AT THE RALLY.

The demonstration in behalf of the football team at the chapel yesterday morning was a great success, both as to the number present and enthusiasm manifested. It will take a series of these mass meetings to keep the spirit of the school up to the boiling point which is the height that we should consider normal during the football season. Everybody present gave way to a rising wave of the old-time football fever and the result was a confusion such as was attributed to Pondeonium. This gives rise to the question as to whether more could have been accomplished had the cheering conformed to the direction of the rooting leader rather than to the ideas of the individual enthusiasts. The result would perhaps have been more satisfactory and would not have created the impression that proper respect was not left for the members of the faculty, whose little talks on football in general contribute so much to the success of such functions. The object of these meetings is two fold, first to instill spirit into those who have it not and, secondly, to revive the enthusiasm of in its place, and not try to do two things or even more at one and the same time. When a speech is being made due quiet should be maintained for the very obvious reason that otherwise it will not be heard and for the additional reason that other conduct might be misconstrued by the speaker. We need both the enthusiasm and the results.

POLITICAL RALLY.

The Republicans Will Get Busy on October 16.

A republican rally will be held Wednesday evening, October 16, in Memorial Hall at 7:30. Judge Reese, candidate for Supreme Judge, and Hon. H. T. Clarke, candidate for Railroad Commissioner, will give short talks on topics of vital interest to the student voters in particular and to all the students in the University in general. The club will afterwards elect officers for the coming year and it is especially urged that every member shall be out for the meeting. Resolutions will be presented defining the stand the club will take in the coming campaign.

Mid-Week Games.

The results of the football games played Wednesday are as follows:
Yale, 18; Springfield T. S., 0.
Princeton, 53; Wesleyan, 0.
Pennsylvania, 57; F. and M., 0.
Cornell, 47, Niagara, 0.
Dartmouth, 10; N. H. State, 0.
Harvard, 33; Bates, 4.
Andover, 15; Cushing Academy, 0.
Exeter, 34; Lowell T. S., 0.
Williams, 38; Middlebury, 0.

Cross Eyes

You Can't afford to neglect your visual sense. Cross eyes are frequently the result of muscular weakness which may be overcome with proper glasses.

If you are thus afflicted (or see objects double, even for a few moments at a time) get an opinion.

And don't forget—the earlier the easier—in eye care.

those who have backslid since last year. With this object as the goal, it certainly can be said that different tactics should be followed in the future. Let the gentlemen who are asked to say a few words have an opportunity to do so without interruption of an unseemly nature. The only way to gain the best results is to follow some systematic plan of action and inasmuch as there are chief rooters chosen, they should have control of the situation and all cheering, singing, etc., should be under their direction and at their suggestion. It is not thought by anyone that the resounding yells and cheers of the morning, if somewhat irregular and inopportune at times, were the result of anything but enthusiasm. But that is not the point. What we want is results and the only reasonable plan is to have everything come
