"C"—"C"—See!

It the new yell of Company C that resounded from the hospitable walls of the Kappa Sigma house Wednesday night when the officers entertained their company at annual "blowout."

The company enjoyed a rousing good time at cards and music early in the evening and later on indulged in refreshments clad in brown, the company color.

After refreshments and while the air grew blue with the aroma of perfectos, enthusiastic speeches were made by visitors and Company C men, who told of past pleasures at camp and why, how and when Company C is going to win the cup. The date was set for May 25, 1906, and all are confident that C will win.

I. C. Syford is captain of C company and R. V. Pepperberg and W. E. Shindoll, lieutenants, and these men are working hard with the company to bring victory.

Besides the new yell, Company C adopted the following song:
(Tune: Hot Time.)

When you hear that "C" has won the cup
You can bet that we will tear things up,
We will go around and paint the whole town brown;
There'll be a hot time in Lincoln that night.
