Engineering Notes.

J. E. Henry is foreman on a sewer construction in St. Joseph, Mo.

Professor Richards has a letter from C. L. Dean, who states that he is improving rapidly at his home in Wisconsin.

Fairbanks, Morse & Co. are asking for apprentices from the Engineering students to enter the works at Beloit. They are paying better salaries than the usual apprenticeships pay.

A. E. Miller has accepted a position with the Larson Ice Machine company for the summer. He has arranged to take an instructorship in the Ames, Iowa, Agricultural School, his duties to commence next fall. This will make the third man from Nebraska who is holding a faculty position in Ames. J. L. Davidson is professor of Agricultural Engineering and Adolph Shane is assistant professor in Electrical Engineering in that institution.
