FRESHIES--SOPHS

FRESHMEN PERFORM STUNTS AT SOPHS' BIDDING.

Freshman President Captured—Fresh Fish in J Street Fountain—Class Meetings.

At ten o'clock yesterday morning crowds of Sophomores and innocent spectators began to congregate in the vicinity of Memorial Hall, where the Freshman Class was scheduled to hold its first meeting. Chancellor Andrews, ten janitors, the chief of police, the city jaller and John Uhl were also present.

The Freshmen were allowed to enter the hall unmolested, while the Sophomores held their meeting in the Chemistry Lecture Room.

As soon as the Sophs had selected their president they marched over to Memorial Hall, but were dissuaded from starting anything by the Chancellor, John Uhl and a number of janitors.

Tiring of the lack of excitement and incited by the big crowd of onlookers, a number of Sophomores and Seniors seized a prominent Junior and started to rush him off to the northeast gate of the campus. In the scrimmage the Junior fainted and was carried home in a hack. Smith, a Sophomore, who was mixing in the fracas, received a blow in the jaw which necessitated his being carried home.

At the close of the Freshman meeting, Heskett, the president-elect, made a dash for his recitation room in University Hall, but was caught ere he had moved many steps. Harry Swan and George Wallace put in strenuous efforts to rescue him, but the Sophomores were in force and Heskett was marched across the football field to Tenth street, where a grocery wagon was pressed into service. Heskett was placed aboard under the guard of Harrison, Dobbs, Bennison, Drake and several other stalwart Sophs. The Freshmen made a futile attempt to unharness the horse. Then the wagon, followed by a howling throng of Sophs, was driven down to O street, and thence on Twelfth and Eleventh to J street, where Heskett and four others were tossed gently but firmly into the big fountain pool, and enjoyed the luxury of a bath at the city's expense.

The Sophs marched back to the campus in triumph, the air echoing with their yells. About the big rock they assembled in a pow-wow, and ratified Mr. Heskett's election to the Freshman presidency. The Sophomore president was crowned with the noble diadem—a Sophomore cap and the meeting adjourned sine die.

What They Say About It.

The following expressions of sentiment from those who have a right, if anyone has, to feel aggrieved at the treatment they received yesterday, shows the good feeling that prevails:

President Heskett of the Freshman Class: "The Sophs certainly treated me right. I have nothing to kick about. The water was fine. There are no sore spots on me."

Lisle Smith: "I'm all right and ready for the next one."

GET READY FOR AMES

FOOTBALL RALLY

ON THURSDAY MORNING

B. R. Savin (an auburn crested Freshman who took a plunge with Heskett): "I enjoyed my free bath immensely."

John Uhl: "I'm feeling all right. The Sophs acted mighty nice."

J. A. Rodman (who was a member of the impromptu swimming class): "I'm well satisfied. I ducked a Soph."

Sophomore Meeting.

The Sophomore Class Meeting was held in the Chemistry Lecture room promptly at 11:00 a. m. A large number were present and the utmost harmony as well as a great deal of enthusiasm prevailed. President Rinaker called the meeting to order and after speaking briefly of the work done last semester called for nominations for president. Miller Benedict arose and nominated S. M. Rinaker. It was moved and carried unanimously that the nominations be closed. The chair then put it to vote and the nominee was elected without a dissenting voice. A motion was then made to adjourn. Before putting the motion, President Rinaker announced that the Chancellor had asked him to urge the class to leave the Freshmen alone.

Freshman Meeting.

Yesterday morning at 11 o'clock the Freshman class met in Memorial Hall. "Mike" Hughes, president of the Junior class, called the meeting to order. After a few preliminary remarks, he announced the business of the day, which consisted of election of officers. The nomination of president was first in order. Fred Hoffman placed in nomination George Wallace of Omaha. A. H. Heskett was nominated by L. J. Weaver. Engles of Crete was nominated, but withdrew in favor of Mr. Heskett. Tellers were appointed and the class proceeded to ballot. The total vote cast was 254. Heskett receiving 191 and Wallace 63; Heskett was declared elected.

