With the election of the new members to the honorary society of Phi Beta Kappa another list of names go upon the rolls of this large society.
This list adds to those who have worked diligently during their four years course, and to whom the reward has been given. We all respect the persons more who labored for an end and when the end is reached are liberally rewarded.

There are many who are always willing to knock more or less upon those who secure such awards. The claim is made that scholarship will not take a person through life and secure for him the highest awards any life can give. But such words come only from the jealous minded, and those who wish to throw discredit upon a worthy ambition and cause.

Phi Beta Kappa tends to make an education more broad in nature and keeps the students from specializing along the line which they hope to pursue in graduate work. It is too often the case—that students commence their specializing in courses when they are in the high school. Then they have a tendency to continue this into their college course. But while the P. B. K. requirements do not absolutely prohibit this, yet it causes a great tendency in the other direction. There is a premium put upon the securing of the best knowledge of any subject pursued, and such, as a rule, makes stronger students.

We are not claiming that a Phi Beta Kappa pin is necessary to make a success in life, but such a course of training will aid materially in making a mature and broad mind.

Vacation for Professors.

Six members of the faculty, Messrs.
Ross, Richards, Clark, Willard, Votaw and Clapp will leave tomorrow for Wood Lake, Cherry county, to spend a few days during vacation. They will take shotguns and ammunition along and we are led to suspect that the ducks in that particular region will be at least somewhat alarmed. The results of their research work will be published in The Nebraskan after they return and "show up."

There will be no meeting of the men for the formation of a gymnastic association this morning as was announced yesterday. But the meeting will be held in Dr. Clapp's office sometime near the opening of school after vacation.

REPORT ACCEPTED.

ly conjecturable and it is mentioned for what it is worth.

Sixth—In the item called "cab hire for chaperones" we find that the chairman has asked credit for seven (7) dollars. Upon investigation we found that the two chaperones were taken in the same hack and that the cost of the same was $3.50, instead of $7.00.
When asked to explain that discrepancy in the report, the chairman stated that the remaining $3.50 was for the cost of the hack used by himself and Mr. Kendall. The committee feels that it cannot allow the bill to stand charged up as it was and that if one of the hacks was used as stated by the chairman the account should have been so stated in the report.

Seventh—The chairman has asked credit for thirty (30) dollars for music. The music was furnished by Walt's Orchestra. Seven pieces were engaged until 1 a. m. The regular price for the same is twenty-eight (28) dollars. Mr. Walt says that he cannot swear positively in this particular case because he has no records to prove it, but that he believes that the amount was twenty-eight (28) dollars, since that is the regular price and he sees no reason why he should charge the chairman in question more than the regular price. The chairman says that the additional two dollars was charged because a different organist had to be secured that evening, or something of the kind. He said he did not remember just how many pieces he had that evening and could not definitely explain the item.

Eighth—In the item headed "Printing" the chairman asks credit for $4.
Upon investigation we find that only $1.50 was paid out for printing. When asked to explain this item, the chairman stated that there was a mistake made in the date when the first bath of tickets were printed and that he was obliged to have them reprinted, and this was where the extra cost came in to make the item amount to $4.00. Our committee then asked him if the mistake made was made by the printer. He said it was. It was then pointed out to him that it was not customary for printers to charge extra for items of this sort when the mistake had been made by the printers themselves. He then admitted that he was not charged extra for the printing, but that the additional amount credited against printing in the report was expended for postage, long distance telephone, etc., and other incidental expenses. If the items charged in the report were for postage and incidentals, the committee fails to see why they were not charged up as such in the report, instead of being tacked on to the printing bill. Further, why did he state at first that the extra amount was for printing and then explain the discrepancy by inserting postage, etc.? The committee fails to see how it can credit him with $4.00 printing when only $1.50 has been expended in that way.

The report was accepted by the class. Mr. Edgerton presented an affidavit stating that the gross proceeds and expenditures as shown by the report was a true and accurate account.
He also explained that while some of the items were not charged up accurately nor correctly, the sum total of the report was correct.
