FIGURE IT OUT.

Subscribers to American newspapers do not pay one-fourth of the cost of the sheets they read. The paper that depended upon its subscription list to furnish the money necessary for the paper to exist at all, would straightway "go broke." It is thru the advertising columns that the paper is made self-supporting.

This is especially true of your own college paper. If it were not for the loyal and liberal support given by the merchants of Lincoln the Daily Nebraskan would be compelled to fold its tent and silently steal away.

The Nebraskan is scrupulous in regard to the nature of its advertisements and we guarantee that all our advertisers are reputable and trustworthy firms who have in a substan-

We believe that competency has been the watchword that has guided President McWilliams in his choice and we feel sure that '07 will make a strong showing in every field of its endeavor.

At the very start, however, every member of every committee should recognize and accept the responsibility that he bears. One "sluffer" in a committee can upset the hardest work of the other members. One member who is not thoroly in accord with the others and will take no steps to harmonize his ideas with those of his fellow committeemen, can create trouble that may end in disruption of the class. We urge that the best interests of the class may be the standard by which all affairs are handled and that secrecy, the cloak of graft, be discarded absolutely.

Dramatic Club Meets.

In a short meeting yesterday morning the University Dramatic Club elected officers for the coming year and talked over plans for resuming the work of the club. Miss Howell, by virtue of her position as instructor in Elocution, continues as president of the club without election, but other officers were selected as follows: Vice president, E. M. Sunderland; secretary, Miss Vera Fall; treasurer, Miss Flossy Erford; custodian of properties, B. R. Frazier. A statement concerning the club will be published shortly.

Latin Reception.

Professor and Mrs. Grove E. Barber will be at home to the members of the Latin Department on Tuesday evening, October 23d, at Hays Hall. The annual Latin Reception is an event which all Latin students look forward to with great pleasure.

T. V. Allen, '04, was visiting University friends last week. Mr. Allen has been instructing the youths of the commonwealth since his graduation.

tial way demonstrated their good-will toward the University.

We print a business directory every day including the names of all our advertisers and in it you can always find the place you want to patronize. A little thoughtfulness in this respect on the part of the entire faculty and student body will do more than any other thing to keep our paper in the top rank of college journalism.

A GOOD START.

With the announcement of committees for the coming year the Class of 1907 may well feel that it has started its final year auspiciously. Its first meeting was characterized by the absence of hard feeling, and a very general sense of satisfaction followed the election of the president. This feeling of satisfaction will, we feel sure, be increased upon consideration of the committees in whose hands the destinies of the class now rest.

The scrub game at York, scheduled for today, has been called off.

Miss Grace M. Elledge, '05, is teaching at Beatrice again this year.

Miss Alma Barnett is teaching at Beatrice and her sister Agnes at Gretna.

Miss Sophia D. Klesselbach, '05, is teaching German in the Lincoln High School.

Miss Margaret Davis, M. A. '05, is also instructing in the Lincoln High School.

The men at the training table have a fifteen-minute talk on the new rules every evening after supper.

Ralph Hildebrand has registered and will try out for the football team. He played a star game on Lincoln High last year.

The legal fraternity of Phi Delta Phi held a smoker at the Phi Kappa Psi chapter house last night. An unusually pleasant evening is reported.
