HIGH SCHOOL MEET

STATE ATHLETES WILL CONTEST
HERE MAY 17.

Expenses of Athletes Will Be Guaranteed—Many Special Inducements—Silver and Bronze Medals.

Dr. Clapp and Secretary H. M. Garrett of the Nebraska Interscholastic Athletic Association have just issued the announcements concerning the State Interscholastic Meet which is to be held in connection with the High School Fete Day at the University on May 17. Expenses for a certain number of contestants have been guaranteed and it is expected that this meet will be the best held at the University.

The Association is offering special inducements to contestants this year, the same as last year. Winners of first places will be given silver medals, winners of second places bronze medals, while third place men will receive the usual badge. The winning relay team will be given a handsome pennant. Besides these there is the Herpolsheimer silk banner which goes to the winning team and becomes the property of the school winning three times in succession.

After deducting $50 for medals and $10 for incidental expenses, of the N. I. A. A. for the ensuing year, the total receipts will be prorated according to distance and number of men on teams, as heretofore, except as provided in the following action, taken by the Board of Control at its last meeting, held February 2, 1907: "That the money from gate receipts after the expenses for medals and incidentals are deducted, shall be prorated to the teams from the different schools, as follows: All schools less than 100 miles from Lincoln, on the number of men up to the limit placed by the constitution (10) and according to distance traveled; schools from 100 to 150 miles on one-half the number; and over 150 miles on one-fifth the number, placed by the constitution and according to distance traveled."

Each team on arriving at the University, prior to the meet, must file with the secretary or Dr. Clapp a certified list of those who will participate in the meet, together with the distance traveled. This will be necessary in order to secure expense money at the close of the meet.

No individual entrance fee is required. Schools contesting are expected to join the Interscholastic Athletic Association and pay the membership fee of fifty cents a year. All schools wishing to participate must be enrolled by Wednesday, May 8. Enrollment fees are to be sent to H. M. Garrett, secretary of the Board of Control, Beatrice, Nebraska.

All entries of contestants are to be sent to Dr. R. G. Clapp, University of Nebraska, Lincoln, by Saturday.

The Y. M. C. A. cabinet will meet on Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock, at which time the various committees for the coming year will be appointed.

Why Don't YOU Get in on The Relief Fund?

MOVING IS SLOW.

Museum Exhibits Gradually Getting Into Quarters.

The work of moving the contents of the Museum to its new quarters is progressing steadily, but of necessity somewhat slowly. Many of the exhibits are of such a delicate character that the utmost care must be taken in moving them. Some of the most valuable bone fossils, in their brittle condition, are held together only by patches of cement, and might consequently be easily broken. Professor Barbour, however, has been helping and overseeing in the work, and so far there has been comparatively little breakage.

Four carloads of new cases are being placed in the Museum, the few old cases that will be used being placed on the upper floor. The new cases are of polished oak, and match perfectly with the inside woodwork of the building. Owing to a strike in the manufacturing plant, the arrival of the cases was somewhat delayed, but most of them are here now.

USES OF TEMPTATION.

Dr. J. Beveridge Lee Tells of Them at Convocation.

There are three departments of human growth and education, according to Dr. J. Beveridge Lee, who spoke at Convocation yesterday on the subject of the "Moral Values of Temptation," and by these a man comes to his highest development. The process that brings it about is "pressure." Pressure put on the body in the form of exercise develops man physically; pressure placed on the mind and intellect in study develops man mentally; and pressure on his morals in the form of temptations develops him in character. We are one sided in having one and not the others, since only in this trinity do we come to complete manhood and womanhood.

Temptation meets everybody because man has a moral nature, and he must think, grow and live. Man is not tempted because he is weak and bad, but because being good and strong, there is room for a test to make him better. Temptation is far from being a sign of weakness. Tenyson has set a value upon it in his "Idylls of the King," where knights go forth for moral conflicts and strive to prove themselves moral victors.

