bered, was suspended temporarily last March in order to allow the delinquent men of the Glee Club to participate in the concerts here and at Omaha. It has now been reaffirmed to make sure against the possibility of the supposition on the part of any that the rule was suspended permanently.

While a few have been heard to object to the latter rule, there is unquestionably a complete sympathy with it on the part of the substantial part of the student body. The University of Nebraska is not hard up for students and furthermore, it is felt by the majority of people that the standard should be worth pointing up to.

Against Caps and Gowns.

The Senior law students at Minnesota have protested against wearing caps and gowns at graduation. This conventional attire, they say, is effeminate and not becoming to men. President Northrup of the university, says that he does not disapprove of the action and that the only students who really get their money's worth out of the garments are the girls of the Academic department.

Faculty to Control.

The financial administration of athletics at the University of Wisconsin has been placed under the direct control of the faculty, approved by the Board of Regents. This has been decided by the executive committee of the Board of Regents, in a rule which reads: "The financial management of athletics shall be entirely in the control of the faculty."

Dr. Edwin Maxey left yesterday for Sturgis, S. D., where he will deliver the commencement address.

May Festival of Wash Goods

The appreciation shown by the public is the proof of the success of an exhibit such as we opened in our Wash Goods Department Saturday. Never before have we attempted to make such an extensive display of dainty designs and price range. The result is very gratifying for we have been abundantly paid for the extra work in placing our Summer Wash Goods before you in such an effective display. Saturday and Monday were exceptional days, not only in customers, who were inspecting the designs, but customers who took the opportunity to buy patterns from the pleasing cloths. Although our sales were beyond our expectations, our stock is still replete with many exclusive colorings in the Summer Fabrics.
