CORNHUSKERS MEET GOPHERS SATURDAY.

The Nebraska Eleven Will Leave for Minneapolis Tomorrow at Six Over the Burlington.

The Nebraska football team will leave for Minneapolis via the Burlington route tomorrow evening at six o'clock to meet the Minnesota eleven in the annual Gopher-Cornhusker gridiron contest Saturday. The Cornhuskers will be accompanied by Manager Eager, Captain Workizer and a small body of rooters.

A large crowd of rooters will be at the depot to give the team a royal send off. The entire cadet battalion and band will go to the train to participate in the demonstration in honor of the team and every other student in the University who can yell is urged to be there to help things along.

Nebraska's chances for defeating Minnesota Saturday are considered the best in years. The Gophers, as was demonstrated in their game with Ames Saturday are weaker than for some years while Nebraska, no doubt, is much stronger and much better coached than for several seasons. These conditions, according to Nebraska "dope," make the Cornhuskers' chances of victory excellent.

Altho the Nebraska men did not show up as well against Grinnell as was hoped, yet their supporters feel that they were over-confident in that game and did not realize they were playing a good team. After they found they were up against a real strong bunch they settled down to good work. This fact has led their supporters to believe that they will go into the Minnesota game, knowing that their opponents are strong and will play great ball.

With the Minnesota game only a few days off the football squad is making every effort to round into shape for the contest, which bids fair to be a close game.

A victory over the Gophers is a rare achievement for the Cornhuskers, and the fact that Nebraska this year stands a good chance to win has pitched the hopes of the Cornhusker supporters concerning the outcome of next Saturday's contest on Northrup Field at a high pitch.

"King" Cole has firmly convinced the supporters of his ability to marshal a strong team and with the aid of Assistant Coach Peck, who arrived Sunday, the Nebraska followers are (Continued on Page 3.)

FERGUSON TALKS.

Gives Lecture at Chapel on University Militant.

The Rev. Ferguson of Kansas City spoke yesterday at chapel, on the "University Militant." His talk was a strong practical discussion of the University should have in American life.

As an illustration of what he wished his subject, "The University Militant" to convey to his hearers, he told the story of an organization of this kind in Kansas City. It is an organization of college men to advance the arts and services in a practical way. It attempts to raise the standard of living, and to make goods cheaper. Dr. Ferguson declared that he believed this movement would spread and grow until it became greater than any political or religious organization. Such an organization is natural to our country and particularly to the west. This organization comprises the leading men of Kansas City and other places. Men of all political beliefs and of all walks of life are members. Governor Folk is a member. The organization does not strive for any abstract principle, it attempts to make each man an artist in his struggle for a better manner of living. It attempts to help men to be active aggressive thinkers instead of bashful thinkers.

Dr. Ferguson declared that the University is one of the deepest things in American life. He urged that the University must and will become the University Militant, and that graduates should carry this idea with them when they go out into life.

TO MEET.

Historical Societies Will Gather in Lincoln.

The secretaries and presidents of the state historical societies of the Mississippi valley will hold a meeting in Lincoln, beginning Tuesday evening and lasting perhaps the remainder of the week. This will be the first meeting of the societies and it is hoped they will become organized permanently. Dr. Jewett, librarian of the University, will deliver the address of welcome. The meeting has been announced to be held in the new Temple building, but it is doubtful whether it is near enough completed for the necessary arrangements to be made.

FOR ROOTING SQUADS.

St. Louis "Grads" Will Organize for Thanksgiving.

The University of Nebraska graduates residing in St. Louis will hold a meeting soon to perfect plans for having a bunch of rooters at the Nebraska-St. Louis game in the Mound City, Thanksgiving. H. R. Tucker, 1899 and 1904, who is an instructor in the McKinley high school at St. Louis says that he is getting the "grads" organized for the occasion.

W. F. Heath, 1906, is working for the Chicago, St. Paul, Minneapolis and Omaha railroad, with headquarters at Sioux City.

GOING TO AGREE

LAWS TAKE FAVORABLE ACTION ON CONSOLIDATION.

They Vote Unanimously to Make a Joint Publication of the 1908 Cornhusker and Law Book.

The publication of a University annual this year that will represent all the colleges of the University seems to be assured since the favorable action of the students of the College of Law, at a mass meeting of the lawyers, in Memorial Hall, yesterday morning.

The law students voted unanimously in favor of joining with the academic departments in publishing the '08, "Cornhusker," providing they can get satisfactory representation on the staff and in the book.

The unanimous vote of the meeting declaring that they will be satisfied to have the same representation as given to other departments, removes the question that caused the law students to withdraw from the University annual last year.

Alva C. Hough, president of the senior law class, presided at the mass meeting, which was called to hear the report of a committee from the senior law class that had conferred with the "Cornhusker" editors concerning the representation of the laws in that publication. Clyde C. McWhinney, chairman of the committee made the report to the meeting. He reported that the editors of the "Cornhusker" were willing to allow the law school a business manager, editor and three associate editors to represent it on the staff and would agree to put the pictures of the different members of the law classes in groups similar to those of the other schools and to place the jokes and other literary contributions from the law school under appropriate headings. The report of the committee was accepted and the chairman of the meeting was instructed to appoint a committee, made up of one man from each class to draw up a formal staff. This agreement will be submitted to the students for approval at a meeting to be held soon.

The meeting yesterday morning was attended by a majority of the students of the college of law, and the heated debate on the question showed the high degree of interest of the law students in the question of participation in the University annual. A special invitation to attend the meeting was given to the different members of the law faculty, but they declared it was a question for the students to decide without influence from the faculty, but (Continued on Page 3.)
