compelled to do most of the offensive work, and their line smashing was very powerful. They stood punishment all right and objected strenuously to removal from the game.

of typhoid this summer and will not be back until next semester. Moser, captain of the team last year, is now at Ann Arbor. This leaves the two positions of center and one forward open. Everyone who is at all familiar with the game and who is willing to practise is urged to speak with Dr. Clapp on or before Tuesday afternoon.

At 11:00 a. m., Tuesday, there will be a meeting of all candidates for the cross-country team in Dr. Clapp's office. At this meeting the election of the captain, will probably be announced. The cross-country team is to be worked into shape to compete in the annual meet of the Western Intercollegiate cross-country teams, of which Chicago, Wisconsin, Illinois, Iowa, Northwestern, Nebraska and practically all the big western universities except Michigan are members. This is the fourth season. The first year, 1904, Nebraska was victor, followed in 1905 by Chicago, and again securing the cup in 1906. This cup becomes the permanent property of the institution winning it three times; which means Nebraska has to win this year in order to get the trophy.

Of the cross-country men, three of the old team are here again this year: Havens, who finished first in last year's meet, and Alden and Davis, two of the other five composing the team. Smith and Morgan have graduated and are no longer here, leaving two places to be filled.

At present, squad practise is somewhat irregular, but after Tuesday regular periods will be assigned according to the convenience of the men. All men who can run should come at 11:00 a. m. on Tuesday.

Classes in physical education have been delayed this year, but all classes will start as soon as the steel lockers, now under process of erection, are up. Unless notices to the contrary are posted, lockers will be assigned from 10 to 11:30 on Monday. All lockers, whether in use at present or not, must be signed for at this time if possible.

The removal of the Domestic Science Department to the University Farm has given back to the Electrical Engineering Department one of its former rooms, M. 106, and made possible an enlargement of the laboratories of that department. The added room will be used for the standardization of instruments with the University electrical standards. The photometry apparatus formerly kept in M. 106 has been installed in M. 109. The change relieves somewhat the crowded condition of the standardization and photometry laboratories, and is welcomed by the instructors in the electrical engineering department.
