The December "Arena" contains a rich and varied Table of Contents. Among the full-page portraits are admirable half-tone pictures of Count Tolstoi, Mayor Johnson and John L. DeMar and a beautiful reproduction of Mr. Elwell's great statue, "Egypt Awakening." There are also four full-page, original cartoons on the dollar-worship of the age, drawn expressly for "The Arena" by Garnet Warren, and numerous other interesting illustrations. Among the contents we mention the following as of special interest: "Uncle Sam's Romance with Science and the Soil," by Frank Vrooman; "Economics of Moses," by Presi-

..EYES..

Better have your eyes examined now. Many times a pair of glasses worn for a few weeks, when the eyes first begin to trouble you, will save you years of spectacles wear later on.

If you have any trouble with your eyes come to us. We have had over twenty-five years' experience in fitting glasses and we will gladly test your eyes, scientifically, without charge, and tell you whether you need glasses or not.

dent George McA. Miller, Ph.D.; "Mayor Johnson: One of the Strongest Leaders in Municipal Progress in America," by Professor E. W. Bemis; "The Evolution of Marriage Ideals," by Theodore Schroeder; "The Reign of Graft in Milwaukee," by Duane Mowry; "DeMar: A Cartoonist of Contemporaneous History," by B. O. Flower; "General Sam Martin: The Washington of South America," by Professor Frederic M. Noa; "Dominant Trusts and Corporations in Colorado," by Hon. J. Warner Mills; "Our Latest and Greatest Social Vision," an interpretation, being an extended study of Joaquin Miller's new social vision; and "Count Tolstoi on the Land Question," a general discussion of the great Russian's recent argument in favor of the land philosophy of Mr. George, by the editor of "The Arena." The publisher's announcements for "The Arena" for 1906 are extremely attractive.

The Non-Coms. of the battalion held their first meeting of the year this week. Sergeant-Major Cornelius called the meeting to order and acted as chairman. The business of the evening was the election of the chairman and master of ceremonies of the Non-Com. Hop. First Sergeant Dent Slaughter was elected chairman and First Sergeant Don Wilson master of ceremonies.
