Bailey and Ringer.

Word was received by the secretary today that Mr. J. P. Bailey, State Secretary of the Y. M. C. A., will be present at the committeemen's dinner. He was immediately put on the list to act as toastmaster. A good spread has already been assured and the presence of Mr. Bailey guarantees to every man a royal time. It is not necessary to speak further of him to University students.

All the Association men as well as every student in the University will be glad of an opportunity to hear Dean Ringer, the former General Secretary of the Student Association. It will be a good chance for the men to meet with Mr. Ringer again. While the dinner is especially for committeemen, all Association members and others are welcome at the dinner. The event comes off Friday evening at 6:15.

Class Baseball.

E. K. Bowman has been appointed baseball manager for the junior class. Mr. Bowman is quite a baseball enthusiast and an all-around athlete and should be able to work up a good nine for the Juniors. A game will probably be arranged in the near future to decide which of the upper classes is to meet the winner of the Sophomore-Freshman contest to decide the championship of the University.

The annual Junior exhibition at Yale recently was won by a student from Chicago, Marshall Olds Johnson, who spoke on "The Influence of the West on American Ideals." He won the Ten Eyck prize, the income of a fund of $2,600.

The University medical students gave a reception and dancing party to their faculty last Friday evening in Grant Memorial Hall. Everyone present reports a most enjoyable time.

The University of Washington Dramatic club presented "The Pirates of Penzance" at the Grand theatre in Seattle Friday night. It was a complete success.
