TRACK TRYOUTS

NEBRASKA SHOULD HAVE A STRONG TEAM THIS SPRING.

Local Meet to Be Held May 5th—Large List of Entries Including a Strong Bunch of Men.

Track work is gradually working out of its preliminary stage and is rounding into tangible form. The strongest bunch of candidates that has tried out for a number of years are competing this year and a specially promising bunch of long distance men is going to make the winners earn first place. Among the sprinters such old men as Wallace Smith and Craig are out this year, and among the new men in the sprints "Hink" Winters, a Lincoln High School track star, will make the old men hustle for a place. Two other sprinters are Coe and Boswell. In the quarter, Winters, Smith, Bentley and Clancy are working hard.

For the half, Penrod, who made the former Uni record look sick by running the fastest half mile ever run in Nebraska, is one of the most promising. He lowered the record from 2:06½ to 2:01½ in the Colorado meet May 20, 1905, but Morgan, who followed States a close second in the try-outs last year on May 17th, is showing up in good shape. Bentley, Clancy, Sage and Coons are also trying for the half.

Penrod, Sage, Morgan, Harrison, Coons, Ritchie, Strom, Weber, Wilson, Young, Kavan, and Theison compose the bunch of mile runners and Havens, Strom, Alden, Wilson, Weber, Young, Harrison, Kavan and Theison will enter the preliminaries for the two-mile event.

For the hurdles, Hauser, who lowered two records in the Colorado meet last year, Hagensick, Wallace and Peck are working faithfully. Hauser's feat last year on May 20th was the lowering of the 220-yard hurdle record from 26% to 26% and the 120-yard record from 16% to 16%.

Hagensick, Morse, Gibson and Phelps will do the pole vault and the high jump will be entered by Knode, Wallace, Meyer and Edgerton.

For the broad jump, Hagensick, Wallace and Winters are the three most promising men. Wallace got an "N" last year against Colorado when he got first place in this event, jumping 20 feet 11¼ inches.

In the weights, such men as Martin and Weller will be missed, but Collins will put the shot and throw the discus and Chalopka, Hauser and Moser will each enter some weight event.

The record breaking meet with Colorado last year should be an inspiration for four records were lowered:

- Hauser, 220 hurdles, from 26 4-5 to 26 3-5.
- Hauser, 120 hurdles, from 16 4-5 to 16 3-5.
- Penrod, half mile, from 2:06½ to 2:01 4-5.
- Manning, 220 dash, from 23 to 22%.

NEBRASKA VS. DOANE.

Men Are Practicing Hard for Football Game on Saturday.

Football spirit, the genuine old-fashioned kind that characterized the Booth style of playing, is in the air this spring and the men that get out in spite of the warm weather seem to be filled to the muzzle with it. One would hardly expect these warm, balmy days to be conducive to football activity, for it's a proposition worthy of attention to exist in the shade. But the heat element doesn't seem to enter at all, for the men get under the plays, go down the field, and "boot" the pigskin with as much energy as if the cool November breezes were blowing. Everybody gets into the game and is playing hard ball, as if every tackle or punt meant a reputation and it was the last thing he expected to do in the last game of his last season. And that's the kind of work that is going to drag Doane's colors into the dust next Saturday, the 28th.

But where are the rooters? Has the spring fever swelled their pipes or has a precipitation of migratory real estate clogged up his vocal organs? Bring forth thy flugelhorn and megaphones, rehearse those inspiring lines that so nobly stirred thy former gridiron idols on to victory, oh ye faithful ones, lest the heathen hordes beyond the river dash down upon thee with all the ferocity of a band of Huns and catch thee napping unawares!

Surely! we miss the "old faithfuls" and would like to find Borg at centre, Bender at quarter, Benedict at end and Hunter at tackle, but "men must come and men must go, while 'football' goes on forever." And all the "good indians are not dead indians," for Cotton, Mason, Rice and Taylor are still with us and some Lincoln High School material like—Branson, Hildebrand and Bowers are going to help fill the gap. Besides this there is a bunch of material from last year's second team that all but made the eleven last year. Among these men are Wilke, Perrin, Harvey, Miller and Matters.

COMPANY "F" WINS.

Carries Off First Honors in Competitive Drill at State Farm.

In the annual competitive drill held at the State Farm, Tuesday afternoon Company F (Capt. W. C. Barnes) carried off first honors, while Company E won both individual drill prizes, Corporal N. Pedrett winning the gold medal for the best drilled non-commissioned officer in the battalion and Private M. F. Christensen the "private" medal. The judges were: Major Crites, Captain Skeen of Company A, Captain Syord of Company C, and Adjutant Cornelius. The officers of the day were Commandant Workizer and Major Legro.

After the drill Professor Davisson presented the winners of the individual drill with medals, following which Commandant Workizer made a short address complimenting the cadets upon their efficiency in drill and general military conduct.

On Thursday afternoon, May 3, Maj. M. A. Mann of the general staff, United States Army, will inspect the battalion. Major Mann will probably arrive the evening of May 2 and will spend the morning of the 3d inspecting the records of the battalion and the government property on hand at the University.

BARB CANDIDATES

BARBS TO MEET THIS MORNING TO NOMINATE CANDIDATES.

Plan for a Hard Campaign—Claim They Are to Use the Same Proposition as Used Two Years Ago.

The Associated Barbs will meet this morning at 11 in Memorial Hall to nominate a non-fraternity ticket for the Athletic Board. In the last few years the contest for places as student members of the Athletic Board has narrowed down to a barb-frat "scrap." Each faction puts up a ticket of five men. The five men nominated and supported by the non-fraternity element of the University are nominated at a meeting of the Associated Barbs, at which all non-fraternity men in the University are eligible to vote. A heated campaign is carried on from the date of the nomination of candidates until the day of election.

The non-fraternity people will fire the first gun in this campaign this morning by the nomination of their candidates. Nine men will be nominated at the meeting this morning, from which five will be chosen by ballot. The nine men whom it is expected will be nominated are: J. M. Swenson, W. M. Whelan, E. D. Crites, W. E. Penrod, J. C. Knode, M. E. Cornelius, B. E. Yoder, E. H. Willisford and J. W. Rice. Other aspirants for the nomination may appear before the meeting is held this morning and swell this number, but it is known that at least the above will be voted upon.

It is asserted by leading barbs that, contrary to the action of last year, a large "slush" fund will be put up. They say that experience seems to prove that such a fund is necessary and that they feel compelled to put it up for that reason. It is probable that a finance committee will be appointed this morning to begin collecting funds. The barbs claim that they went into the campaign last year on a question of principle and that the students did not seem to want such a campaign, at least they did not vote the barb ticket and that they are going to try the other method again this year as they did two years ago.

Prof. Jones at Convocation.

Yesterday morning, before a very creditable and appreciative audience, Professor Guernsey Jones delivered an interesting lecture on "Recent English Elections."

After describing briefly the English electoral system, Prof. Jones gave a short account of the results of the recent election and what they indicate. For many years the English government has been undergoing a series of important changes, and it is for this reason that its recent election is attracting such marked attention throughout the world.
