WHY?

An article appeared in the Nebraskan the other day charging a certain clique in this institution with practices and habits absolutely immoral and condemnable. Not a word has been said in defense of members of this organization, not a man has put in his appearance to contradict the statements made or to see that his reputation was not being maligned. Why is this?

Before this, other departments and organizations have been "touched" and instantaneous response resulted. Those feeling the attack were not slow ganization which conducts itself in such a manner has something about it of which it is ashamed. Why else is there such secrecy?

Theta Nu Epsilon in failing to defend itself, in lying down and submitting to a "drubbing" like some slinking contaminated cur does just this. It acknowledges the truth of all that has been said about it. If it fails to challenge an attack upon it, there is nothing to defend. Why should we want this sort of a shame-faced, huntshleter: order at the University? It is time something be done.

The Triangular Debating League, composed of Amherst, Wesleyan, and Williams will hold its first annual debate December 7. One debate will be held at each college; Amherst-Williams at Amherst; Amherst-Wesleyan at Middleton; Wesleyan-Williams at Williamstown. The question is "Resolved, That the policy, embodied in the pending treaty between San Domingo and the United States is a desirable departure in American diplomacy."

On May 14 Bowdoin will meet Cornell in debate at Brunswick. The question will be, "Resolved, That the solution of the street railway problem lies in private ownership." Bowdoin will debate the affirmative.

A two-year agreement has been signed by the Bowdoin council for two debates with Syracuse University. The first will take place at Syracuse, March 31.

A negro lately won the highest honor in debate at Harvard, while a full-blooded chinamen recently carried off debating honors at Columbia University.

The Engineering Society recently elected to membership C. G. Allenbach and William Kiewitt.

When Buying Glasses

Remember that this is an article that depends on the quality rather than the quantity for its value. Don't hesitate at a few cents extra cost in the price. It's these few cents that insure the quality of the glasses. You need the best and should have it.

in making themselves heard in most decided terms. Why? Because they felt themselves in the right. They felt they had a cause that suffered an injustice when criticized. Those willing to stand up and "publicly defend their course are giving good evidence of their sincerity. At least they feel there is something about their conduct on which to base their "appeal for justice." No such an appeal has been heard this time. Why not?

On the other hand, men have expressed themselves well satisfied that such an organization be attacked. Some have declared Theta Nu Epsilon the very center of all immoral influences at the University, and these were well qualified to speak; they spoke authoritatively. This bit of information has been gained too: T. N. E. may have a member in a certain fraternity for a year or more before that fraternity becomes aware of the fact. Again it is affirmed that an or-