Nominations were made for the vice-presidence, Miss Meyer and Mr. Weaver being the candidates. However, no choice was announced, the meeting being adjourned before the ballots were collected.

New Football Songs.

I. Tune: "Why Don't You Try?"
Do you think you'd play us better
If you thought we might beat you?
Do you think you would be angry
If we won a game or two?
Do you think you'd learn to beat us
In the sweet, sweet bye-and-bye?
If you think that you could learn to
Why don't you try, why don't you try?

II. Tune: "Same Old Moon."
It's just the same old team a-playing
In just the same old plucky way,
No wonder Ames is pale and saying,
"We've lost our game today."
For that's the way they're always feeling
When Nebraska starts to play.
Same good old colors, scarlet and cream,
Same good old Uhl, same old team.
MISS DOROTHY GREEN.

SCRUBS WIN.

Defeat Lincoln Independents in Interesting Game.

Yesterday afternoon the Scrubs defeated a Lincoln team composed of ex-High School and other football men, by a score of 14-0.

One touchdown was made in the first half, the Scrubs getting the ball on a blocked punt two yards from Lincoln's goal and carrying it over by line bucks. In the second half a Lincoln man fumbled the ball on the kick-off and it rolled over the line, a Nebraska man falling on it for the Scrubs' second touchdown.

Toward the end of the half Hawley kicked a pretty goal from the field, raising the score of the Scrubs to 14. Hawley's work was the feature of the game, altho Burnett and Muir ran him a close race for the honors.

NEBRASKA WINS

DEFEATS DRAKE COLLEGE BY A NARROW MARGIN.

Game Characterized by Dirty Play—Nebraska Crippled—Drake Team Heavy.

Nebraska 5, Drake 0.

Last Saturday, again, Nebraska met with an unexpectedly stiff proposition and again, after a hard struggle, her team pulled out the victory by a narrow margin. Outweighed ten pounds to the man and handicapped by injuries, the team put up a most plucky and creditable game.

Thruout the first half honors were practically even, neither side scoring. At the beginning of the second half Nebraska took a brace and tore up the Drake defense, scoring in the first few minutes of play. After this the ball traveled back and forth, both sides punting frequently, but no further scoring was done.

The Drake team was heavy and fairly fast, their line men charged well and gave their Cornhusker opponents plenty to do to hold their own. Their quarter-back and right-half, Taylor and Loverin, did good work in carrying the ball and were in large part responsible for Drake's gains.

While the work of the Nebraska team still showed many flaws, it was a very manifest improvement on that of a week ago. The most encouraging feature was the way that, at least twice, the team got together and tore thru all opposition as tho nothing could stop it. Flashes of play like this show what the team is capable of and what we may expect when it reaches its full development, and that it has the real fighting spirit that will be stopped by nothing regardless of odds.

The forward pass was not used by either team and with the exception that more end runs were tried and that both teams were forced to punt frequently, the game resembled very much the old style football.

Coach Ristine of Ames witnessed the game and expressed confidence in the ability of his team to defeat us next Saturday. However, he will find that how easy it looks is very different from how easy it is.

The game in detail follows:

At 3:40 p. m., Little kicked off to Evans on the 10 yard line. Evans returned to the 30 yard line and Drake, by a series of line plunges, made the required 10 yards. Nebraska got the ball on a fumble close to the 50 yard line and punted it back to the 12 yard line. An exchange of fumbles, followed, giving Drake the ball on her own 10 yard line, and she punted to McDonald on the 40 yard line. McDonald failed to gain around the end, Denslow made five yards thru tackle and Nebraska lost the ball on downs on Drake's 30 yard line.

Loverin plunged thru tackle for 5 yards, Evans circled our end for 10 more, and Taylor added 5 around the other. Here Drake was penalized five yards for off-side play and punted. Drain at once booted the oval to Drake's 45 yard line, and Loverin
