TONIGHT.

Law sudents are expected to turn out en masse tonight in support of the demonstration being planned. And there is no doubt about their doing it. But academic students and industrial students as well, who have any appreciation for a man like the present Dean of the Law School, and who have mind, will not fail to lend a hand with genuine enthusiasm.

The loss of Dean Poud would be a University loss. He is one broad enough to react out into the life and work of the whole University, and is not one in whom the Laws alone should be or are interested. Consequently, it is up to the whole school opinion, they will thus become most excellent advisers of the faculties and other authorities. The growth of mutual interest and responsibility is just now the most desirable end within our power. The University of Nebraka does not need dollars as much as it needs the harmonious and hearty cooperation and confidence and affection of all its graduates."

A Communication.

To the Nebraskan:

I read the letter of Mr. O. A. Benedict in the Nebraskan today. I felt extremely sorry to know such an American experience in my country and being under such condition. I thought of sending a short write-up to the Nebraskan in which I would like to express the faults of some of my country people,

I am not a Tagalo myself, but I think I have an idea of them and the people of the Philippine Islands in general.

There are people in my country, I am sorry to say, who could not speak Spanish but "S"; "No" and "Buenos dias." They do not know even a word in English. These people never thought that the strangers could understand them, for the majority of strangers do not try to learn our dialects, and the consequence is that when they meet a stranger there will be "nothing doing," and the stranger would think that they hate him and the ground he walks on.

I know I have that kind of feeling in this country, myself, but I do not take it very seriously. They have never even thought that the Americans understand Spanish.

Allow me to say then that I would like the Americans not to take this as a serious matter. I thank you. D. URTULA.

Shaw, the Editor.

The Engineering Society held its final meeting of the year last night. The Blue Print staff for next year was elected as follows: Editor-in-chief, O. J. Shaw; business manager, H. B. the interests of the whole school in Bergquist; assistant business manager, Ray L. Harrison; department editors: C. E., C. G. Hrubesky; E. E., Clarence G. Johnson; M. E., Geo. L. Sullivan.

A vote of thanks to the outgoing officers was passed by the society.

C. K. Smith announced that the Blue Print would be issued in a few days.

੶ to show its spirit. Such occasions as these have been exceedingly rare at Nebraska. They are what is needed to rouse us, to foster some of that much-talked-of college spirit. So let this one be grasped. Furthermore, let it be grasped so hard that something will happen as a result.

The movement toward alumni organizations is spreading and is being pushed also by the University Journal. By reaching the old students, the magazine should prove very effective. It advocates the movement in part as
