"BIG NINE"

REPRESENTATIVES OF THE "BIG NINE" MODIFY FOOTBALL.

No Training Table; No Professional Coach—Seven Other Modifications Are Made.

The recommendations made by the conference colleges in regard to football have caused much comment among the students in the last few days. The committee which met in Chicago consisted of faculty members from the nine schools. The recommendations which are given below are such as would radically change the game as it was played during the past season. They are merely suggestions though and await the final action of the National Rules Committee, which meets this week in New York.

The general opinion of most of the students in the University of Nebraska is that these rules are too much in detail and attempt to cover parts of the game wherein no evil has existed up to this time. The recommendations in regard to coach are also considered to be conducive to listing professional coaches as faculty members. This does not affect most of the conference schools, as their coaches are already in the faculty. The students also thought that the fifty-cent admission fee could not be carried out, for the simple fact that so small an admission fee would not be adequate for the cost of the game. The faculty members interviewed thought that the coach proposition, fifty-cent fee and omitting of the training table would be unnecessary, as it would not mitigate any of the present evils, and in the end it was attacking parts of the game that it was not necessary to touch. The above opinions are general and all in all give the sentiment of all.

The recommendations passed by the committee are as follows:

At the "Big Nine" conference, which was held in Chicago last week, the following recommendations were made relative to college football: That the game as played at present be abolished as an intercollegiate and collegiate contest in the conference colleges; that the conference await from the American football rules committee such modifications of the playing rules as will free the game from brutality and unnecessary danger; that in case such alterations are not sufficient the conference will delegate a committee to draw up rules of its own and if a satisfactory game can be thus established, the following recommendations shall apply to its conduct and management:

(1) The faculty shall have charge of the gate receipts.

(2) Football players shall have as many recitations during the football season as at any other time of the year, and in order to play again shall have a clean record at the end of the season.

(3) The student who holds a bachelor's degree or any other academic degree will be eligible to play on the

PRESENTS

"A Russian Honeymoon"

Saturday Evening, January 27th
Uni. Armory. Admission 25c

"THE RUSSIAN HONEYMOON."

Next Saturday Evening Dramatic Club
Presents First Play of the Season.

To those of theatrical bent an opportunity is given next Saturday evening of seeing the best play yet given by the Dramatic Club. In "The Russian Honeymoon" are combined the finest qualities of pathos and humor. This play met with a warm and enthusiastic welcome at New York City, where it had a successful run of 200 nights at Madison Square Garden theatre. The cast that will appear next Saturday evening at the University Armory is composed of actors and actresses of much experience and of marked ability.

"The Russian Honeymoon" is a very instructive play. All love-sick swains who are backward in the grand and noble art of love-making will be given, by Mr. Edgar Edgerton, as Petrovitch, a superb and masterful exposition in all its horrors and delights, its reverses and its triumphs. Miss Rachel Carn will do as well for the girls similarly afflicted. Then, too, this play teaches much of Russian life. Mr. Gibson, as Ivan, the shoemaker, Miss Flossie Erford as Micheline, his coquettish daughter, and Mr. Robertson as Oslip, the restless victim of Micheline's art, strikingly portray Russian peasant life, with its amusing code of domestic conduct. Mr. Mower, as Koulikoff, the overseer of a wealthy nobleman's estate, shows how the wealthy aristocrats manage the serfs on their domains. Mrs. R. E. Rudge impersonates the Countess Vladimir, whose chief aim in life is to be amused. This is a play with a very strong plot. The cast has worked long and assiduously and merits a crowded house. The tickets are now on sale and can be procured from members of the Dramatic Club for 25 cents.

Forestry Students Banquet.

Thirty-five students of the Forestry department, together with Professor Miller, Dr. Bessey, Mr. Scott, forest supervisor, and Mr. Mast, forest assistant, gathered at the Elite Cafe Saturday evening and enjoyed a dinner given under the auspices of the Forestry Club. After the physical wants of the most fastidious were satisfied an intellectual feast of many courses completed the program. Here President Pierson presided and announced the following toasts:

Dr. Bessey—The History of Forestry at the University.

C. A. Scott—A Forester in the Harness.

W. H. Mast—Graduate Work at Yale.

F. W. Morrow—The Forestry Club.

R. J. Poole—A Botanical Key to the Forestry Club.

M. A. Benedict—Hints to the Freshmen.

C. P. Illotson—Hints to the Seniors.

C. M. Dunn—The Axe I Borrowed.

C. J. Humphrey—Why I Am Taking Forestry.

Professor Miller—A Review.

Sweeten Up.

If you need any outside help in this direction, with final examinations so near at hand, patronize the Y. W. C. candy sale, to be held in the Y. W. C. A. rooms, Wednesday from 9 a. m. to 6 p. m. The sweetness to be derived from patronizing this affair will prove to be permanent and will safely tide you through all the difficulties of the coming week. Professors and students alike will be benefited. Patronize the candy sale and "sweeten up."

Important meeting of the Dramatic Club at chapel time, Thursday, January 25, in U. 106.

CONSOLIDATION

COMMITTEES ON "CORNHUSKER" GET TOGETHER.

Plan is Adopted After Two-Hour Session—Juniors Will Consider the Matter Today.

The committees from the Junior and Sophomore classes met in joint session yesterday morning to conceive a plan whereby the unanimous support of the University could be secured for the proposed publication of the "Cornhusker." Two plans were considered. The first was recently adopted by the Seniors and the second was formulated by the Junior committee. After an extended discussion of the two plans lasting two hours, the following articles, which combine the merits of the two plans, were unanimously adopted by the committees:

ARTICLE I.

Editorial Board.

Section 1. The Editorial Board shall consist of one editor-in-chief and three managing editors.

Sec. 2. The editor-in-chief shall have charge of the general editorial management of the enterprise, including the selection of copy, drawings, arrangement, etc.

Sec. 3. Each of the managing editors shall have supervision over the work of the general staff appointed from his class or college.

Sec. 4. Such other assistants shall be chosen as the editor-in-chief, managing editors and class presidents think necessary.

Sec. 5. The editor-in-chief, hereafter, shall be chosen from members of the Junior class who have been on the editorial board of staff.

ARTICLE II.

Board of Managers.

The Board of Managers shall consist of one business manager and three assistant managers.

ARTICLE III.

Method of Election.

Section 1. The president of the class from which the appointee is to be chosen shall have the exclusive right of appointment, subject to the conditions hereinafter mentioned.

Sec. 2. Each president shall make his appointments as soon as practicable after the second semester elections of the year prior to the issuance of the "Cornhusker."

Sec. 3. Appointments shall only be valid when confirmed by a majority vote at a meeting of the class from which the appointee is to be chosen.

ARTICLE IV.

Selection of the Editorial Board.

Section 1. The editor-in-chief shall be chosen from the Junior class. The president shall consult with the faculty before making this appointment.

Sec. 2. The managing editors shall be selected, one each, from the Junior and Senior classes and the Law College. Such appointments shall be made after consultation with the faculty and approval of the editor-in-chief.

Sec. 3. The remainder of the staff shall be selected by the class president.
