AMES TEAM HERE

A HUSKY BUNCH OF MEN ARRIVE TO REPRESENT AMES.

The Excursion Will Come in Today Over The Northwestern At 11:50 A. M.

The Ames team arrived in Lincoln last evening on the 6:20 Northwestern train. They were immediately taken to the Lindell hotel where they will be quartered during their stay in Lincoln. There are twenty-two men in the squad besides Coach Ristine, and Assistant Coach Buckley.

The Ames team seemed to be big husky fellows when seen in their street clothes last night. The burden of their talk was the same as it has been heretofore that is, "we will hold Nebraska down to the lowest score possible." Capt. Stanfer said that the Ames varsity was in the best possible physical condition and ready for the game of the season. Stanfer plays fullback, and if size counts for anything he will tip the beam a few pounds more than Glen Mason, Nebraska's fullback. The Ames men wear the facial scars of a few hard scrimmages this past week.

The canvass for names to fill up the required list of 200, to make the Ames excursion a sure thing was completed yesterday. All final arrangements had been made before the team left Ames for Lincoln. Thus Ames will be supported by two hundred rooters and the college band. It is reported that the Ames College band is one of the best of its kind in the West. The Independent Order of Chronic Rooters will have charge of the Ames rooting today.

The rooting on Nebraska field has always been one sided heretofore, because of the visiting team having no supporters from their school. But for the first time in the past few years Nebraska rooters will have real opposition. Opposition that will require all the lung power of our rooting squad to down. The effect this rooting will have on the teams will be quite evident, for two teams struggling for victory and stimulated by thorough cheering by their rooters makes a royal picture.

The condition of the varsity has improved some in the last two practices. Benedict has been placed at his old position at quarterback, and will likely enter the game today at that position. The work of the other candidates for this position warranted this change by the coaches. Wendstrand and Jenkins will likely be given a trial at guard today. Both these men have improved materially in their work this week. Little and Schmidt will alternate at left half in today's game, while Wilson will hold down his old place at right.

Booth gave the men a good speedy signal practice last night besides some individual work. The varsity will enter the game today with the feeling that Nebraska students will back her regardless of what comes in the way of score. But, somehow we all feel, when the game ends, that the semaphore will register Nebraska a few points to the good.

MOOT COURTS.

Begin Work Today in the Supreme Court.

The Law Moot Courts will begin work today. The October term of both the District and Supreme courts began two weeks ago, but as counsel have been busy preparing cases for trial, there have been no sessions of the courts. This afternoon at 2 o'clock will occur the first trial in the Supreme Court, when the case of Jones vs. Buchanan will be heard. In this action it will be decided whether the rule in Shelley's case applies to Nebraska or not. Gibson and Parriott are attorneys for the plaintiff, and Martin and Hutchinson for the defendant.

At the session of the District Court, which will be held this morning at 9 o'clock, there will be heard a number of motions. Until these are cleared away, there will be no jury trials, but these should begin within the next three or four weeks.

Cello-Piano Recital.

On Monday evening, Nov. 6, at the First Baptist Church will be given a very interesting musical program by Mr. Henry Eames of the University School of Music as pianist and Mr. Carlo Fisher, cellist. Mr. Henry Eames needs no introduction to Lincoln lovers of music and Mr. Fisher is well known as a member last year of the famous Chicago Symphony Orchestra. He is now with Von der Satuchin, a Cincinnati musician of national prominence. As a special inducement to students of music the price of admission for them has been reduced from fifty to thirty-five cents.

Indian Curios—Match holders in birch bark, smoking sets, etc., from 10c each to 25c.—The Lincoln Book Store.

Kappa Alpha Theta has moved into its new house on North Thirteenth street.

Hallowe'en Party.

About forty Unions broke loose from the cares and duties of University work last night and took part in the Society's annual Hallowe'en party given in that dismal and secluded place near the penitentiary spoken of, in fable, as, Robber's Den.

The crowd boarded the Penitentiary car about 7:20 and after a twenty minutes ride—very much like that of Ihabod Crane—the trolley was pulled off the wire, the delight of all on board who lost no time, but at once availed themselves to the opportunity of getting more standing room.

They followed the trail of the ghost, crossed the Styx on the right-of-way, and, escorted by ghosts and witches, made their descent deep down into the Bowels of Mother Earth. When once in the lower regions they were taken in charge by the goblins and, whether from Missouri or not, they were shown the haunts and dark corners of the witches' den.

Trips were made to the hiding place of snakes, toads, bats, lizards and King Bruce's spider. A number of the more daring, and less corpulent visitors went through the crooked and narrow way known as the Fat Man's Misery.

After listening to weird gossips and permitting the witches to reveal past, present and future gleams of different individuals, they all partook of the witches bite. They all feasted heartily on cornbread, pumpkin pies, peanuts, pop corn, doughnuts and Maiden Blush Pomegranates. Shortly after, all present joined in chanting the farewell dirge. Then they bid adieu to ghosts, goblins, spirits and witches, and, after promising faithfully to come again, departed back to earth once more.

He wants them first—the young man who is particular about his clothes—wants them as soon as out. Can find the latest at Paines.

The Union Literary Society is having their hall newly papered, and bur-lap, instead of carpet, put down.

LAW ASSEMBLY

PASSES RESOLUTIONS OF APPRECIATION FOR CANDIDATES.

Judge Hastings, Ledwith and Whelan Refused Endorsements But Called Good Fellows.

At a meeting of all the students of the College of Law last evening in U 207, resolutions were adopted expressing their appreciation of the honor and integrity of Judge Hastings, one of the professors of the Law School, who is candidate on the Democratic ticket for judge of the Supreme Court. This action was taken after a similar mass meeting during the chapel hour in the morning had failed to pass resolutions endorsing his candidacy. At the latter assembly there was a very stormy time, and by dilatory actions on the part of two or three of those present, final action was prevented, and the resolutions had to be laid over until last evening. By that time it appeared that some compromise had been made, and the original resolutions were laid on the table without any consent. The meeting then adopted the final resolutions.

Similar resolutions were adopted regarding William Whelan, candidate for superintendent of schools of Lancaster County, and John Ledwith, candidate for judge of the county court of the same county. Mr. Ledwith is a graduate of the University and of the Law College, and Mr. Whelan is a member of the first year law class.

A committee was appointed to convey the resolutions to each of the three gentlemen. Following are the resolutions regarding Judge Hastings:

We, the students of the College of Law of the University of Nebraska, recognize in Judge Hastings a man of the highest personal honor and integrity and a jurist of high standing; by our daily contact and association with Judge Hastings we have learned to know and esteem his many sterling qualities; therefore, be it

Resolved, That we express our confidence in him and feel that his elevation of the Supreme Bench of our State would be but a just recognition of his worth as a jurist and citizen. And further, be it

Resolved, That a copy of these resolutions be published in the Daily Nebraskan and also that a copy be presented to Judge Hastings.

Sterling Jubilee Singers.

The Sterling Jubilee Singers (colored) who are to sing at the men's mass meeting at the Oliver Theater next Sunday at 3:30 p. m. are one of the best, if not the best, organization of the kind in the country. During the summer months they are in great demand at Chautauquas and through the winter they make the lecture course tour. Through a mere chance, that might be termed luck, they will be able to render their program here next Sunday. It is a rare treat to hear them sing the old plantation melodies and songs of the Southland. Dr. J. W. Jones of St. Paul's M. E. church will give an address on "Life at Its Best." The theatre will be open to all city and University men.
