The editor-in-chief, the athletic editor, the manager, and above all, the linotype operator and the printer, are going to see the game, and there will be nobody to get out the paper. You had better come along also.

A GOOD SEND-OFF.

The team is about to play the greatest game of the season. To win it they must feel that every student is behind them. Everybody come out to the mass meeting this morning, and this evening take hold of the rope and take the men to the train. If we do our part, the men cannot help but do theirs.

of our rooting than two hundred voices, and we need it there. There is only one thing to do—an extra hundred and fifty dollars must be raised, and it is up to the students and the Athletic Board to raise it.

You Will Have to Hurry.

No student can afford to go on the excursion and not take a berth. Sitting up one or two nights in a chair car will put any man in a condition in which he cannot do any work for a week, and he will find that the cheaper plan would have been to buy a berth and get a good night's rest while on the road. It is not necessary to pay five dollars to procure this rest, either. The round trip fare for tourist cars is two dollars and a half, or a dollar and a quarter each way.
As two can occupy each berth, the cost will be only a little above fifty cents for each night, or less than the price of a room in a hotel.

There is a popular prejudice against tourist cars, but it is not based upon reasonable grounds. The only difference between them and the standard Pullmans is in the interior furnishings. The bedding is just as clean and the beds just as comfortable, while each car is attended by a porter.

The railroad officials desire to take care of all who wish sleeping car accommodations, but as the cars must be brought here from Omaha, this will be impossible unless berths are engaged today. To accommodate all who may desire berths, the C. & N.
W. city ticket office will be open until after ten o'clock this evening for the sale of tickets and berths.

Class to Make Investigations.

Mr. Davis, of the Engineering department, has started his classes in mechanism upon a very valuable line of work. At present there are no tables published that give the dimensions and all other particulars re-

So extraordinary has been the selling in our been necessary. These a great showing of fine garments. In the purchase safeguard against any mistake as to style or quality. In every instance the price is as low as suits of such high grade can possibly be.

Eyesight is Priceless

The new popular opinion that the use of glasses should be postponed as long as possible is erroneous.
As soon as unpleasant feelings denote the approach of Presbyopia, glasses should be resorted to at once, as the longer the eyes are deprived of the aid which they need, and consequently are subject to strain, the more rapidly will the changes in the eye become developed. Therefore, it is the greatest importance that persons having any trouble with their eyes should have them tested by a good optician. Examination free.

THE BAND.

The Athletic Board has appropriated a hundred and fifty dollars to send the band to Minnesota. This will pay the fare of only half the men, and they have accordingly decided to refuse to go unless the entire band can make the trip. There are several very good reasons for this action on their part. In the first place, every man in the band has done his best during the entire season, and has been present at every game and at every mass meeting. To pick half the men and leave the rest at home would be the grossest injustice to the remainder. Again, Minnesota has one of the best bands in the country, and while our own musicians feel that they can hold their own, still they are not going to be put in the shade because they have only half their force along. We feel that the band is justified in the stand it has taken, but, on the other hand, we do not think that Nebraska can afford to leave the men at home. The presence of the band will add more to the value quired in the construction of tooth gearing. Mr. Davis realized that fact soon after beginning actual work in tooth gearing. He immediately began to collect material and in a couple of years succeeded in getting an excellent table of some two thousand figures, for epicycloidal teeth.

In the present work each student of mechanism will be assigned to certain portions of the work. The results thus obtained will be tabulated and published in the "Blue Print," next spring, together with an article on tooth gearing by Mr. Davis. Both epicycloidal and involute teeth will be provided for. The undertaking is a large one, as it will be very complete and thorough. The results will repay the students many times over when they get out into actual and practical work.