The first value of temptation is that it reveals man to himself. The old and experienced know the values of living and what dangers are. But young people often stand foolishly awaiting for temptation, as Samson

LAWYERS, GET MARRIED.

This and Other Equally Good Advice From Professor.

"Young lawyers should get married as early in life as possible and not sacrifice their social duties to their professional ambitions. A dependent wife and family of one, two, three, or more children brings out the best there is in a man." This was the advice given by Professor Frank L. Sage in a speech at Chicago recently. Continuing, he said:

"The golden rule is not yet too old to have lost its force for the lawyer. Be honest, not because it is the best policy, but because it is right. Be honest with your client. Discourage litigation. But when you must fight, do not take advantage of a helpless client. Be honest with the court. The judge cannot know all the law. Every lawyer should strive toward a reputation before the bench for sincerity.

"Finally, be honest with yourself. It is not necessarily the brilliant man who wins out in a case, but the man who works. Hard work is indispensable to a lawyer's success. To that end disregard the question of salary when starting out. Get into a good office where you can act as clerk and where your desk will always be piled high with work. In that capacity you can learn more in two months than in your own office in two years."

Great Doings!

Fun alive for University girls, Saturday, April 27, at 2 o'clock!

"A Trip to the Rocky Mountains" (not literally, but figuratively speaking). Conveyances of every description, band-wagons, carriages, hay-racks, automobiles, transfer-wagons, furnished by transfer companies and liveries of Lincoln! Some horses and burroughs will add to the beauty of the procession and will serve to carry the Rocky Mountain seekers safely(?) to Mrs. W. J. Bryan's. If anyone has a conveyance of any description that they would like in this procession, kindly leave word in the Y. W. C. A. rooms. Don't forget the date and hour, Saturday, April 27, 2 p. m.

Physical Education.

Announcement is made that swimming classes will be conducted regularly from now on at the Y. M. C. A. pool. The schedule for course 14 will be as follows:

The 9 o'clock division will meet at the pool Monday and Friday at the usual time; the 11:30 division on Monday and Wednesday; the 3 o'clock division on Wednesday and Friday.

The men in course 16 will meet as follows: Those in the 9 o'clock division will go to the pool on Tuesday and Thursday at its regular time of meeting. The 3 o'clock division will do the same.

PRESIDENT TALKS

SPEAKS BEFORE THE MEN OF HARVARD UNIVERSITY.

Tells Them Where They Belong in Politics—Declares Education an Addition, Not a Substitute.

You here when you graduate will take up many different kinds of work, but there is one work in which all of you should take part simply as good American citizens, and that is the work of self-government. Remember, in the first place, that to take part in the work of government does not in the least mean of necessity to hold office. It means to take an intelligent disinterested and practical part in the everyday duties of the average citizen.

In a republic like ours, the governing class is composed of the strong men who take the trouble to do the work of the government; and if you are too timid or too fastidious or too careless to do your part in this work, then you forfeit your right to be considered one of the governing, and you become one of the governed instead—one of the driven cattle of the political arena. I want you to feel that it is not merely your right to take part in politics, not merely your duty to the State, but that it is demanded by your own self-respect, unless you are content to acknowledge that you are unfit to govern yourself and have to submit to the rule of somebody else as a monster—and this is what it means if you do not do your part in government.

There are very few things less desirable than the arid cultivation, the learning and refinement which lead merely to that intellectual conceit which makes a man in a democratic community like ours hold himself aloof from his fellows and pride himself upon the weakness which he mistakes for supercilious strength.

Your education, your cultivation, will not help you if you make the mistake of thinking that it is a substitute for, instead of an addition to those qualities which in the struggle of life bring success to the ordinary man without your advantages.

In short, you college men, be doers, rather than critics of the deeds that others do. Stand stoutly for your ideals, but keep in mind that they can only be realized, even partially, by practical methods of achievement.

The college man, the man of intellect and training, should take the lead in every fight for civic and social righteousness. He can take that lead only if in a spirit of thoroughgoing democracy, he takes his place among his fellows,—as an American among Americans, as a man among men.
