THE CLASS OF 1909

SELECTS BUSINESS MANAGER
FOR CORNHUSKER.

Meeting in Memorial Hall Yesterday
Morning—Managing Editor—
Committees Appointed.

Don L. Russell was elected Business Manager of the 1908 Cornhusker and Stuart P. Dobbs was selected as the Managing Editor for the class of 1909 by the sophomores at a meeting held in Memorial Hall at 11:30 yesterday morning. Mr. Russell was elected on the first ballot, receiving 39 votes more than his opponent, Mr. Holland, and Mr. Dobbs was elected by a unanimous vote.

The meeting which resulted in these elections was very interesting and was called to order shortly after 11:30 by President Wildish. The report of the Sophomore Cornhusker committee was made by George Thomas and was accepted by the class. In reporting Mr. Thomas stated that the committee had contracted with the Cornhusker management for $12 worth of space in the 1907 annual for the Sophomore representation and asked the class to appropriate this amount to pay the debt. Acting upon Mr. Thomas' request the class decided by a unanimous vote to hold an informal party in the near future to raise the required money. President Wildish then announced the appointments that are printed below.

Following this business President Wildish placed the name of Yale Holland before the class as the administration candidate for Business Manager of the 1908 Cornhusker. The nomination of Mr. Holland was seconded, but before a vote was taken, however, a resolution was presented by H. H. Wheeler requesting that Don L. Russell be considered as a nominee for the same office. This resolution was adopted by a practically unanimous vote. The voting then took place and resulted in the election of Mr. Russell on the first ballot by the vote of 85 to 46. Upon motion of Mr. Richard Patterson the election of Mr. Russell was made unanimous.

At the close of this election President Wildish presented the names of Stuart P. Dobbs to the class for the office of Managing Editor of the 1908 Cornhusker, and Mr. Dobbs was chosen for the position by a unanimous vote. The meeting then adjourned.

The following appointments were announced by President Wildish:

Social Committee—P. H. Clancy (chairman), G. N. Lamb, Elsie Venters, Ruth Jakway, H. O. Bell, C. A. Thompson, Helen Day, Marie Wirick, J. L. Vallintine, Fern Leet, and F. E. Draper.

Party Committee—W. W. Walsh (chairman), Corinne White, Katherine Doyle, R. L. La Chapelle, G. D. Hetzel, H. H. Wheeler, Ethel Perkins, and R. E. Burkett.

Finance Committee—R. O. Green, A. D. Stancliff, H. C. Fleming, R. A. Cannt, A. M. Candy, and H. L. Fiske.

GYMNASTIC CONTEST.

The Chicago Team to Be Chosen This Evening.

The second gymnastic contest of the year will take place this evening at 8:15 in the Gymnasium. This contest is not to be confounded with the big athletic exhibition to be given next Saturday night. However, certain "stunts" by the gymnastic team to be chosen tonight will be one of the leading features on the program for that exhibition.

The scores from the first contest are as follows: Johnson, 241; Klesselbach, 222; Patterson, 221; Carson, 209.5; Mitchell, 209.5; Dawson, 199.

The events to be run off at this contest will be: (1) Side of German Horse, (2) Flying Ring, (3) Tumbling.

The man making the largest number of points in this contest and the first one held last month is awarded an "N."

The money cleared from the exhibition will be used to send the gymnastic team to Chicago for the big contest to be held there in April. Johnson and Copeland, two years ago, succeeded in landing second place for Nebraska. The team this year is exceptionally strong, especially with the presence of Johnson, who is probably a fifty per cent better gymnast than he was two years ago. With such good prospects for winning the Chicago contest, there ought to be a great crowd out Saturday night, not only to support the team but to see the largest exhibition ever given at Nebraska.

Special Convocation.

A special Convocation will be held at 12 o'clock to-day for the Glee Club. Good music will be furnished. Everybody is requested to be out.

Annual Program.

The Annual Concerto Program by the pupils of Mr. Eames will be given in Memorial Hall Thursday evening. Everybody is invited to attend.

Dean E. W. Davis goes to Chicago March 30, to deliver a paper before the American Mathematical Society on "Imaginary Intersections."

"FRAT" BASEBALL.

Preparatory Arrangements for Games Begun.

Representatives of the various fraternities met yesterday and laid plans for the annual inter-fraternity baseball games. After electing Dale Perrin chairman and Will Hoar, secretary of the meeting the "frat" men decided to have 16th street the dividing line for the east and west side nines. All fraternities located east of 16th street will be on the "East Side" division and all west will be on the "West Side" division.

The following committees were appointed by the chairman to prepare for the games:

Rules Committee—W. Mills, H. Bell, Hetzel, and Matters.

Schedule Committee—Hall March, Gannt, Cramb and Cambell.

The schedule of games will be announced within a few days.

DRIVING CLOCK.

Being Designed by Astronomy Department for Big Telescope.

Professor Swezey is working out the designs for the driving clock of the new telescope. While modeling it after that of the Washburn telescope, it has seemed best to modify it somewhat since it appears from correspondence with several observatories that even the best driving clocks occasionally give trouble, especially during cold weather, from not running uniformly enough. Accordingly our clock will be built somewhat larger and more powerful than is usual for a twelve-inch telescope. It may seem best also to design an electrical control by which the driving clock of the telescope may be connected with and controlled by the standard clock of the observatory so as to insure more uniform rates.

Professor Swezey, formerly of Lick Observatory, and Professor Ritchey of the new Solar Observatory of southern California, both of whom have had experience in designing driving clocks for some of the larger instruments of those observatories.

TEACHING IDEALS

ATTACK MADE UPON PRESENT-DAY EDUCATORS.

E. H. Carpenter Says They Are Specialists, Not Teachers; That They Think Only of Third "Ism."

Twenty-five years ago Mark Hopkins, Thomas Arnold, Louis Agassiz, James McCosh were prominent not only as teachers, but as men of influence and power. They are remembered by their students not simply for what they taught, but for what they were. Have we their like today? Allen Harmon Carpenter, writing in the Bookman, inclines to the opinion that we have not. Some one has said that a college might be made out of a log, with a student on one end and Mark Hopkins on the other. That is, the power of Mark Hopkins lay not in specialized training nor elaborate equipment, but in a sympathetic and inspiring personality brought into close touch with the student. That vital and inspiring relationship between instructor and student is what we most lack today. "Specialization is the demand of the hour," and there is an increasing tendency in the universities of the country to employ men who, because of purely professional standing, or the importance of their research work, may reflect renown upon the institution. It sometimes happens that such men are not gifted as teachers, and can neither arouse the interest nor command the respect of their students. More often the professor is so deeply engrossed in research work along his special line that he has no thought for the student outside of the classroom.

"Can we say that there is no larger need of character building upon the part of our professors?" "If one would upbuild character he must have sympathy," he must be interested in something besides his individual "ism." The teacher of the future, if he would stand in the same class with the great teachers of the past, must have not only the minute and specialized knowledge which the needs of the present demand, but "a sympathy which is deep enough to comprehend the difficulties of the dull student * * * culture pure enough to enrich the life of the collegian * * * and a character noble and strong enough to inspire lofty ambitions."

Freshmen Won.

The notice in the Daily Nebraskan yesterday to the effect that the Freshman basket-ball team lost a game to the Y. M. C. A. Meteors Saturday night was a little erroneous. No game took place between the teams Saturday. The contest was played Wednesday night, however, and was won by the Freshmen by the score of 38 to 32.

Easter Program.

An Easter program is being prepared by the University Choral Society for the Convocation period next Tuesday. There will be a variety of music including-cornet solos. Professor Charles Miller will be one of those to take part.
