NORTHWESTERN COMPLETES EXCURSION PLANS.

Mass Meeting to Be Held Thursday in Memorial Hall—All Come Out and Yell.

The Minnesota excursion is the topic of discussion now by the students, and the spirit of the thing has invaded the business districts down town until about as many business men have signified their intentions to go to Minneapolis as students. From present indications there will be about seven or eight hundred people take advantage of the six-dollar rate, and visit Minneapolis on next Saturday. The Northwestern has so arranged the trains that every one who wants to go may be accommodated.

Manager Morrison has arranged with the Minnesota people for a section of the grandstand. This section is entirely at the disposal of the Nebraska people. The tickets are here, and can be had at Harry Porter's or by seeing J. E. Edgerton at the University. The price of these tickets is two dollars, one dollar for general admission and one for the grandstand privileges. It is necessary that those going should secure their tickets before they leave Lincoln, in order that a complete return may be made to the Minnesota people. People who cannot see the parties mentioned above may secure tickets by calling at the Nebraskan office.

The leaving time of the Minnesota excursion has been set at five and six o'clock, Friday evening. The first division of this leaving at the first named time, and the second at the latter time. The Northwestern people do this in order that all may secure the best of accommodations. These trains are specials, and will be sent through without regard for the regulars, that is, the regular trains will be side-tracked in order that the excursion can make the best possible time between Lincoln and Minneapolis.

The football team and coaches will leave over the Burlington either at 2 or 6 p. m. on Thursday. They will have a special car which will be transferred at Omaha from the Burlington to the Great Western tracks. The team in this way will arrive in Minneapolis early Friday morning. Booth will send the men through a light signal practice on Friday evening.

A mass meeting has been arranged for Thursday morning at chapel time in Memorial Hall. A rousing good time has been arranged in the way of some good speeches by leading professors. The enthusiasm which has been accumulated all year will reach its climax on Friday, and the rooters will show the football team what Nebraska really thinks of their ability to down Minnesota.

The time will be divided up among the different men for speeches, football songs will be sung, and the rooters will lead the students in some rousing good yells. The football team will be there, and at least Captain Borg and Coach Booth will talk. It is up to the student body to make this the best rally ever held at Nebraska. It can easily be done if every one will come out and yell. The var-Booth is working hard to give Minnesota the worst end of it Saturday. To come out and yell is as little as the students should think of doing.

Cornhusker Banquet.

The fourth annual Cornhusker banquet will be given in the Lindell Hotel on Monday evening, December 4. This banquet has become a fixture at Nebraska, having been originated at the close of the successful season of 1902. At that time it was under the auspices of the Pan-Hellenic Congress, but since then has been managed by the innocents, thus making it a purely non-partisan enterprise. All the coaches and players are there, and toasts, songs and cheers are sandwiched in between the different courses. The banquet this year will be similar to that of last year, with the exception that there will be no menu cards, the additional sum being put into the banquet proper. The date has been placed early in order to have Coach Booth present.

Thanksgiving Game.

The reserved seats for the Thanksgiving game will be put on sale at Harry Porter's Wednesday morning, November 15.

CHANCELLOR ANDREWS.

Makes a Strong Plea for Football as a College Sport.

In his opening address before the Association of University Presidents, which is holding its meetings in Washington, D. C., this week, Chancellor Andrews, president of the association, made a strong defense for the continuance of the game of football as a college sport.

It will be remembered that at the mass meeting before the Colorado game he had a warm spot in his heart for football. While he denounced class fights and said he was bitterly opposed to the proposed Freshman-Sophomore cane rush, he gloried in football and spoke of it as being on a religious basis. His love for the game evidently has not lessened since going East, for at the Association of University Presidents he defends the charges made against it and urges its adoption as an American college sport.

One of the chief objections urged against the playing of football is brutality, but this can not be substantiated by statistics. Figures show that less college people lose life or limb in playing football than in a good many other so-called mild games. Moreover, when statistics of the past are being applied to conditions at the present, allowance must be made for the fact that the game is fast becoming less brutal.

Berth Reservations.

Remember that reservations for sleeping car berths must be made as soon as possible. The charts are now in the Nebraskan office, and reservations may be made during the convocation hour or from five to six in the evening. Rates for round trip: Standard, $5; tourist, $2.50.

POOR OLD KANSAS

WANTS TO RENEW ATHLETIC RELATIONS WITH US.

Jayhawker Athletic Board Passes Resolutions Looking Towards Resumption of Relations.

At a meeting of the Kansas University Athletic Board Monday evening, resolutions were passed that the Athletic Board of the University of Nebraska should be invited to select representatives to meet with representatives of the Kansas board and patch up a treaty of peace between the two universities, in order that athletic relations might be resumed. This step came as the culmination of a series of poor schedules, both in football and baseball, which had caused the students to demand that the Kansas board do its best to fix up the differences between the two universities. Being the two largest colleges west of the Missouri river, the two institutions were natural rivals in athletics, and the Jayhawkers have felt ever since the breach in 1902 that their board had acted hastily and unadvisedly. A few weeks ago an alumnus of this university while addressing the students of the university of Kansas referred to the existing state of affairs, and made the statement that Nebraska students desired a renewal of athletic contests. Although this statement was not justified, it seems that the Jayhawkers took it as all gold, and demanded that their board act. At first a compromise was suggested, the board trying to ease its conscience by suggesting the formation of a tri-state league. That any such step would be inadequate to save the face of the board was apparent, however, and accordingly a full surrender seems to have been decided upon.

As yet our board has received no official notice of the action of the Kansas board, but the fact that they were willing to make the first advances seems to have impressed Nebraska professors and students very much, and although a couple of weeks ago when a number of students were interviewed the sentiment of the majority seemed to be that we ought not to resume relations even if Kansas took the first step, now the general feeling is that Nebraska should show a magnanimous spirit and accept the offer of the Jayhawkers' board. No official action can be taken, however, until the next regular meeting of the board, which occurs next Monday.
