THE CRIMINALS' CLUB.

A second and apparently rather violent epidemic of thievery has broken out in the last week all over the campus. At least three overcoats and a couple of hats have vanished from the hooks in the cloak halls between hours and no clue has as yet been found which could lead to the identification of the culprits.

This is a state of affairs that the University authorities should take in hand at once. It cannot but hurt the good name of our institution and of our student body to have the city press printing news of thefts committed, at least to all appearances, by members of the student body. Such items are evidences of a moral standard that owe their origin. We ask for immediate action in this regard from the standpoints of justice to the students whose property is very evidently in danger, and of the reputation of the University.

needs decided renovation, and by force, if it will not yield to public opinion.

There are two courses open to the executive office to prevent a continuation of the campaign of last week. One of these is to furnish an adequate system of guards, whose care it shall be to watch the cloak-rooms of the various buildings. We realize that this would be next to impossible owing to the expense involved, and so we advocate an alternative course.

This is that the executive office shall direct the members of the faculty, whether their classes are recitations or laboratory periods, to permit and even advise, that all wraps be brought into the class room. If the University will not assume the responsibility of wraps lost in the cloak halls, it should at least, in justice to the students, permit the students to take care of their own property.

A number of laboratories at the present time expressly prohibit the presence of overcoats and hats during working hours, and it is to this fact that at least three of the recent thefts

ENGINEERS LEAD.

Show Greatest Increase in Registration of Any Portion of University.

The engineers lead in the percentage of increased registration since last year. Statistics from the Registrar's office show that the number of students in the Engineering school is fifteen per cent greater than last semester and that this is a greater gain than any other department has made. This increase is due no doubt to the tendency of the age toward things industrial.

Registration for the present semester shows the following distribution of students in the various schools of the University:

	Per Cent.
The College of Literature, Science and the Arts.....	51.0
The Engineering department....	23.1
The Industrial School without the engineers	9.8
The department of Law.....	9.1
The School of Medicine.....	7.0
Total	100.0
