

Athletic Ease

Cannot be had without well-fitting, flexible underwear. Munsing union suits are the most satisfactory, moderate priced underwear for men who are tired of the discomfort of separate shirts and drawers. Munsing suits wear well, fit well and yield to every motion of the most active man.

- Medium weight cotton suits... $1.50
- Heavy, fleece lined cotton suits $1.50
- Wool and cotton mixed $2.00 to $4.00
- All wool, very heavy, fine quality $5.00
- Mercerized, looks like silk and wears better $5.00

A LIVELY SCRAP.

ger entered and announced that he was wanted at the telephone. When he came out of the door he unsuspectingly fell into the hands of the Sophomores and was hurried away to a waiting wagon. A searching party was at once formed, but Mr. Elliott was not on hand when the meeting was called to order.

Mr. R. Wildish, ex-president of the Junior class, acted as the presiding officer and was aided in preserving order by fifty valliant Juniors. Dean Davis sat on the platform and gave moral weight at least to the efforts made to preserve order.

At the door of the building stood the genial janitor who reigns over Memorial Hall, carefully carrying to a great club nearly three feet in length. He was several times forced to use it most vigorously. One luckless Sophomore made his way to the head of the stairs, but he was detected and thrown forcibly from the hall. It was rumored that there were several present during the meeting, but if so they kept their identity carefully concealed.

As soon as the news was received of the results of the election the few waiting Sophomores started off across the O street viaduct to the place where the prisoners were waiting. Mr. Hascal was at once set free, but Mr. Weaverling, with a great bandana handkerchief over his head and his face blackened with charcoal, was led up O street in the midst of a howling crowd. Three times the crowd marched up and down O street waiting for the expected attack of the Freshmen, but no Freshmen appeared. Finally Mr. Weaverling was conducted to his rooms, where three cheers were given for him before he was set free.

Mr. Weaverling declared that he had no hard feelings whatever on the way he had been treated, but felt that he had been treated white in every particular. He said that he only hoped he would be able to treat some Sophomore in the same manner in the near future.

TWO TEAMS.

Williams Has Plenty of Material on the Ames Squad.

AMES, Iowa—Coach Williams now has two full teams on the first Ames squad. The new candidates are Reeves and Main, who are candidates for the end position, now being played by Stauffer. Guy Lambert has been shifted from end to half and it is expected that he will stay there for some time to come. Sioux Jones, coach of the scrubs, has been bringing out some new plays for the varsity to solve based on the Iowa formations, and thus far Williams' men have had little difficulty in breaking them up.

The work of McRoberts, the freshman quarter back, is especially notable, and as this is the last year for both Jenson and Hubbard, the development of this new star is especially pleasing to the coaches. Practically no preparations are being made for the game with Cornell College, Iowa, to be played here Saturday.

THEMES.

The Junior and Senior Themes Will Soon Be Due.

Junior and Senior themes for 1907-1908 are due at University Hall 107 on the following dates as announced in the Calendar (page 253):

First Junior theme, December 9; Second Junior Theme, March 6; Senior theme, January 13.

The proposed subjects of these themes must be submitted to the department, on blanks for the purpose, at least one month before the themes are due, that is:

First Junior theme, November 9; Second Junior theme, February 6; Senior Theme, December 13.

These themes should contain at least 1200 words, should be written in ink on one side of theme paper, and should be enclosed in cover properly endorsed.

Late themes and themes, the subjects of which have not been approved by the department will not be accepted.
