

The Daily Nebraskan

Vol. V, No. 131.

UNIVERSITY OF NEBRASKA, LINCOLN, THURSDAY, MAY 31, 1906.

Price 5 Cents

LEWIS TO LECTURE

State Hist. Society
FOR LECTURE
AT SUMMER SCHOOL.

He Will Lecture on Oriental History and Politics—Special Stereopticon Slides Have Been Secured.

Professor Hodgman of the Summer School announces that he has secured Burdette G. Lewis, '04, former student and debater here, to give a week's course of lectures illustrated by views loaned by Professor Jenks of Cornell University. The week will begin June 29 and the lectures will come from 7 to 8 o'clock each evening.

Mr. Lewis is well known in the University and has done special work in the subjects upon which he will lecture under some of the greatest minds in our largest universities. He comes with the highest recommendations, both from his professors and from the press. Professor Ross and Professor Taylor each have unstinted praise for Mr. Lewis. His intimate association with Professor Jenks, made possible by his election to the President A. D. White fellowship at Cornell, gave him excellent opportunity for research work. At Wisconsin Mr. Lewis served as expert tax commissioner. The synopsis of Mr. Lewis' lectures for the Summer School follows:

- Lecture. "The Spirit of the East as Contrasted With the Spirit of the West: A Sage Made Civilization vs. A People Made Civilization."
 - The meeting of the East and West. The new significance of the Far Eastern Question.
 - The geography of the Far East, particularly of India.
 - The antiquity of Indian civilization.
 - Her literature.
 - Her religion.
 - Her arts and artisans.
 - The fundamentals of the two civilizations contrasted on vital points. A complete contrast shown by an attempt to analyze Indian or Oriental psychology. Here will be shown differences in ideas of government, religion, law, personal ideals, family life, and rights.
 - Indian castes; a careful statement of caste conditions.
 - Buddhism, Mohammedanism and Christianity. A brief but complete study of the essentials of these religions. Is the Orient "more Christian than the West?"
 - What the East has to teach the West. Views of great authorities.
 - Lecture. Social conditions in India. A Study of India as it is. Illustrated from pictures taken by Prof. J. W. Jenks in India, while representing the United States on the International Currency Commission.
 - The great temples of marble and sandstone.
 - The city life of India.
 - "The hills people," written of so much by Tagore.
 - The religions of India, priests, beggars, festivals and assemblies.
 - Social life. The homes of Indians.
 - Economic conditions. Canals, railways, etc.

BAND INFORMAL

MEMORIAL HALL
SATURDAY, JUNE TWO
NINE P. M.

6 Piece Orchestra. Tickets 50c

Seventy-five lantern slides in all, selected from 600 slides.

III. Lecture. Great Britain in India. The New Imperialism Built Upon Prosperity. Colony and Mother Country.

- A statement of the difficulties of such a government in India.
- A short history of British rule in India.

- The present government.
 - Organization of the government.
 - The Indian civil service.
 - The Indian council.
 - British provinces and federated native states.
 - The British judiciary.
 - The Indian national congress.

An attempt to introduce Western institutions.

- The failure of local self-government.

- The characteristics of the present population as a basis of government.
 - The races of India.
 - Their religious differences.
 - The occupations of the people.

- Shall the British government be condemned for its record in India?
 - The land question.
 - The tax question.
 - Native manufactures.
 - Famines and famine relief.
 - The currency problem.
 - Internal improvements, railroads, canals and diversification of industry.
 - Education in India.
 - A few lessons for the Philippine government.

IV. Lecture. Social Conditions in China. Lecture illustrated with choicest slides from Professor Jenks' collection from pictures taken by himself during a year's residence in China.

- These slides are designed to show the life of the people in every particular.

V. Lecture. The New China.

- The Palace Revolution, 1900.
- The character of Chinese local and central government.
- Treaty ports and extra territoriality.
- The customs service, internal tax and internal trade.
- Chinese civil service and the mandarin.
- Agencies for reform in China:
 - Railways.
 - Manufactures.
 - Mining.
 - Education.
 - Army and navy.
 - The boycott and the "yellow peril."

