SECOND SEMESTER

SCHOOL RE-OPENED YESTERDAY MORNING.

Attendance at Classes Light—Registration Very Heavy—An Eventful Semester Promised.

School for the second semester opened yesterday morning with a small attendance at classes and a large crowd clamoring at the registrar's office. Several instructors did not attempt to hold their classes and dismissed them as soon as the registration slips had been signed. A large throng kept the registrar and his assistants busy all day. The semester, although the opening was not very auspicious, promises to be very eventful.

The slim attendance at classes was due to the light registration of last week and the inclement weather of yesterday forenoon. Many who did not register last week were busy doing so yesterday, and some who had registered were kept away from school by the heavy snow that fell all forenoon.

This semester will be marked by many events of moment. An important innovation that has been made comes in a change of hours for chapel exercises and the eleven-thirty classes. Hereafter chapel period will run from eleven to eleven-thirty on Tuesdays and Thursdays, and from five to six on Fridays. Eleven-thirty classes will be held only on Tuesday and Thursday. On other days eleven o'clock classes will be held instead of these.

In athletics Nebraska will be very busy this semester. The basketball five has a very heavy schedule. The team will meet Kansas here Saturday and the 14th of the month will start on an extended tour of the east and northeast. The team is one of the strongest in the history of Nebraska basketball. The baseball and track teams have several dates for next spring and the prospects are fine for good representations in these two divisions of sport.

The political bee hive is buzzing. For several weeks candidates for office in all of the four classes have been in the field and this opening week of school will witness the end of two or three warm fights for class leadership. The Senior, Junior, and Freshman classes will hold their elections tomorrow morning at 11:30 o'clock. The candidates hope that all students will "cut" their eleven-thirty classes and attend the meetings.

In the debating world Nebraska also will shine. Two debates are scheduled for April, one with Illinois at Campaign and one with Wisconsin in Lincoln. This is one of the hardest schedules local debaters have had in years and the contests are looked forward to with much interest by the students.

Many new students are registering for work this semester and the attendance will probably be larger than during the first one of the year.

MEETING OF ENGLISH CLUB.

Club is Entertained by Literature and Music.

The meeting of the English Club at the home of Miss Roman last Saturday evening was a veritable feast of literature and music. The literary part of the program consisted of a reading of the first act of an original play entitled "The Chancellor," a production of one of the members. The play proved to be quite a clever piece of work, and held the closest attention of the club.

Mr. Shellhorn furnished splendid music on the piano, while Miss Hullhorst proved very pleasing in her vocal solos.

After the formal part of the program was over a delicious luncheon was served by the hostess, and the meeting adjourned at a late hour.

PHILOSOPHY COURSES.

New Work in Logic and Religion to Be Introduced.

Among the new courses offered in the department of Philosophy the coming semester is one in the Logic of Hegel. The value of Hegel's logic for those who wish to understand the philosophy of science has long been recognized, and this course will give a close, critical study to the subject. A goodly number of students are taking the course.

Another new course in Philosophy is one entitled, "History of Religion Among the Hebrews." This course makes large use of the results of higher criticism in reconstructing the history of the Hebrews during the Old Testament dispensation and exhibits in a genetic manner the development of their religion. The same mode of treatment is applied to the rise and early literature of Christianity.

LIST COMPLETED

STAFF OF THE DAILY NEBRASKAN FULLY ORGANIZED.

Largest Staff in History of the Paper—All the Colleges and Departments Are Well Represented.

The Daily Nebraskan starts the new semester under particularly auspicious circumstances. The Board of Publication deserves especial praise for the leniency exercised in consideration of all plans advocated for enlarging the paper and making it more efficient, and from the present outlook every detail of the paper should be well developed.

Several changes in and additions to the staff have been made. There will now be, instead of a news editorship, an associate editorship, the position of managing editor remaining the same. These positions will be filled by Clyde Elliott and A. E. Long, respectively. There will be this semester also a larger list of general and departmental reporters.

Mr. Elliott is a man of considerable newspaper experience and has taken a great deal of work in the University leading to journalism. Mr. Long, the only a Sophomore, has made considerable of a stir in the English departments and is a member of the English Club. H. W. Craig, who will have charge of the Athletics department, is one well in touch with all the events occurring there, being an all-round athlete himself, and his proficiency in English being evidenced by his membership in the club of that department. The assistant in this department will be Miller Benedict, a popular member of the Sophomore class, and strongly identified with all athletic movements.

The general news department is to be under the supervision of S. P. Dobbs. Mr. Dobbs is an old member of the staff. Besides being prominent in military and class affairs, he has made an excellent record in rhetoric. The assistant here will be Sidney Evans, one of the best reporters on the staff last semester. The exact nature of the department designated as "Reviews" will be explained a little later, but Miss Moore's reputation as a critic will insure the excellence of anything of this sort. Miss Laura Rhoades, who filled the position of Convocation reporter so efficiently during the preceding semester, retains the same place.

News from the Engineering School will come thru W. E. Standeven, who is a Senior and closely affiliated with interests there. A. J. Dunlap reports happenings from the Law School, and C. C. Hickman events from the College of Medicine. The intention is to keep somewhat in touch also with the School at Omaha, Zoological, Botanical and Astronomical departments will be represented by J. C. Elder, the departments of Physics, Chemistry and Geology by Paul R. Butler, and those of History, Education, Sociology, Philosophy, and Economics by Guy Montgomery. Mr. Evans will supplement his work of general nature by reporting from the Mathematics and Language departments. Professors and students will facilitate matters greatly
