Engineering Notes.

Professors Morse and Richards, who drew the specifications for the Lincoln City Lighting plant, have been asked to give it a write-up for the "Blue Print."

Professor Morse has received a letter from F. L. Hunt, '02. Mr. Hunt is now in the Boston office of the General Electric Company as superintendent of the construction department.

Bert Bay, '06, gave a fine talk on cash registers at the Engineering Society meeting last Wednesday evening.

The class in Mechanism spent Saturday afternoon visiting the shops at Havelock and gained considerable knowledge which will help them in the class room work and drawing. Professors Chatburn and Richards and Mr. Davis were with the boys and explained to them the different machines.

O. W. Hann was a visitor in the C. E. department Monday. Mr. Hann is now in a surveying party on the Burlington maintenance.

Albert Holmsted, '06, is again at school after several weeks' absence, which he spent in a surveying party near O'Neill, Neb.

The class in C. E. 25 has been designing a bear trap dam.

Jim Green is visiting in town this week.

STUDENTS' DEBATING CLUB.

Defeat Academy Team in a Closely Contested Debate.

The Students' Debating Club of the University defeated the Academy Debating Club in a close debate last Saturday night by a score of two to one.

The debate was on the government ownership of railroads. Messrs. Nelson, Heskett and Morgan of the Academy spoke on the affirmative; Johnson, Copeland and Smith of the Students' Debating Club defended the negative. The visiting team showed good preparation and did splendid team work. The opposing team lacked unity and coherence in their lines of argument. On the part of both teams there was a good deal of assertion and of failing to qualify authority when given. Much time was also lost in the refutation of minor points, entirely irrelevant to the question.

The meeting was well attended by loyal supporters of both teams. The appearance of the Academy team induced the attendance of a number of Academy co-eds. The parliamentary scrap last Saturday was less ferocious than usual. The prime feature of it was the conspicuous absence of J. M.

Museum Building.

Contractors are now working over the plans for the new Museum building and submitting bids. The bids must all be in by the first of next month. The committee will get together soon after that date and award the contract. Work on the building will begin as soon as the weather will permit. It is desired to get the building in shape as soon as possible in order to get the material which is now stored in the steam tunnels out on exhibition and also to have more room in which to display the specimens now in the museum. This room is now so crowded that a good arrangement is impossible.

The Superintendent of Construction is now designing automatic apparatus to darken the lecture room in the Physics building. It is planned to have the apparatus operated by an electric motor. The apparatus will make it possible to raise or lower the shades by simply working a switch. The apparatus will be very convenient as well as time saving.

The curator of the state museum, E. H. Barbour, has been elected to membership in the newly organized Museums Association of America, and will meet with the association at the American Museum of Natural History, New York City, May 15, to read papers and discuss topics relative to the work of the association.

Association Football at Stanford.

Stanford and California will have no more "rugby." At a meeting of their respective athletic committees recently it was decided to abolish the American game and institute in its stead the English game—association football. Although no final action has yet been taken, it is quite probable that the committees' decision will be enforced, as the sentiment on the coast is universally against the game in its present form.

The substitution of association football for the present game was suggested by Stanford, who has been negotiating with a crack New Zealand team, en route home from a successful tour in England, for a series of exhibition games to be played at Palo Alto and San Francisco.

WANTED—Every user or prospective user of a typewriter to have a free trial of the VISIBLE Underwood. Underwood Typewriter Co., Bell Phone No. 348. 156 No. 11th St.

Messrs. Ellery Davis, E. H. Barbour and H. B. Ward attended meetings of the American Association for the Advancement of Science, held in New Orleans during the winter vacation.

Last week Professor Bessey went to Beatrice where he gave two addresses, one before the University Club and the other before the High School. He then went down to Wymore, where he spoke in the afternoon before the Women's Club, and again in the evening before the club and High School. While in Beatrice he inspected the classes in the High School, finding them largely in charge of University graduates. He reports the work as very satisfactory in all cases.
