THE RELIEF BUSINESS.

A few,—not very many,—will take occasion to register a "knock" against the work undertaken by the Nebraskan in raising money for the China famine fund. "What has such a matter in common with University affairs and life?" it may be asked by a few. The answer is obvious. If we in getting educated, are so completely apart from the world as to be out of touch with what is occurring in it, there is something wrong about our education. Students ought to possess as broad sympathies as anybody.

But the mot of the people at the Uni-

Graduation Recital.

Miss Essie Bell, of the University School of Music, pupil of Mr. Kimball, will give an organ recital for graduation next Thursday evening, April 18, in Memorial Hall. This program is unusual owing to the fact that few students take their major work on the organ. The public is cordially invited.

The program follows:

- Bach—Toccatto, D minor.
- Buck—Sonata, No. 2.
- Allegro ma non energico.
- Adagio molto espressivo.
- Allegro vivace non troppo.
- Brewer—Autumn Sketch.
- Essie Bell—Two Studies, In Canon; March Fantasia.
- Nevin—Slumber Song.
- Gullmant—March Funebre et Chant Seraphique.
- Hollins—Concert Overture, C minor.

The management of the '05 Gopher, the senior souvenir publication at Minnesota, is in trouble because of a debt of $1,006.02 which was incurred. Judgment has been served against 27 members of the class whom the court could reach and a writ of summons has been issued to each. These people refuse to pay, alleging that it is unjust to hold them liable for the entire debt. They claim it is a partnership affair, which makes each member of the class responsible for the entire debt. The court is not satisfied by this explanation and threatens to confiscate, if necessary, property of these members to the full amount of the liabilities.

Trainer Murphy, of Pennsylvania, has stated his desire to send a track team representing the University to the London-Paris Exposition, to be held in England in 1908. Pennsylvania athletes have competed before as individuals, but the University has never sent a representative team to a foreign meet.

versity of Nebraska are willing to recognize the opportunities here offered as something unusual and it is felt that the movement will receive the heartiest support. It is no exceptionally good or religious act to give money to people who are starving to death; it is simply a humanitarian act. Further, to appeal to students and professors especially, since in this way China will likely be opened up to a closer touch with the rest of the world than she has ever known before. Some big movements of history are working just at the present time. There should be a peculiar satisfaction in taking part in and helping to shape them.

When one dollar is enough to intervene between a man and certain death, it is believed nobody with the dollar is going to be very careful to save it. Contributions will be received at the Nebraskan office from 2 till 6 p. m. Let them come!
