

College Toggery for College Young Men

IT'S men's apparel that is properly priced to fit the student's purse. A large part of our patronage is from students in Lincoln and surrounding towns. We find that many of the students who have to economize in their clothing purchases and yet look well dressed, select attire at The Sterling. Our student customers find that they can be as well dressed as the best at a much lower cost than if they purchased elsewhere.

HOW IT WAS FORMED.
are true we owe a great deal to the moon. He showed that if it were not for the disturbance the moon caused, we should probably have had a universal sea, covering all the lands of the earth.

A Unique School.
A recent traveler to Egypt has sent back an interesting account of the world's greatest Mohammedan University. Twice as large as Harvard, over a thousand years old, and the strongest force among the people of Egypt, this university has been educating the followers of Mohammed since 988 A. D. Students gather from every country where Mohammedanism flourishes, and within its walls are found Numidians, Syrians and Turks. The students range from fifteen to seventy-five years of age.
The curriculum is about the same as it was 1,000 years ago, and the chief study is the Koran, and religious traditions. The children are taught to recite the Koran, and this book remains practically their only text book throughout their school life.

The students study and recite in a great court with arcades facing upon it. In this hall can be seen thousands of students, listening to the professors. No chairs or tables are used and no scientific instruments. No libraries could be seen and only pamphlets were visible.
There is no tuition charged at this university. The students eat and sleep in the same great room in which they recite. The professors serve for nothing, as it is considered a great honor to be a professor here.
The dress and customs of the student are very peculiar. They have their heads shaved several times a week, and wear turbans of various colors, together with long gowns.
