Entered at the postoffice at Lincoln, Nebraska, as second-class mail matter under the Act of Congress of March 3, 1879.

Today and tomorrow will come two most excellent opportunities for testing University spirit relative to spring athletics. As has been remarked before, the degree of enthusiasm over spring sports at Nebraska has never been a matter for congratulation. Small crowds have attended the meets and games, little interest has been manifested in the outcome of the contests, and often the teams have had very little save their own enthusiasm to urge them on.

Today come the tryouts for preliminary to the choosing of the athletic team which goes to meet Ames a week

It is to be sincerely hoped that the Freshman and Sophomore classes are not getting to look upon each other as natural enemies, into whom "hooks" are to be inserted at the least provocation. It's all right, of course, to have one or two scraps in good humor and without damaging any body or any property, for children must have some mode of letting off surplus energy, but this matter of getting up a schedule of scraps to be pulled off every day or so is to be looked at differently. That sort of thing gets old very soon; it is very doubtful that good spirit can be maintained in such a case. Scraps should at least be so infrequent that they are something of a novelty.

Eggs.

Nebraska's little class troubles must be considered decidedly tame and humane when compared with the "unpleasantnesses" of class conflicts at the Minnesota University. The following clipped from the Minnesota Daily will illustrate:

"Aged eggs, clippers and handcuffs were the chief implements used by the Sophomores in their attempt to break up the Freshman party at the Roosevelt Club Thursday night.

Two members of the Freshman class were forcibly torn away from their partners and hurried to Central Park in an automobile, where they were given a free hair cut.

Eggs were the chief missiles of war during the party and several Freshmen had their clothes ruined."

"Good Government Club."

A "Good Government Club" has been organized at the University of Kansas for the purpose of making a study of practical politics. This is a branch of the national organization of that name, in which eighteen of the eastern schools are already pledged. The members are pledged to secrecy, in order that the great political leaders may confidentially give them suggesfrom tomorrow. If the weather is clear and warm to any degree, here will without question be some very exciting contests. The competition in certain of the events is sure to be very close and records are to be made unsteady; some old ones may totter. What should give added interest to the occasion is the fact that the team in all succeeding meets will be away from home, at least such is the indication of the schedule at present.

Tomorrow the baseball aggregation meets that of Missouri University. That students are not indifferent to the game is evidenced by their attendance upon league games. University baseball should be a great deal more interesting because much more representative and much "nearer home."
