TEAM IMPROVES

AVERY AND WENDSTRAND SENT TO TRAINING TABLE.

Signal Practice at State Farm Continues—Our Slogan is, "Down With Colorado!"

The Colorado game is only two days off and Coach Booth is developing a new end to take Denslow's place. Avery, who is being given a trial at end, has had considerable football experience, having played on the Lincoln High-School team for two years, and last year on the University scrubs. But the left side is the side that will require the most formidable formation, because the heaviest of the Colorado runs are directed at this side. The guard positions are still being filled by Cotton and Jenkins, but Booth has two worthy substitutes for these positions in Wendstrand and Nelson.

Colorado is still confident of victory over Nebraska on Saturday. Their confidence is increased each day as reports come from the training quarters of the team. The reports of the physical inability of some of the Nebraska players to enter the Saturday's game is also received with considerable delight and thankfulness by the people in the mountain tops. The Colorado coach is teaching his team every new play on the catalogue with the hope of catching Nebraska sleeping at some stage of the game. If reports count for much another repetition of the Utah game is expected by the Westerners.

Colorado has always played the varsity a very close game at Boulder, last year winning for the first time. But the game in Lincoln has been quite different, as the Boulder team has never held us down to a close score at least. One thing is sure, that is, that the true effect of the high altitude on the varsity can be told after Saturday's game, for the personnel of the Colorado team is practically the same this year as last.

The work of the men in the signal practice at the State Farm was snappy and full of life. Booth in this practice is given ample opportunity to criticize the work of each player, as to form, and much individual work is indulged in. Both the new men, Avery and Wendstrand, were given stiff work last night. These two men have practically cinched their place on the squad, as Booth sent them to the training table last evening. Wendstrand is of good weight and has shown great improvement in the last few practices.

Thus we can see what our chances are for a strong team in the Colorado game. While our men are not all old veterans, yet they have the Nebraska spirit which "never gives up," and it matters not at what position they are placed in Saturday's game, they will fight to the finish to redeem the scarlet and cream from the defeat she suffered in 1904. One thing is sure, the people of Lincoln will see a game on Saturday that will be straight football from the time the whistle blows at the beginning of the first half until it is blown ending the game.

A mass meeting has been arranged for next Friday at Convocation hour. The slogan of this meeting and every one present will be, "Down with Colorado," and this is the spirit that every Nebraska student must carry until Saturday evening when the game is over, and another victory is awarded to Nebraska. The football men are working hard for victory and to the rooters comes the burden of strong vocal support.

Committeemen's Dinner.

On last Tuesday evening about seventy-five Y. M. C. A. committeemen assembled in the dining room of St. Paul's M. E. church to indulge in a few rounds of good fellowship and incidentally to help each other do away with a real old-fashioned spread. The affair was a success in both respects. While the social committee, composed of such noted dignitaries as Wallace, Ramsey, Van Orsdel, Laird, Patterson, Steele and others, were getting things ready in the cafe car, the men were assembling in the parlors and amusing themselves by singing college songs. Promptly at 6:30 the first call was given and the response was so unanimous that it was found unnecessary to give the customary second and third calls. It was here the men played havoc with roast beef and mince pies, as well as other substantial eatables.

Dr. H. B. Ward presided as toastmaster, and it is needless to say that this part of the program was most successful and helpful. The committee chairmen reported good progress and showed the good work being accomplished by the Association. Captain Borg of the football team, and president of the Y. M. C. A., spoke briefly on "The Opportunities of Committeemen." Ex-Captain Benedict also emphasized the importance of the Association and said that the Association was a strong factor in making a college man an all around man. Short and informal talks were made by Dr. Paine, Professor Smith, Mr. Heck and others, after which Chancellor Andrews gave a strong address on "The Young Man and the Age." He said that the young man who could meet the problems and opportunities of the age was the young man with a good character, a strong physique and an educated mind. To these must, however, be added the willingness to work and work hard.

The affair was frequently interrupted by the University yell and familiar songs. Every man went away feeling that the Young Men's Christian Association was indeed an active force for the best things in the life of a college man.

The first debate in Rhetoric 15 was held yesterday afternoon in U. 106. The question was: "Resolved, That trade unions should be incorporated." The speakers for the affirmative were K. A. Morgan and A. E. Burr; for the negative, B. C. Enyart and R. C. Osman. The speakers were criticised on four points, namely, English, ease, clearness and force. On the whole, the work was very good, Mr. Burr receiving especial commendation.

LECTURE COURSE

PROMINENT MEN TO ADDRESS LAW STUDENTS.

A Remarkably Fine Lecture Course Arranged by Dean Pound for Benefit of Students.

Dean Pound of the College of Law yesterday completed arrangements for a series of lectures to be given before the law students throughout the semester. The lecturers will be men of high standing in the legal profession, and will address the students on essentially practical subjects, giving advice derived from their own experiences in active practice. The lectures will be given each Monday evening during the semester, and are arranged for the special benefit of the students of the two upper classes, although the freshmen will derive much advantage from them also. Last year an effort was made to have similar lectures, but arrangements for each lecture were made only a week or so beforehand, and as a consequence they were not entirely successful. This year Dr. Pound has finished all arrangements before the first lecture, so that each lecturer will know definitely when he is to come, and no slips should occur. Following is the course as completed: November 20—C. C. Plansburg, Esq. Fees.

November 27—Hon. S. J. Tuttle. Examination of Abstracts. Judge Tuttle is ex-district judge and counsel for the Security Investment company. He will take up an abstract and demonstrate from it, point by point. Copies of the abstract will be supplied students.

December 4—T. C. Munger, Esq. Prosecution of Criminal Cases. Mr. Munger was for many years county attorney of Lancaster County. He will take up an actual record and explain it step by step. Copies of the record will be distributed to the students.

December 11—Hon. Lincoln Frost. Instruction to Juries. Judge Frost is district judge.

January 8—S. L. Geisthardt, Esq. Foreclosure of Mortgages. Mr. Geisthardt will take up a record and explain it.

January 15—E. E. Spencer, Esq. Bankruptcy Proceedings. Mr. Spencer is referee in bankruptcy.

January 22—Hon. Norris Brown. Advocacy. Mr. Brown is the attorney general.

Sophomores Defeat Academy.

The Sophomore football team played a team representing the Academy yesterday afternoon at F and M park, and defeated them by a score of 27 to 0. The Sophomores showed up a very powerful offense, and the Academy could not stop the line smashes. Birker at full and Cook at end were the stars of the game.
