This afternoon on the athletic field at 3 o'clock will occur the regular annual home meet for the track team. Owing to the inclemency of the weather the work of the team has been considerably hindered, but it is thought that several good records will, nevertheless, be made. This will be the only appearance of the University athletes at home and this fact should be conducive to loyal support of the performance.

A large number of men have entered the various events. These are distributed as follows:

220 yard dash—Burruss, McDonald, Perry, Coe, Hughes, Yates, Burk, Craig.

MORE "DOINGS."

For the Third Time Classes Clash
Over Headgear.

"To wear, or not to wear (hats)" is still a perplexing problem to the Freshmen as was shown in another disturbance caused by the appearance of a Freshman hat on the campus at 11 o'clock yesterday. The combat did not continue as long as the one a week ago, but this was due to the fact that never after the beginning of the melee did any sophomore know where to look for the offending hat, it being safely stowed away in the boot of some first-year man.

The skirmish was practically over when Dean E. W. Davis appeared on the field and endeavored to stop what was still going on, thus making himself at once the center of attraction. As the excited crowd gathered about him, eagerly clamoring for a speech, he made several attempts to admonish the crowd, but failing to make himself heard, withdrew, after which the combatants dispersed of their own accord.

Y. W. EXPEDITION.

All girls expecting to go with the party to Mrs. W. J. Bryan's home tomorrow afternoon are urged to be at the University campus promptly at 2 o'clock—and looking their prettiest. There will be no costuming except by those who may have especial part in the program. Nevertheless, there will be plenty of fun, the genuine article. Any one inclined to question the veracity of this statement need only attend the function and "find out."

The University Medical Society will be entertained by the State Medical Society Saturday evening at 8 p. m. at Fraternity Hall. A lecture will be delivered on "Society and Health" by Dr. J. M. MacCormack. All Medics are invited.

G. M. Peters, '03, a graduate of the Harvard Law School '06, has located in Chicago.

SEVERE ACCIDENT.

Explosion in Chemistry Laboratory
Injures Three.

Yesterday afternoon while dissolving some solid potassium hydrate in the laboratory of the Analytic Chemistry department, G. L. Pitchford and those about him at the time he was working the experiment narrowly escaped serious injury as a result of an explosion. Several people's eyes were filled with the chemical and it was feared for a time that some might have suffered the loss of sight. Others suffering were Luther Knight, H. D. Young and Miss Fossler, the instructor.

The attention of those working in the laboratory at the time was attracted by a jet of white liquid rising to the ceiling from the vial over which Mr. Pitchford was working, and the next moment a rather violent explosion occurred, scattering the hydrate over the whole north end of the room. The faces of those near the bursting flask were covered with the material and considerable of it got into their eyes, Miss Fossler and Mr. Pitchford suffering particularly in this respect. Mr. Knight suffered from the bit of glass that lodged in his eye, while Mr. Young, having the presence of mind to throw his face forward, merely had his hair filled with the chemical. Oil was applied to the burnt faces of those injured at the direction of Dr. Avery, who had come in at hearing the commotion, and a doctor was summoned. The sufferers were soon relieved. At last report it was stated that none would realize any serious effects of the experience, since the hydrate did not burn deeply into their eyes. Miss Fossler suffered the most severely in this respect.

The cause of the explosion was not due to the nature of the chemical, but to the fact that not sufficient outlet was allowed for the escape of the steam inside the flask. The contents of the vial became superheated and burst out simply for this reason.
