JUDGES SELECTED.

Captain Workizer Has Secured Three Officers from Fort Crook.

The judges for Competitive Drill on Friday have been secured. They are all members of the United States Army stationed at Fort Crook. The three men are Captain G. G. Palmer, Thirtieth Infantry; First Lieutenant J. M. Little, and Second Lieutenant Geo. R. Guild, of the same infantry. Captain Palmer is known to the students as he has been with us before, although on a different errand. He acted as government inspector one year ago this spring and gave great satisfaction to all concerned.

Senior Play.

Students who are to be in Lincoln during Commencement week should not forget the Senior play on Tuesday night, the 12th of June. Every endeavor is being made to insure a creditable performance. The play is a good one, the caste has been diligent and rich costumes and staging will be a special feature.

To correct a prevalent misunderstanding, it is stated that tickets go on general sale at the Oliver a few days before the date of the play, so that every one who wishes may obtain them. The play is not alone for Seniors and their invited friends, but for the general public as well. The caste as completed will be announced shortly.

Sophomore Foolishness.

"Never had so much fun in all my life!" was the reply of every Sophomore when questioned relative to the party given by the class of '08 at the State Farm last Saturday night. "We danced and ate and played games and had a bully good time all 'round. Did not get home till twelve o'clock!"

The number who attended the party is estimated to have been at least one hundred.

Senior Law Book.

The Senior Law Book is scheduled to appear on the University campus tomorrow morning at sharp 9 a. m. In appearance, contents and general make-up it is reputed to be the best publication ever turned out by the College of Law. They will be on sale in University Hall and probably in the Library.
