SOPHOMORE SOCIAL.

Plans Being Laid for Unusually Pleasant Function.

At a meeting of the recently appointed Sophomore party committee, held yesterday afternoon, various plans were considered and temporarily laid aside. The ingenuity of the members of the committee has been sorely taxed to produce a novel and satisfactory class entertainment and there is a line along which they are working at present which gives promise in developing just what is wanted.

While a definite decision has not as yet been reached, in all probability the party will be given a week from next Friday evening in Memorial Hall. The cost of tickets will be simply sufficient to pay expenses and it is hoped that the majority of the class will see fit to attend. The committee in charge of the affair is composed of the following members: Messrs. Nelson, Dobbs, Coe, Hummel, Misses Fink, Lapp, and Hartley.

Intercollegiate Socialist Society Makes Request for Aid.

The Daily Nebraskan is in receipt of the following card from the Intercollegiate Socialist Society which has for its especial purpose the dissemination of socialistic doctrines and literature among college men of America. The card is self-explanatory and will doubtless accomplish its object unaided.

"The Intercollegiate Socialist Society has just published large editions of "What Life Means to Me," by Upton Sinclair, and "Confessions of a Drone," by Joseph Medill Patterson. These have been selected as especially suited to college students and it is desired that they have as wide a distribution as possible. We also have on hand a limited number of "What Life Means to Me," by Jack London. If you know the names of any who can be depended upon to circulate these pamphlets among college students, please send them at once. Address all communications to the Intercollegiate Socialist Society, 112 East 19th Street, New York City.

ELLIS O. JONES,
Secretary.
