IVY DAY PROGRAM

OWING TO RAIN PROGRAM WAS GIVEN IN MEMORIAL HALL.

E. M. Marvin, Ivy Day Orator, Gives an Earnest Talk to Classmates—
Dr. Bessey Responds.

The inclemency of the weather prevented the Ivy Day celebration from taking place outside. But a very fair crowd of Seniors and Juniors assembled in Memorial Hall where the exercises were given. President Crites of the Senior class presided during the afternoon, and with him on the stage sat Miss Leta Stetter, E. M. Marvin and Wm. Whalen. At three o'clock the first selection on the program was given by the Y. M. C. A. Quartette, and so highly appreciated was this that they were encored.

E. M. Marvin, Ivy Day orator, gave the Seniors more of a heart-to-heart talk than an oration. His talk was short and to the point, his style very convincing. This was followed by the class song, sung by the entire class. While the spirit of the song was strong yet it lacked a great deal in volume. Miss Leta A. Stetter then read the class poem, it is a very pretty piece of poetry, five verses in length.

Class Poem.

One thinks when some dear, gladsome time is done,
"What if thro' all the rounds and rounds of years,
The heart should lose it!" and the sudden tears
Spring hurrying to the eyes. Well, this is one
Of all those times of which an end must be;
How shall its life be kept for you and me?

Oh, never weep with him of bitter heart
I saw, once pausing where white roses die
And hide the earth in fragrance where they lie.
With darkened eyes he looked, then turned apart,
And murmuring hopeless to himself, he said,
"The thorns still sharpen when the flowers are dead."

Another came and stood within the place
Where softly breathing lay the living snow,
And looked upon the waste and bending low
Stooped as he loved it. Then I saw his face!
He gathered all the petals at his feet
And thro' his life they gave him fragrance sweet.

So we may know what wisdom is, we read
Its mighty meaning in the brow and eyes
Of him who knows to keep his paradise
In fragrance when the living thing is dead.
He looked so calm, for tho' his eyes were wet
His face was placid and without regret.

This story runs in sweet and tender ways,
For always and forever roses die
And all about us fragrant petals lie
The remnants of the precious, perfect days
Which come and pass. But mem'ry still may lend

JUNIOR-SENIOR RECEPTION

OPEN TO JUNIORS AND SENIORS

Programme and Dance at 8:30 P. M.

A fragrance sweet to gladden till the end.

After the reading of the poem the quartette sang three more selections, two being encores. The presentation speech of Mr. Whalen's in giving the circular cement seat to the University was one of the strongest features of the program. On behalf of Chancellor Andrews, then, Dean Bessey gave the response. He urged for college loyalty and spirit on the part of the outgoing class. Owing to the weather it was impossible to plant the ivy, and in this way President Crites' presentation of the trowel speech, and H. G. Myers', president of the Junior class, response were omitted.

A. H. Lundin then read the names of the newly elected Innocents, and introduced the men to the class. He bespoke for the incoming members as loyal support from the class of '07 as the class of '06 had given to the present bunch. The new members of the Innocents are: Butler, Lloyd Denlow, C. B. Duer, D. D. Drain, E. O. Eager, R. H. Findlay, L. A. Higgins, C. M. Kearney, E. L. Lindquest, A. Lott, C. C. McWilliams, H. G. Myers, C. D. Slaughter.

The May pole dance was given in the Armory, and a short informal dance followed in the chapel.

Band Concert.

The University Cadet band will give an open air concert on Friday morning during chapel hour. This will be the last opportunity the student will have of hearing the band this year, as next week they go to Cadet encampment, and then all is over. The selections to be played are of the same nature as the ones played in the Convocation exercises the fore part of the year.

Miss Emma Wilhelmson, for the last two years superintendent at Broken Bow, will have charge of the normal department at Beatrice next year.

Miss Rua L. Sheppard will return to the Florence high school as principal next year.

COLLEGE OF MEDICINE.

Held Fourth Annual Commencement in Omaha Tonight.

