Entered at the postoffice at Lincoln, Nebraska, as second-class mail matter under the Act of Congress of March 3, 1879.

Since the cadets have been refused the privilege of keeping their uniforms in the Armory lockers any longer, and since the Gymnasium locker room is closed at 5:30 every evening, there has gone up a general cry for suitable accommodations in this direction. The Y. M. C. A. has been furnishing small lockers to the men, but quite too small for clothing. There is an urgent demand for large lockers and it is up to the University authorities to supply them.

Further, the small lockers now rented out in the Association rooms will assuredly not be transferred to the

It was hardly necessary to say anything about the famine fund, but now that its growth seems to be getting well under way, the temptation comes the more strongly. In order to get yourself into a mood sympathetic with this movement, suppose you go without one or two meals, or not going that far, suppose you think of the possibility of there being no dinner ahead of you as the noon hour approaches. It is not very difficult to imagine something of the suffering undergone by the person who has "dispensed" with several dinners and lunches and so forth, but when it comes to realizing upon the condition of the wretch at the very point of death for lack of sufficient nourishment, we are simply beyond our depth. If every student in the University were to give a quarter, even, the fund would take a leap up to something like proportions in no long time. How big can it be made before Tuesday morning?

Norman Hackett, who lectured at Nebraska last fall, recently gave the same address before Syracuse students. The Daily Orange comments as follows: Norman Hackett, who takes the part of Master Ford in "The Merry Wives of Windsor," spoke to the students in Liberal Arts chapel yesterday morning, giving one of the best addresses ever heard in that building. The chapel was crowded to the doors and the frequent applause of those present testified to their high enjoyment of the speaker's words.

new quarters in the Temple. There is an imminent possibility of a great demand in this direction next year. It is a matter that should be taken up at once.

Probably one or several rooms could be secured for this purpose, tho the latter plan would prove very much more convenient.

If the University invests in lockers at all, it seems only expedient that really good sized steel compartments should be considered. With the increase of the number in the battalion and the decrease of locker room next fall, the want will be severely felt.

There is no question as to the patronage which would come.

A change has been made in the Athletic Board line-up of candidates. E. C. Zimmerer will take the place of Yale Holland on the ticket. Both men are members of the Sigma Chi fraternity.
