A MEAN ADVANTAGE.

Thru the leniency of the authorities and the loyal interest of Captain Workizer in the athletic welfare of the University, cadets with football aspirations have had no difficulty in getting excused from drill. It is reported that one night last week a count was made of the excused who were out with squad and a very large number of self-alleged football aspirants were conspicuously absent. It is said that many of the men enjoying the drill excuse privilege continually fail to appear on the gridiron. The exemption from drill is perfectly proper if it is not abused, but such abuse as that reported cannot be too harshly condemned. Aside from the ingratitude it shows for the willing co-operation of the authorities, it is an exhibition of deplorable disloyalty to the University. Every man who has football ambition in him or who thinks he could help the Varsity or the squad should be out on the field every night doing all in his power.

Out of three hundred and more members of the faculty of the University of Michigan seven are subscribers to the student paper, the Michigan Daily. Three of these seven subscribers are new members of the faculty. As soon as possible, in order to show the other instructors their dereliction, cuts of the faculty subscribers will be published. In the editorial of the current number the Daily asks whether instructors are prevented by the lack of funds from subscribing to the paper, or that they are not desirous of keeping "a finger upon the student pulse."—Chicago Maroon.

Mr. C. M. Hopkins of Warren, Pa., who six years ago presented the Historical Society with a collection of specimens from the caves adjoining the great Mammoth Cave, has recently been in the city. While here he added more specimens to his gift, among them several very beautiful stalactites and stalagmites. Special cases have been ordered to take care of the new gift.

The universities of California and Leland Stanford are playing rugby football this year. The students of the latter school found it slow.

Y. M. C. A. NEWS.

What the Committees Have Done and Are Doing.

The Y. M. C. A. cabinet met Wednesday evening for the regular monthly meeting. The reports submitted by the chairmen of the different committees indicate an encouraging growth along the various lines of work.

The mid-week meetings show a steady increase in attendance and interest. The topics discussed in these meetings are of timely interest to students. The Sunday afternoon meetings are to be discontinued in order to assist in conducting the Oliver meetings, which begin November 11th.

The Bible Study department reports that the enrollment is about 325 and is still increasing. The groups meet under competent student leadership at various rooming houses, fraternity houses, and the Y. M. C. A. rooms. The leaders' normal class meets weekly under the leadership of C. M. Mayne, secretary of the City Association.

The social committee is planning to have frequent social events during the year, similar to the supper last Saturday evening and the opening reception in September.

The membership at present is 127 new members and 216 old members, making a total of 343. The membership committee is planning to increase the membership to 600 this year.

The budget this year required to carry on the work for the year is $1,420. This entire amount is raised by the finance committee.

The new student directory is in course of preparation and will be published as soon as the necessary information can be secured.

The missionary committee is offering five different courses in the study of missions. The classes will begin in the near future.

Mr. H. C. Searles, '02, has been visiting University friends the last few days. He is now locating engineer for the Missouri Pacific railroad with headquarters at St. Louis. He is on his way to western Kansas where the company is constructing long "passing tracks," i. e., very long side tracks which will eventually be changed into a double track. The Gould railroad company is pursuing this plan on all the railroads in its control and within the near future will have a double track from the Atlantic to the Pacific.

Two of the forestry men in the class of Systematic Botany have made a list of the trees in the vicinity of Lincoln and have found nearly 100 species. This is the largest number ever enumerated for this part of the state. Among the unexpected trees are a Japanese pagoda tree, and a southern cypress, both natives of much warmer climates.

Statistics of the enrollment of students in the graduate school show a registration up to the present time of one hundred and four as against one hundred and twenty for the whole of last year. Registration was rather slow as many fellows and scholars in some of the different departments delayed registering for a long time.

The Y. W. C. A. reports that there is a total enrollment in mission study classes of eighty persons. There are thirty registered in Dr. Long's class alone. This class is studying systematically the regular Christian Endeavor mission topics.

Thomas Newton Fleming, '05, is superintending the Lyons public schools. Miss Leah L. Meyers, '06, is principal at the same place.
