ROWDYISM.

A most unpleasant fact was brought home to the members of the two youngest classes of the University yesterday. At the meeting of the freshman class a small group of men gathered in the back part of the hall and did their best to prevent all business by yelling and growling every time anybody attempted to address the meeting. At times the disturbance grew so great that even those nearest the president could not hear him, and all business had to be discontinued until the rowdies in the rear became a little more quiet.

A still more disgraceful practice was brought to light at the meeting of the freshman law class, when President Whelan took occasion to reprimand a few of the members who were in the habit of sitting in the back part of the room and amusing themselves by expectorating tobacco juice all over the floor.

That University students can be guilty of such acts as these is difficult to comprehend, and they should be subjected to the worst punishment their class-mates can mete out to them —complete ostracism in the class room and on the street. Nothing less than this can be effectual. President Whelan of the law class is to be congratulated on the stand he has taken with regard to these beastly practices, and the freshman law class is equally to be congratulated in its support of him.
If the freshman academic class will only show how thoroughly it is out of sympathy with those who attempted to break up the meeting, such acts of rowdyism will cease.

Stanford University has one of the most extensive and best equipped athletic fields in the country. It contains forty acres of perfectly level land, and which is laid out for football, baseball, tennis and track athletics. There is one field for the varsity football team and supplementary fields for class teams. In addition to this, tennis courts are scattered promiscuously about the campus itself.

Professor Beasey will address the class in Forestry tomorrow morning on "Forestry as a Profession."

STUDENTS' DEBATING CLUB.

Hold an Active Meeting After Two Weeks' Adjournment.

The Students' Debating Club, after a two weeks' adjournment, met last Saturday night to debate the municipal ownership of the Lincoln gas system.
Messrs. Taylor and Rise upheld the affirmative. Fitzsimmons and Dobbs spoke on the negative. The speakers presented the question in a way that showed preparation and study. Mr.
Fredericks commented on the parla-mentary law practice which was somewhat shortened by the amount of business on hand. The treasurer reported nine dollars and thirty cents in the treasury and about fifteen persons delinquent, both for their dues and initiation fees, and for the twenty-five cents assessment for defraying a part of the expense of papering the hall. The president warned these "hangers back" and "holders on"—to their money—to be prompt in the payment of their expenses, otherwise the advantages of the club could not be extended to them.

The question of correspondence with other colleges relative to the arrangement of joint debates was agitated.
Among other colleges suggested with which the secretary was instructed to open correspondence were Doane, Creighton and Bellevue. Mention was also made of co-operation between the Students' Debating Club and the Academy Debating Club to arouse interest.
F. A. Peterson and a number of his Academy students were present.

The general nature of the club's programs and the activity of its members in all of its meetings this year have been such as to win for the club the name of being a "fast" organization. The debaters no longer get "sore" on being attacked by the critic, but take their dose in good spirit.
Even the most outspoken member, at the meeting last Saturday, testified to the inestimable value the criticism had been to him and promised to reform at once, for which promise the club tendered him a vote of thanks.

The "co-ed" program for next Saturday evening is being arranged for by the committee. A model program will be given consisting of the usual parliamentary scrap, music and debate. The committee is making mad attempts to get "co-eds" to appear on the program and also to act as judges.
The question for debate will be, "Resolved, That a man is justified in getting married on ten dollars."

Freshman Laws Meet.

The Freshman Laws met in room 207 at 11 a. m., Tuesday, in response to a call by President Whelan and discussed several questions which interest not only the class, but the whole Law School as well. Mr. Legro, as chairman of the athletic committee, reported the treatment of the law classes by the athletic board of the Academy, wherein the classes were denied class football teams and also equal representation on the athletic board. He suggested that a committee be appointed to confer with similar committees of the other law classes toward forming a separate Law School athletic board. On a motion to that effect, the president appointed Messrs. Rice, Kazebeer and McWhinney. Mr. Legro was afterward appointed as manager of the basket-ball team.

The class then discussed the action of a few of their members as well as the members of other classes which are certainly bringing this branch of the University into disrepute by using the northeast corner of room 207 as a affections. The class voted their sentiments against the action of these "sluffers" and appointed a committee to draw up a petition to that effect and present it to each of the instructors of the freshman law class.

Different Senior girls spoke and then the following officers were elected: President, Martha Kline; vice-president, Alice Agee; secretary, Beu-

Christmas Vacation.

The executive office has posted a notice to the effect that the Christmas vacation will begin Tuesday, December 21, and will end Tuesday, January 2. All the railroads have granted low rates to bona fide students, and to secure this rate it will be necessary to secure a certificate from the office.
As the office will not grant the certificate until each student has attended his last class, those inclined to add a couple of days at each end of the vacation will have to pay for the privilege.

Harry Shedd, formerly an instructor, and later registrar of the University, was in the city yesterday. Mr. Shedd is at present manager of a large company operating in the western part of the state.
