FINIS.

At any rate, it is finally settled. People who have been kept in breathless suspense for the last few weeks over the possible outcome of the strife between the editor of the Cornhusker and the Law School may now take a full inhalation once more and with either sadder or lighter hearts come back to the world of certainties. The matter is settled; there will be no representation of the Law School in the first Cornhusker issued by the University, but a separate Law Book.

The Nebraskan has advocated compromise and has not been alone in brought about. In a compromise is involved the surrender of some demand or part of a demand by both sides. But the Law leaders are frank enough to say that they do not want a compromise at all.

That kind of admission is admirable in its way, but what it conveys is not. It is not the intention to make any wholesale condemnation here, but simply to point out one significant fact. There are those in the Law School who maintain that the position of those calling for a compromise is right, but if there is a faction among the Academics sustaining the action of the Law leaders who will allow no step toward arbitration, if there is such a faction, it has never spoken in an audible voice. Does this indicate anything of the general unprejudiced judgment on the matter?

However, the affair is settled; presumably it is buried. May it be so deeply entombed that even its ghost can not escape to prow about next year and work further disruption!

W. B. Snow Will Speak.

Monday, April 15th, at 11 o'clock, Mr. Walter B. Snow will give an illustrated lecture to the engineering students in Memorial Hall. His subject will be "The Development of a Manufacturing Plant" and should interest every engineer in the University. Mr. Snow, who is chief engineer of the B. F. Sturdevant Company, of Boston, is a pleasing speaker and an author of note on engineering subjects. Arrangements will be made to have all engineers excused from their 11 o'clock classes to attend the lecture. The public is cordially invited.

Orchestra Concert.

The orchestra of the East Lincoln Christian church, which was organized the first of the year under the direction of Lewis M Horn, will give their first concert in Palladian Hall, Friday evening, April 12.

Madam Yates' Preparations . . .

We have just lately put in stock a line of these goods, and we are exclusive agents for Lincoln. Almost every woman has heard of "Madam Yale" and her famous preparations. They are on sale in our toilet goods department. All who visit this department will receive a copy of her book, "The Science of Health and Beauty."

MILLER & PAINE

Students wanting profitable employment during summer vacation call at 245 Windsor this week.

The Juniors defeated the Seniors yesterday by a score of 18 to 7 in a slow, rough game of basket-ball.

Professor Grumman is in receipt of a pamphlet giving the address made here March 22, by Ralph W. Breckenridge, on "The Spirit of American History."

Mr. Sarnest R. Holmes, botany '96, is now traveling with a party of tourists in Ceylon. He recently sent Dr. Bessey a number of photographs showing the vegetation of that island.

The department of Geology is unpacking and placing in the new cases the Charles Newton Gould collection of Miocene shells and corals. There are in the neighborhood of a thousand specimens in the collection. Some of the shells are very delicately lined and colored. Dr. Gould will be remembered as having received his Ph. D. here in 1905. He is now a professor in the Oklahoma University.

so doing. Academics and a certain number of the Laws themselves have urged the same action, but no compromise is to be effected because the majority of the legal men are against it. The leaders of this majority declare there are no grounds upon which to arbitrate; they demand one thing, nothing less will be considered. When propositions which seemed to be fair enough compromises to some people were offered, these leaders declared they were not to be considered because not really vital, not really giving the Laws any concessions. In other words, these proposed compromises did not give them what they wanted,—one certain thing.

It looks to most people as if this were an attitude not conducive to the settlement of the controversy, as if, indeed, this were the very reason why it can not be settled. When either one or the other side of the two factions refuses to stir one point from its position, it is not likely peace will be

The program will consist of a number of orchestra selections and solos by members of the orchestra.

Election of officers for the new term will take place after the program. All are cordially invited.

Series of Lectures.

Most students are not aware of the fact that a special series of lectures has been arranged for Friday afternoon Convocations. The series running now is on American statesmen, and the lecture this afternoon is on "Daniel Webster" by Professor Daniel Ford.

Juniors!

All Juniors will please pay promptly the assessment of twenty-five cents each to one of the following committee for the Junior-Senior Reception: Laura Rhoades, Jessie Cook, Abbie Stewart, Esther Wood, Nellie Ludden, Harold Bergquist, Harry Hinman, Arthur Jorgenson, C. C. McElroy, David Simms.

Suits Ready for Service as Good as You Want

These days men are not content with carelessly fitted clothes—they want the best in style and fit there is to be had. No matter what make you have been wearing, don't rest satisfied until you have tried on a "Kensington." There is more style and service in a "Kensington" Suit than you ever dreamed could be. Try one and you'll say so, too.
