THEY ARE "SHOWN"

MISSOURI BASEBALL TEAM THE PREY OF CORNHUSKERS.

Nebraska Wins Fast Game by Score of 6 to 2—Baseball Sweaters Here—the Alumni Game Tomorrow.

The Cornhusker baseball team played in old-time style last Saturday, trimming the Missourians to the tune of 6-2. The game was a very pleasant surprise to the supporters of the Scarlet and Cream for the team played much better than it has at any time this season. It showed an ability to come up to the scratch in the tight places of the game that argues well for the fortunes of the team as a winning combination.

The game was interesting thruout. Missouri took the lead at the second and third innings, but in the last half of the third the Cornhuskers started a batting rally which landed them in the lead and they maintained this for the rest of the game. Dudgeon was the first man up and with two strikes against him hit a single to right. Ward was hit by the pitcher and Sleuter made first on a slow grounder to third. Beltzer followed with a nice single which scored Dudgeon and Ward and a moment later Sleuter crossed the plate on Salisbury's wild pitch.

In the seventh the Cornhuskers repeated the performance, making three more runs, this placing the score 6-2 in their favor. No more scoring was done during the game.

Ward pitched a good game altho he was a little wild at times. Salisbury, the Missouri pitcher, was very effective at first but weakened at critical times and failed to hold his opponents. The fielding on both sides was good, Nebraska being charged with two and Missouri with only one error. Nebraska evidenced unexpected strength in batting, Sleuter and Rine each getting three hits, Beltzer two, and Carroll, and Dudgeon each one.

Beltzer had his ankle badly twisted in an attempted slide to the home plate. It is hoped that he will be able to accompany the team on their trip, as his absence would seriously weaken the chances for a good record.

The baseball sweaters for this year's team have arrived and will soon be distributed. They are of the same style as the football sweaters of last fall and in color are cream with scarlet trimmings. Manager Eager is to be commended for his enterprise in securing the sweaters before the team starts on its trip. It will put up a much better appearance as a team and the men will get much more satisfaction out of their "trimmings."

Tomorrow the team will play a game on Nebraska field with an alumni team composed of some of Nebraska's old-time stars. The time of the game will be 3:30 p. m., admission twenty-five cents, ladies free. The line-up of the team will be: Beltzer, pitcher; Hyde, catcher; "Ike" Raymond first base; "Dude" Hammel, second; Clarence Moore, shortstop; Earl Gaddis, third; Mickle, right

HIGHLY ENTERTAINED.

Phi Alpha Taus Are Given a Dinner by J. H. Miller.

The Phi Alpha Taus were entertained at dinner by Mr. John H. Miller at his home on C street last Saturday evening. Nearly all of those invited were present. In addition to the active members, Dr. Pound, Professor Fogg and Professor Caldwell were invited, the first two of whom were present and favored the company with brisk, witty speeches.

After the sumptuous dinner was served, five very appropriate toasts were given in the following order: "What We Didn't and Why," by Alva C. Hough; "What We Did and How," by Albert M. Levy; "What They Did and Where," by Byron E. Yoder; "What We'll Do and When," by William R. Forney; "Why, How, Where, and When," by John O. Wentworth. A goodly amount of wit, humor and common sense characterized all of these toasts and the company showed their appreciation by repeated applause.

All those who were present speak very highly of the admirable manner in which they were entertained thruout the entire evening.

Off for Fairview.

About three hundred University girls, in their various unnameable conveyances, made the trip to Mrs. Bryan's home last Saturday afternoon. The alignment of vehicles that formed at the starting consisted of first-class carriages, grass mowers, and every known conveyance that lies between these extremes.

The amusement at the Bryan home consisted of singing, speech-making and general "cutting up." The young ladies returned to Lincoln after 6 o'clock p. m. and report the greatest afternoon's outing they have ever known.

Mrs. Ida Pace Purdue, national grand president of Chi Omega is visiting the local chapter this week.

BOARD ELECTION MAY 8.

Candidates for Athletic Board Will Post Petitions at Once.

The Athletic Board election will take place May 8, a week from tomorrow. According to the constitution of the board all candidates must file a petition before May 1 announcing their desire to be candidates and intention to be inschool the following year. This petition must be signed by twenty students. Duplicates of this petition must be posted in the hall of the Main building and in the Gymnasium. All candidates should attend to this at once.

TARGET PRACTICE.

Cadets Make Good Marks With the Winchester.

During the past six weeks the University cadets have been given an abundance of target practice in the basement of the Aomory with a 22 calibre Winchester musket. The range is fifty feet, and the number of possible points to be made is twenty-five. Each man is allowed but five shots, making five bulls-eyes necessary in order to attain a record of twenty-five points. Tho not one has so far reached the twenty-five record, a great many remarkably good marks have been made. Some of the best records were those of A. G. McNeel, 24; C. J. Frankforter, 24; D. A. Keubler, 23; O. L. Phillips, 23; R. L. Williams, 23.

This target practice is a feature that was not introduced last year, and is greatly appreciated by the men. Those drilling last year were greatly disappointed at not being given any target practice during the year, especially at camp, where they had expected gun practice at long range. The men will soon be given blank cartridges for firing practice with the new guns, and will probably be given some further target work at camp.

J. A. Clark, Law '06, was a campus visitor yesterday, he was also doing some work at the state library.

PRICE REDUCED

COST OF 1907 CORNHUSKER $1.75
INSTEAD OF $2.00.

Book Will Be Placed on Sale May 13—
Orders Being Taken Now—
Prize Contests

The price of the 1907 Cornhusker has been reduced from $2.00 to $1.75 and orders for the book are now being taken at the latter price. The reduction of the price of the annual will be continued until the book is placed on sale May 13, when the price will be raised to $2.00 again. Everybody who buys a Cornhusker after that date will pay $2.00 for the book.

Many students are "signing up" for this year's Cornhusker and the advance sale of the book promises to be a record breaker. Over 500 orders for the book had been received at the editorial rooms before yesterday noon and several were added during the afternoon so that the total number of books ordered up to the present time is nearly 600. A "Prize Contest" has been inaguarated among the Senior and Junior members of the Cornhusker staff in order to sell out the entire edition of the book before it leaves the printers on May 13. The class representatives who win the "Prize Contest" will each receive an extra copy of the 1907 Cornhusker.

Editor Meyers announced yesterday morning that the printers will have the Cornhusker ready May 13 and that books will be given to subscribers on that date. The Cornhusker will be printed by Saturday of this week and will then be taken to the bindery where the last work on this year's annual will be done.

Acacia Smoker.

Professor Geo. D. Ayers entertained the members of the Acacia fraternity and the Masonic students at his home, 116 Twenty-ninth, Saturday evening. The house was nicely decorated for the occasion and light refreshments were served. The following members responded to toasts: Professors Chaturbn Barbour, Maxey and John Westover, D. I. Pope and Earl E. White.
