culpable negligence on the part of the owners, and students should henceforth be more careful in seeing that they do not offer any inducement to the most contemptible of men—the student sneak thief.

Temple Delayed.

The erection of the much-talked-of, long-looked-for Temple Building has been so long delayed that a great many are in doubt as to whether we are ever going to have a Temple Building. Other students again are laboring under the mistaken impression that the Executive Building, now under construction, is the Temple Building.

The Temple Building will be erected on the vacant lots southeast of the University campus. Plans for it were submitted by the architect, John Lo-teuser of Omaha, but were rejected by the Temple Committee because they exceeded the amount subscribed, $100,000. They are now being remodeled to come within the amount subscribed. As soon as they are approved by the committee contracts will be let and work commenced at once.

Convocation Today.

The following program will be rendered at chapel this morning:

Chas. Hagenow String Quartet and Organ.
Andante Cantabile, Tschalkowsky.
Vorspell (King Manfred), Reinecke.
Capriccio Italien, Tschalkowsky.
Mr. Chas Hagenow.
Mr. Wm. Quick.
Mrs. Ina Ensign-Hagenow.
Miss Lillian Eiche.
Mrs. Raymond at the organ.

Girl's Glee Club.

The Glee Club which is to be formed among the girls of the University will be selected during the next two weeks in much the same way as the major organization has been chosen. All applicants for positions are required to fill out application blanks at the registrar's office during the next few days, and then a series of try-outs will be conducted by Mrs. Raymond, who has been the moving spirit of the plan. As announced before, the girls who constitute the club will be given credit for the work they put in on it, and will probably be given a trip through the state if the Annual Home Concert, at which they are expected to assist, turns out well financially.

Mandolin Club Selected.

The mandolin adjunct to the Glee Club has been selected after a long series of try-outs conducted by Mr. Niles, who is to be the leader. A large number of men tried for places on the club, and of those the following have been selected:

Mandolins—Leader Niles, E. E. Sprague, T. A. Schmidt, H. W. Post, P. W. Metz, Ben Wood, J. W. Early, L. A. Higgins, V. B. Westgate, E. H. Johnson, G. G. Caughey, H. H. Brown.
Guitars—C. D. Beghtol, R. A. Warren, J. W. Dorwart, Bard Smith, A. H. Meyer, J. D. Walker.
Violins—Edwin Davis, C. B. Duer.
Viola—E. C. Beach.
Flutes—C. L. Meyer, E. L. Davis.
Cello—D. E. Winchester.

MONSTROUS RALLY.

his feet, and when the game ended they all remained in their seats and gave yells for Michigan and then for Vanderbilt. On the whole, it was the best exhibition of fairness I have ever seen."

Captain Borg then told the students that the team wasn't going to Ann Arbor to lose or to quit, and that the fact that the students were behind the men would help them wonderfully. Dr. Bolton then tried to adjourn the meeting, as it was after the hour, but he was drowned out by cheers and yells until he was forced to give in and let Benedict answer the calls for him. He said that he knew they were going to beat Michigan and Minnesota. After him Cotton, Johnson, Wilson, Morse and Eager all had to come to the front and say a few words to the effect that they were going to win the game, and then the team filed out of the hall while the rooters stood up and gave a final cheer that put all its predecessors to shame.