Moser Elected Captain.

At a meeting of the University Athletic Board Tuesday ballots cast by the members of the basket ball team for the captain of the club next year were opened and counted. The next captain will be Walter Moser, center on last season's team. A report was presented by Manager Eager on the financial condition of the baseball team. The report showed that the team has cleared about $250 on the games played. The season will close with a game with Creighton University of Omaha at Antelope Park next Saturday. The election of a manager for the football team was not attempted, but will be taken up at a meeting of the board some time before the close of the University year. A message from the football management of the University of Minnesota was read, in which the request was made that the Nebraska team keep open, if possible, October 27 as well as November 3, when the game between the two teams is scheduled to be played. The former date has already been filled with a game with Doane College and the contract has been agreed to.

Battalion Leaves.

The Battalion left Tuesday for Beatrice, where they will camp at the Chautauqua grounds until Saturday. About three hundred cadets were in line and the full band and artillery were taken along. Every preparation was made by Captain Workizer and those assisting him and the boys will no doubt enjoy the few days spent at Beatrice. Weather predictions are for fair weather and interested ones are thanking the powers that be as heretofore the boys have usually had some bad weather during their sojourn as soldiers.

Rhetoric 2 Examination.

The final examination in Rhetoric 2 will be held on Monday, June 4, from 8 to 10 o'clock. For the rooms in which the several divisions will meet see the bulletin board.
Department of Rhetoric.

CADETS IN CAMP

UNIVERSITY BATTALION HAVE NICE GROUNDS AT BEATRICE.

Large Crowd Went Down on the Excursion—Decoration Day Exercises Were Very Successful.

The University Cadets are being royally entertained by Beatrice and her citizens this week. The camping and parade grounds are by far the best they have ever had. The officers are furnished with cottages for headquarters and apartments and there is a large eating house which is used as mess house. Dr. Leonhoff of the battalion made an examination of the water yesterday and found it exceedingly pure and absolutely free from any contagious or disease-bearing germs.

Captain Workizer and the battalion arrived in Beatrice about 7:45 Tuesday night and immediately proceeded to the Chautauqua grounds. Here everything was quite wet owing to a drenching rain which occurred about six o'clock. This had destroyed about one-half the straw to be used for bedding. But the cadets soon fixed their bunks for the night. No drill was held on Tuesday night, only guard being posted. The warm weather of Wednesday put the grounds in excellent condition and without any more rain the camp should prove very enjoyable.

Yesterday morning the cadets assisted in the Decoration day program. At nine o'clock they assembled at the Central high school grounds, and at 9:30 they proceeded at the head of the procession to the old cemetery. The cadet band alternated with the Beatrice band in furnishing music during the entire forenoon's program. During the Decoration day program of the afternoon the band gave a short concert and Samuel Rinaker, Jr., president of the Freshman class, read Lincoln's Gettysburg speech.

At four o'clock the band gave a concert and at 5:10 the different companies fell in for dress parade. This lasted for about half an hour, and judging from the generous applause, the Beatrice people enjoyed the drill. Over five thousand people were on the Chautauqua grounds for the afternoon program.

Captain Workizer has established a new system this year of having telegraphic communication all over the grounds. The terminal is the Signal Corps headquarters, and here telephone privileges place the officers in direct connection with the city. For the first time the artillery equipment has been taken to camp and a sunrise salute is fired each day.

Teachers' Elected.

The annual election of the teachers for next year in the city schools was held on Tuesday night. Many University students are to be found on the list and from the re-election of all formerly engaged in the work, we may judge that they are giving satisfaction.

W. T. March spent Sunday at his home in Ceresco.

BASEBALL

SATURDAY, JUNE 2

Creighton vs. Nebraska

ANTELOPE PARK