The University of Nebraska College of Medicine will hold their fourth annual commencement tonight in Omaha. The exercises are to be held at the Congregational church, Nineteenth and Davenport streets. Dean Ward of the School of Medicine went to Omaha yesterday to attend the alumni day exercises and it is quite likely a number of Lincoln alumni will go up today for the exercises to be held tonight.

The program for tonight is as follows:

Music—Grand Chorus.....Salome Invocation—

Rev. J. W. Conley, D. D.

Music—Chant Pastoral.....DuBois Administering of Hippocratic Oath and Presentation of Candidates—
Dean Henry Baldwin Ward.

The Conferring of Degrees—
Chancellor Ellisha Benjamin Andrews.
The Awarding of Prizes—
Dean Henry Baldwin Ward.

Commencement Address by James Carroll, M. D., Curator of the Army Medical Museum, Washington, D. C. "The Microscope in Medicine."

Music—Festival March.....Dunster Informal Reception for the speaker, alumni, graduates, and invited guests, in the church parlors.

There are seven members of the graduating class, Edward Lewis Brush, Nora May Fairchild, John Andre Fuller, Jr., Leslie William Morsman, Claude Palmer, Edwin Norris Robertson and Claude Leroy Wills. Those who were fortunate enough to receive prizes and honors for their work are:
Class Honors—Nora May Fairchild.
Honorable Mention—First, Claude Palmer; second, Edwin Norris Robertson.

Gifford Prize in Ophthalmology—
Claude Palmer.

Willford I. King, class of '05, will teach science in the high school at Mount Pleasant, Iowa.

KANSAS SATURDAY

VARSITY TRACK TEAM TO MEET JAYHAWKERS.

Meet to Be Held on Athletic Field—
Fair Grounds Cannot Be Secured
—Should Be a Close Contest.

The second and last try-out for the Kansas track meet will be held on the field this afternoon when the quarter-mile men will be picked and the relay team will be chosen. Last Monday evening, May 21st, the half and two-mile try-outs were won by Kuns and Alden, respectively. Kuns ran the best half that has been run on the field this year, but the time was not taken. Alden finished strong in the two-mile with Gable a close second and Dr. Clapp prophesies that this event Saturday will be brought down close to the 10 minute mark.

The team as a whole is exceptionally strong this year. Winters can be depended on to easily win three events, the hundred yard dash, the two-twenty yard dash and the broad jump. Kansas will need to do a great deal better than twenty feet in the broad jump if they hope to make even a second place, for Winters does twenty-three feet and Hagensick has jumped twenty-one. Winters did the hundred in 10-1-5 in the first try-out of the season and didn't seem to be working hard at that.

In the two hurdle events the Missouri record looks big when compared with Hauser's. He runs the high ones in 16 and the low ones in 26, and then both Hagensick and Peck run him a close second.

As for the shot put, both Calupka and Collins hover around the forty-foot mark in practice and with the discus both Collins and Calupka, but especially Collins, are doing good work making it drop at and around 120 feet.

Nebraska concedes the hammer event to Kansas as far as first place is concerned, but expects Hauser to land second.

In the pole vault last year Hagensick went over in the Western Intercollegiate meet at 11:6 and at Chicago made 11:3. This event will no doubt be one of the most interesting entries on the program since rumor has it that the Kansas vaulter goes over at 11:4. In the Missouri meet on May 12, Kansas had no need for their vaulter, since Missouri had no entry for the stunt and Kansas took first at 8 feet 2 inches.

If the Missouri meet is any criterion the high jump is clinched for Nebraska, for Parker only jumped 5 feet 5 inches, and Meyer has done 5 feet 10 3-4 inches, and Knobe makes 5 feet 9 inches.

The department is very much disappointed over its inability to hold the meet at the fair grounds as per previous announcement. The Lincoln Traction company will not be able to furnish cars to and from the grounds, so the meet will be held on the campus next Saturday, May 26, at 2 p. m. The time is set early in order to have the
