MINNESOTA WINS

MINNESOTA OVERWHELMS THE NEBRASKA LINE.

The Varsity Went Down to Defeat by a Score of 35-0 in a Very Hard-Fought Game.

The Nebraska football team went down to defeat before Minnesota Saturday by a score of 35-0. The score tells the entire story for we were defeated by a better team a team which out-played the varsity at every position with the exception of two. Benedict and Borg outplayed the Minnesota quarter and center in every department of the game. Benedict was easily the star of the day and game, and had it not been for him the score would have been much larger than it was. Borg at center played a star game, although he played as much at other positions as some of the men. Once he left his position, after the ball had been put in play and caught a Minnesota man for a loss on an attempted end run.

At 2:05 o'clock the teams took their respective positions, Nebraska defending the east goal. Benedict kicked off to Cutting, who returned the ball ten yards before being downed. Minnesota began a procession now which was repeated all the time of play. Cutting, Current, Vita, Smith and Kremer all took turns at going through Nebraska's line at tackle guard for ten and fifteen yards at a clip. Once in a while they would try an end run for good gains. Minnesota used but seven different plays in the entire game, but these were all gainers, especially the tackle buck, and only once during the entire game did they use a fake, and this for a loss.

The first half proved to be the easy one for Minnesota, for at the close the score stood at 23-0. They had gained this by hard line plunges which simply tore our line to pieces. The varsity failed to concentrate their force at the point of attack, but instead played individually more than collectively. Johnson was hurt early in the game, but stuck persistently until the end of the half. Borg received a slight injury, but soon recovered. Cutting, Minnesota's star half back, was forced to leave the game this half on account of an injury to his leg.

In the second half but few changes were made in either line-up. Wilson went in for Schmidt at right half, and Morse for Johnson at left end. The Nebraska men took a decided brace in this half and held the Northerners down to 12 points. The varsity "stone wall" was here manifested, and once on the two yard line Minnesota was held for downs. On offensive work the team did well, going through their opponents' line for good gains, and Benedict worked his fake for good gains of fifteen and twenty yards. Craig and Lundin went in for Mason and Weller, respectively, in the middle of the half, and Craig made some good gains.

Minnesota played a hundred per cent better game in the Nebraska game than they did in the Wisconsin game. It was the testimony of every person who had seen Minnesota play the other games of the season that she showed the best form in Saturday's game of any game of the season. Her line plunges were the fiercest ever sent against a Nebraska line, for every man of the team was in the play with a fierce determination. Nebraska's playing, on the other hand, was not up to the standard they set in the Colorado-Nebraska game. The tackling was high, and not effective, and the men did not follow the ball at any time of the first half, but took a decided brace in the second half.

The treatment of the Nebraskans while in Minneapolis was not of the best. The worst treatment was given the team when Benedict was giving signals, for many times the Minnesota rooters drowned the signals so the men on the team could not hear them. This was the only discourtesy shown the people and team by the Minnesota students. But the small boys in Minneapolis made themselves quite offensive by the way in which they attempted to steal Nebraska colors and armlets. The business men accorded the Nebraska people the most gentlemanly treatment, and granted every favor within their power to the visitors.

The work of the officials in the game was of a high order. The umpiring being the fairest ever given to a Nebraska team on a foreign field. But the officials were aided considerably in their work by the cleanness of the game, only fifteen yards being made on penalties by both teams. Besides there was no slugging by the teams, thus requiring no close attention to the individual playing by the officials.

In regard to the excursion, it was the best conducted ever given to a crowd of Nebraska rooters going to a football game. The trains made the runs on schedule time, and no accidents or inconveniences occurred to mar the pleasure of the trip. The six hundred people that accompanied the team did themselves proud in rooting, and many compliments were showered on the Nebraska people for their loyalty to their team. All the fraternities and sororities had representation in Minneapolis. The largest crowd was from the Kappa Alpha Theta sorority, and the Thetas did royal rooting for the varsity.

Gibson is Improving.

Homer Gibson, the Kansas City half back who sustained such injuries in the game last Saturday with the Lincoln High School that a surgical operation was necessary, is rapidly improving and the attending physicians have little doubt of his recovery.

Gibson was hurt in a scramble over a fumbled ball. Kansas City punted to Lincoln and Ewing fumbled. In the scramble for the fumbled ball Gibson received a gash in his head. He soon rallied and, supported by a companion, walked about the field, but suddenly fell and had to be carried away. He was at first taken to the Royal Hotel, from where he was later removed to St. Elizabeth's hospital. It was found that he was suffering from hemorrhage of the brain, due to a ruptured blood vessel. Drs. McKinnon, Kiffen and Poynter trepanned his skull and after the pressure from the clotted blood had been removed the patient showed signs of rapid recovery, and unless something unforeseen happens, the doctors say he will recover.

After he had been removed to the hospital the report was spread that he could not recover. Later investigations have shown the reports to have been unfounded. His mother has been sent for and Prof. E. M. Baniler, who accompanied the team to Lincoln, and his brother, R. Gibson, who played on the same team, are staying with him at the hospital.

Smith Elected Captain.

Owing to the resignation of Temple, who was elected captain of the Senior football team at the beginning of the season, Ralph Smith was elected captain on last Friday. Smith plays full-back on the team and is a hard line bucker. Temple was forced to resign on account of an injury he received in the Senior-Academy game last week.

JORDAN SAYS YOST AND BAIRD BUY PLAYERS.

Writer in "Collier's" Explains System by Which Michigan Alumni Maintain Football Players.

Michigan has been "Jordanized." In the issue of "Collier's" for November 25, the third of a series of papers by E. S. Jordan under the general heading "Buying Football Victories" appears, and this time the system under which Yost has been able to develop a champion team is laid bare. From the account it appears that the Michigan team is tainted with professionalism as much as any of the Conference teams which Mr. Jordan has considered so far, and a number of instances were athletes, including Hammond and Heston, have been supported are cited. An old Michigan gridiron hero is quoted as saying the following:

"College athletics are just as much professional today as professional baseball is. The only difference is in degree not in kind. College boys are not all paid money salaries; some of them are. Many of them are paid by invitation to join some desirable association or fraternity. All if they are prominent in their preparatory schools, are solicited by one or more athletic managers, very much as professional baseball players are signed, before each season."

It will be interesting to hear what the "Michigan Daily" has to say about the charges of Mr. Jordan.

Next week the final article will appear, and this time Minnesota will be the victim. If Mr. Jordan can only make out rank professionalism on the part of every Gopher player, some of us who saw the so-called football game Saturday will feel comforted a little. For our part, we are glad that we are not in the Conference just at present, or our ancient history would be gone over with a fine-tooth comb also, and some of the white-wash might come off.

A NEW ATTRACTION OBTAINED FOR COUNTY FAIR.

While in St. Paul, Minn., parties interested in the successful outcome of the County Fair succeeded in obtaining permission from the "Globe Amusement company" to produce the famous attraction "The World's Historical Pantomime and Electric Palace." Owing to the limited time in which to complete arrangements, just what portion of the show will be presented next Saturday is not yet known.

WATCH FOR FURTHER NOTICES.

The Juniors and Seniors are working hard for their game on Thursday. This will be the first class game of the season and from present indications the game should be a close one. Both teams have played the Lincoln High School "scrubs." The Juniors defeated the "scrubs" by 11-2, but the Seniors were defeated by the L. H. S. scrubs and five hundred spectators by a score of 11-6.

The Junior-Senior game will be called at 1 p. m. on the Nebraska field.
