THE ATHLETIC FIELD.

"The Future of Athletics at Nebraska might well be taken as the subject of prolonged discussion in University circles at the present time. And the crux of the whole matter would be found to rest in the solution of the minor problem, "When, how and where, will the next 'Nebraska Field' be built?"

The facts in the case as it now stands have been presented in another column of this issue and nothing more than a resume is necessary in the present instances. Briefly, a building is to be erected on the present football field. Vacation of the gridiron by athletic interests will become necessary at the close of the season of 1907 and no provision has ap-complete new field is one that cannot be completed in two months, nor in half a year. There is ground to be purchased, houses to be disposed of, a deep fill to be made, grandstands to erect, a turf to cultivate, a banked track to construct, and all the details to attend to which inevitably accompany such an undertaking. If work were started early in this coming summer it would not be completed before the new field would be needed by the track team in the spring of 1908.

Speed, then, is the one thing we wish to advocate. We urge it upon the Chancellor in his influence on the Regents. We urge it on the Regents individually and as an executive body; and we urge it upon the students who can be influential if they will in stirring up University opinion.

Especially do we direct our appeal to the Innocents. They form an organization which is professedly, at least, in the forefront of student endeavor and is constantly on the outlook for means by which student interests can be benefitted. Surely if there is a unique student interest in the University it is athletics, and here the Innocents can find a worthy field for their efforts.

We do not pretend to be able to advise these student leaders how they should proceed in keeping the matter of the athletic field prominent in the eyes of the University public until the desirable outcome has been attained, but we have faith that they can do it if they will and we hold it up to them that it is their duty if they would be what they seem.

We believe that the Regents should know exactly what student opinion is, and that they should be requested "respectfully but firmly" to formulate a plan of action at once. In that way, and in that way only, will the success of "The Future of Athletics at Nebraska" be assured.

The Union Society meets tonight.

parently been made by the Regents for the purchase and equipment of a future enclosure for athletics. Removal to the University Farm has been generally voted impracticable and deduction has led to the conclusion that the block of ground immediately adjoining the campus to the north must be procured and cleared of its present tenants.

The problem then reduces itself to the means required for the end in view. Whether the plan presented by Mr. Eager or the one suggested by the Chancellor would accomplish the result desired, we do not profess to be able to decide. What is necessary in that connection is a thoro investigation of the business possibilities involved, and this we cannot undertake. But we do unite with Mr. Eager heartily on the basis of the desirability of action that is as prompt as may be.

However the money for the new field is to be raised, it should be raised AT ONCE. The work of building a

The ice on the steps at the main entrance of University Hall caused the fall of many students yesterday. Most of them were girls with their hands full of books. A little hot water applied to the ice would remove it and probably prevent the breaking of some student's bones.
